BODY FOUND CHAINED

Teacher Starves in Woods

Footpath About Tree Bears Mute Evidence of Death by Inches

McHenry, Yale Man, Had Been Missing Since August 14

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—The body of Henry Handy McHenry of [illegible], Yale graduate and former teacher at the Westchester [illegible] school, strangely missing since August 14, last, was found chained to a tree in the forest part of Green Mountain, [illegible] miles from Trout Run, above Shamokin.

A heavy iron chain, fifteen feet long, had been wrapped around the tree and locked by a loop around McHenry's neck.

McHenry had been left sufficient length to walk and crawl in a circle of about the tree in the prison. The ground in this circle was beaten with the [illegible]. From all appearances he had been dead about [illegible] months and apparently had succumbed to starvation.

WAS SHELL-SHOCKED

While serving with the Naval [illegible] in the World War, he was shell-shocked and had not been in good health since. He lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McHenry at 129 Argyle [illegible], Germantown. Hunters, in finding their way through the thick [illegible] came across the body. He was dressed in a light summer suit, brown shoes, silk hose and a [illegible].

[illegible] prosecutor, city and county [illegible] of Williamsport and Lycoming county, immediately started a [illegible] investigation in an effort to solve Lycoming county's most baffling case in years. It is believed that the case is one of [illegible].

Clues made in the immediate [illegible] of the tree to which McHenry had been chained were followed thoroughly in an effort to clear [illegible] pointing to the murderer.

McHenry was identified by cards and correspondence in his coat pocket. Among the cards were [illegible] cards in the Ardmore Country Club and the Central Branch of the Y.M.C.A.

NO ROBBERY MOTIVE

Robbery as a motive was early discarded by the authorities. In McHenry's pockets were, a cheap watch, [illegible] and a railroad ticket [illegible].

Rural Polls Bid Fair to Keep Province in Ranks of Temperance

Reports Indicate Record Vote Cast in Fight Over Control System

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—At 11:30 o'clock tonight the dry had overcome an adverse majority which at one time was as high as 70,000 and had piled up a majority of their own of 3053 over the wets. The vote at that time from 5480 subelection districts out of a total of 7332 was 444,408 for the temperance act and 441,355 for government control.

As rural polls continued to come in, a sharp decrease in the majority for government control was manifest. From 9 o'clock to 9:30, 800 polls cut 24,000 from this majority.

Reports from all sections of the province of Ontario, indicated early tonight that a very heavy vote had been recorded on the plebiscite to determine whether the province was to continue the Ontario Temperance Act, under which the sale of intoxicating liquors, or importation for beverage purposes, is prohibited, or adopt a system of government control, under which beer and spirituous liquor for beverage purposes could be sold in sealed packages.

In Toronto the vote was believed to have been a record-breaker, it being estimated that fully 70 per cent of the voters had gone to the polls. There were few reports of any disorder, despite the vigor with which the campaign had been waged by both sides during the past weeks.

Potatoes Are Eighteen Cents in Wisconsin

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WAUPACA (Wis.) Oct. 23.—The lowest market prices in the history of potato growing in the Northwest are proving discouraging to farmers in the Wisconsin potato belt. Potatoes are yielding 140 to 160 bushels an acre but are bringing only 18 cents a bushel. The cost of harvesting the crop is leaving no margin of profit in many instances, and some farmers are leaving the tubers in the ground rather than pay for the harvesting of them.

Some farmers are turning hogs loose in the potato fields to root and grow fat. Federal Bureau of Markets reports say that perhaps 50 per cent of the crop is being dug.

Kin of ex-Assemblyman, Bay City Police Sergeant Among Those Indicted

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—Ward Marron, brother of former Assemblyman Edward Marron, Sergeant of Police Aloysius I. O'Brien and three others were indicted by a Federal grand jury here today on a charge of conspiring to violate the Volstead Act in connection with the activities of an asserted bootlegger-police corruption ring. Edward Marron is already under Federal indictment for his asserted part as leader of the supposed ring.

The indictments are based on an investigation of evidence found in a little gray notebook in Edward Marron's apartment, indicating payments of various sums to "the police."

Bonds of those indicted today were set at $5000 each.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICALI, Oct. 23. — Gov. Abelardo Rodrigues of the northern district of Lower California, Mexico, announced here today that he has ordered an immediate investigation of reports that Japanese financiers, co-operating with an American agent, had planned to place 20,000 Japanese on a tract of 100,000 acres of land at Pescadero Cut, south of this city.

The Governor's order followed a conference with members of the Mexicali Newspaper Association, representing six local publications, at which he was urged to take such action.

PRESIDENT RE-EMPHASIZES COMMON-SENSE POLICIES

Denounces Attempts to Disturb Country's Progress Through Dangerous Experiments

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The text of President Coolidge's speech delivered here tonight before the United States Chamber of Commerce, Eastern Division, and broadcast throughout the nation by radio, is as follows:

This (the Chamber of Commerce) is an organization formed to promote the economic welfare of the United States. In its purpose it is thoroughly representative of American life. It has its headquarters at Washington, in order that it may the better co-operate with the government for the purpose of securing the results desired. It is my purpose to lay before you briefly some of the policies pursued by the present government, which tend to contribute to that end.

It is my opinion that a true economic development of our country can only rest upon the broad foundation of ministering to human welfare. It can only be promoted through honor and justice. It must contribute to peace abroad, and must be supported by security, industry, economy, charity, education and religious convictions at home. It cannot thrive upon sectionalism or privilege, but must take into consideration all quarters of the land and all the elements of society. It must provide not only quantity in production, but equality in distribution. And finally, it must nourish that most precious product of all human activity, which we designate as character.

I am in favor of all the arts of peace, but I cannot be oblivious to the fact that the most miserable failure which a government can inflict upon the people is a lack of order and security. Unless a government be strong enough to maintain public confidence in the observance of the orderly processes of law, we not only have no economic development but an immediate cessation of all enterprise and a substantial destruction of all values. There have been wide stretches of territory and entire nations in some parts of the earth blessed with the richest of natural resources that have never been able to make any financial progress, because in them there has been no accumulation or investment of capital, since there was no safety to rely on for life or property. We cannot be oblivious to all human history, we must have local police protection, supported by such an Army and Navy as will insure domestic tranquility at home and a wholesome regard for the rights of our citizens abroad. We do not maintain armed forces as a threat or menace to any except wrongdoers. With us they are purely instruments of peace and good order.

OUR FOREIGN POLICY

We have a well defined foreign policy known of all men who will give it candid consideration. It has as its foundation peace with independence. We have abstained from joining the League of Nations mainly for the purpose of avoiding political entanglements and committing ourselves to the assumption of the obligations of others, which have been created without our authority and in which we have no direct interest. Under our Constitution we cannot, by treaty, pledge or limit the future action of the Congress. But we have not refused to help, we have not refused to co-operate, we have not refused to act whenever circumstances have arisen under which we could render assistance. An outstanding example of such action on our part are the treaties which resulted from the epoch-making Washington conference. Another is our participation in the London conference, which resulted in the adoption of the Dawes plan, for the financing of which our private citizens subscribed many times over the amount necessary to float the German loan.

We propose adherence to the Permanent Court of International Justice, under any desired conditions or limitations which may seem practical and which it can reasonably be anticipated would be agreed to by other interested nations. Such action would give our support to a tribunal before which we could never be brought without our consent, but to which international disagreements could be voluntarily submitted. We stand committed to the policy of international conferences, as specific occasions arise, to consider definitely stated international problems, to provide further limitation of armaments, and to propose plans for the codification of international law. But this government is opposed to the discussion in any international body or conference of questions which concern our own purely domestic affairs. Personally, I view with favor the attempt to devise covenants which would look to the outlawing of aggressive war.

We are opposed to the cancellation of the debts due to us from abroad and shall continue to seek their further liquidation.

Now, does not this present a consistent, practical and effective foreign policy based on common sense? No other sound and practical policy has been presented.

In its pursuance we have maintained our ancient traditions; we have secured peace; we have limited naval armament; we have provided a plan and furnished finances for a European settlement; and we propose to continue our efforts to promote international justice under international law, through international conference, advancing toward the goal of outlawing aggressive war. We have been willing to assume the responsibility of leading the nation and the world in this direction, without first seeking through a costly, futile and unconstitutional referendum to find out whether it would be popular. The government is willing to be judged on the result of those stupendous accomplishments, either according to the

Coolidge Sums Up Program

Progress Under Republican Administration Stressed by the President

Chief Executive Denounces Revolutionary Schemes in Widely-Heard Speech

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—President Coolidge set forth tonight policies of administration under which he purposes that the government will "maintain peace, promote economy, provide a protective tariff, assist the farmers, leave the people in possession of their property and maintain the integrity of the courts."

In the last extended address he expects to make before election and the most comprehensive he has delivered since his speech of acceptance of the Republican nomination, the President declared his stand on practically every phase of government affairs. He discussed campaign issues, in some instances, for the first time.

Mr. Coolidge spoke before the eastern division of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, meeting here in the chamber's new building and the address was carried by radio to almost every section of the country.

PROSPERITY ADVANCED

Summarizing the administration's program, which he said had "brought an era of more than average prosperity," the President called attention that despite the "natural supposition that every well-wisher of the country would be anxious to maintain the present established order of things," there are now proposed "at least two of the most revolutionary changes"—government ownership of transportation and limitation of the powers of the Supreme Court.

Public ownership he described as a most perilous undertaking, both to the welfare of business and the independence of the people. "If powers of the Supreme Court were limited as proposed," he said, "the historian would close the chapter with the comment that the people had shown they were incapable of self-government and the American republic had proved a failure."

Mr. Coolidge said further reduction in Federal taxes was possible on the basis of the estimated government budget for next year, and he outlined as his "common sense" method of taxation:

"Getting all we can out of the rich by making the rates moderate and stimulating business to provide work and increase the earnings of the poor."

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

In foreign affairs the President promised co-operation in the interest of peace; declared for constitutional covenants outlawing aggressive warfare; and reaffirmed his proposal for adherence to the permanent court of international justice. He announced opposition, however, to participation by this government in international conferences discussing questions of "purely our own domestic affairs" to the cancellation of war debts owed this nation and to the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations.

No other "sound and practical" policy in foreign affairs has been presented, Mr. Coolidge declared, adding that "we have been willing to assume the responsibility for leading the nation and the world in this direction without first seeking through a costly, futile and unconstitutional referendum whether it would be popular."

In agriculture, the President said he was ready to open the investigation into farming conditions he had proposed as a means of determining a legislative program of aid. This had been withheld temporarily, he said, at the advice of farm leaders, lest the investigation become involved in partisan politics.

Recalling benefits he said had accrued from the existing tariff law, Mr. Coolidge insisted that without a protective tariff "American industry cannot exist. American wages cannot be paid, the American standard of living cannot be maintained."

PRESIDENT HOLDS ABUSES EXAGGERATED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Preservation of initiative and enterprise is the "primary thing which we have to do in our country," President Coolidge today told the executive committee of the New York Business Men's Republican Association, who called at the White House.

Freedom of initiative and enterprise carries with it, the President said, an obligation upon every business to give service as well as goods to the consumers.

MANCHURIANS REACH SEA; DEMAND WU SURRENDER

Chang Army Has Fifteen Thousand Peking Troops Surrounded at Shanhaikwan

BY RODERICK MATHESON
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HONGKONG, Oct. 24.—A naval wireless dispatch says Feng Yu-Hsiang, who returned from the front Wednesday night has placed his troops around the Presidential Palace in Peking.

TOKIO, Oct. 24.—Tsao Kun, President of China, has fled from Peking, according to a dispatch to the Kokosuai News Agency from Tien-Tsin. His destination is not known.

MUKDEN, Oct. 23.—It was officially announced today that the Manchurian forces of Gen. Chang Tso-Lin had reached the outskirts of Chinwangtao, attacking that port this morning. In reaching the sea Gen. Chang's army now has the 15,000 Peking troops at Shanhaikwan completely surrounded. The leader of the Mukden forces demanded the surrender of Gen. Wu Pei-Fu's troops under pain of extermination.

Coolies impressed into service at Mukden are now being used as railway gangs.

FEAR CUSTOMS SEIZURE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CANTON, Oct. 23.—Owing to the threat of the so-called "Red troops to seize the custimshouse, all available foreign customs officers are being placed on night duty, as it is thought the night time would be selected for the attack. Some of the troops, however, are opposed to the idea of seizing the customs.

Chinese merchants have been prevented from sending their valuables to the foreign concessions for safekeeping.

The city is quiet but the citizens still fear further trouble.

The Red army, which recently engaged in street fighting with the Merchants' Volunteer Corps, and is apparently responsible for present conditions in Canton, is directed by the Canton Communist Executive Committee of China. Last month this organization distributed a circular advising the people to "rise up and resist the imperialistic powers." Charging that "foreign aggression upon China increases daily," the circular said of the powers: "They seize our customs houses so as to control our financial powers and to check the development of our trade and industry."

PEKING PEACEFUL

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TIEN-TSIN, Oct. 23.—The troops of the Christian general, Feng Yu Hsiang, have peacefully occupied Peking, and the end of the Chinese civil warfare is at hand. Gen. Feng immediately issued a proclamation declaring that war must cease. Reported rioting and other disturbances in Peking are untrue. The city is quiet.

Gen. Feng's action in withdrawing his support from Gen. Wu Pei-Fu puts the latter in a desperate position. Only an overwhelming victory at Shanghaikwan can save him.

The general belief here is that the war is over and that a peace conference will assemble at Peking in an effort to reunite China. Tientsin is somewhat apprehensive that Gen. Wu Pei-Fu's returning soldiers will swarm into the city if they are defeated at Shanghaikwan.

Gen. Wu's opponents believe he will leave Chinwangtao on a Chinese warship, while his friends believe he will win in a desperate battle at Shanghaikwan.

Gen. Wu's troops are now engaged with the troops of Gen. Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian war lord, but there is no heavy fighting, it is said, Gen. Feng's troops number 30,000 and, with the loss of this fighting force, Gen. Wu can hardly hope for a victory.

All communication with Peking has been severed by Gen. Feng, who now is in complete control. It is the second time in the history of the Celestial Empire that a Christian has dominated the country. The first time was following the Boxer uprising.

Hughes Defends Foreign Policy

Inconsistency of Democratic Candidate Pointed Out by Secretary of State

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—A sweeping defense of the foreign policy of the Harding-Coolidge administration was made here tonight by Secretary Hughes.

In a campaign speech answering one by one the criticisms made against his department by John W. Davis and Robert M. La Follette, the Secretary of State denied that "secret commitments" had been negotiated abroad; declared there had been no trend toward a foreign policy based on imperialism; asserted that those who attempt to belittle the work of the Arms Conference only belittle themselves; insisted that the League of Nations was not a campaign issue; and reaffirmed the desire of the administration to take every practicable step for world co-operation.

Touching briefly on domestic issues, Mr. Hughes said that neither the Democratic party nor the La Follette ticket now, expected to win on November 4, and that there were many evidences of a combination to throw the election into Congress. He repeated that the Democratic organization had gone to pieces in both the East and West and said the Democratic group was "trying to run away" from government ownership and other issues of its own creation.

ATTACKS FUTILE

"With respect to the conduct of foreign affairs," he continued, "our opponents have sought every possible ground for attack, but their mistakes and misrepresentations have deprived their efforts of effect.

"It has been charged recklessly and falsely by the third party that we have made secret commitments. We have no secret commitments with any country. It has been asserted that our policies in this hemisphere are imperialistic. The contrary is readily shown by our withdrawal from Santo Domingo and our constant endeavors, as illustrated by the conference held in Washington of the Central American republics, to promote their peace and stability. We are not

PRINCE RIDES IN BAY STATE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HAMILTON (Mass.) Oct. 23.—The Prince of Wales, recovered from his slight illness, rode to the hounds of the Myopia Hunt Club today in a pell-mell drag hunt that took sixty riders over eight miles of broken country, finished first with a steady seat and then, after a tea and change of clothes, was a guest at the dinner-dance that marked the last social event of his stay on the continent.

The Prince will leave New England early tomorrow for New York, from which port he will embark for England, sailing on the Olympic just after midnight.

Looking a bit worn and tired, the Prince arrived at Lowell from Montreal in the forenoon. He motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, Jr., Savin Hill Farm, where he was a house guest and renewed there an acquaintance begun on the Melton Mowbray hunting fields in England.

A hasty visit by motor to the Myopia Hunt clubhouse was followed by a ride through the woods and meadows on Desert Queen, the pick of the Tuckerman stables, to the home of Francis R. Appleton. The Prince lunched at Appleton farms and then the hunt was started. Tea at the Tuckermans', where the Prince sat down with the hunting set of the countryside and others, followed the drag.

The crowd, curious to see the Prince, had opportunity to do so at many points, and ranged from those high in social standing to the girl workers in cotton mills along the twenty-five-mile route from Lowell to Hamilton. His hat was touched in acknwledgment of greetings from time to time.

The Prince appeared to gain energy as the day advanced. The hunt, with a pack of picked hounds following a laid trail, included as many women as men. The Prince led the riders over the first jump, but at the second checking station he was well in the rear of the riders that came up. Asked by James W. Appleton, master of the hounds, if he had had enough, the Prince replied, "By no means; let's get along."

NEED OF ECONOMY

The prosperity of the people is intimately bound up with the financial policy of the government. A considerable, but disorganized number of people exist who are willing to talk about economy in public expenditure. There are a very few who, in addition to talking about it, are willing to act and vote for the actual practice of economy. But spread all over the land there are thousands upon thousands of organizations ceaselessly clamoring and agitating for government action that would increase the burden upon the taxpayer by increasing the cost of government. To my mind, the practice of public economy and insistence upon its rigid and drastic enforcement is a prime necessity of the people of the United States. In fact, the necessity is world-wide That nation which demonstrates that it has sufficient self-control to adopt this course will immediately become the leader in the financial world. That leadership is easily within American grasp. But to secure it requires prompt action and constant vigilance.

Recent compilations disclose that the present yearly cost of national and local governments has reached the staggering sum of over $10,000,000,000 The national government pays out one-third, the local governments two-thirds of this amount. This is about the sum that all the American farmers receive for all their output for a year. It is 93 per cent of all wages and salaries of industrial plants in the census of manufactures. It represents entire earnings of nearly 7,000,000 wage-earners employed at a ratio of $5 per day. In 1913 the State and Federal tax bill was only $2,194,000,000. In 1903 the per capita tax was about $17; now it is almost $100. It is stated that while in 1913 the farmer's tax bill was $624,000,000, it had risen in 1922 to $1,436,000,000. In 1892, railroad taxes were $209 per mile. In 1922 they were $1241 per mile. In other lines of business this increased burden was even greater. It is no wonder that under these almost despotic exactions the morale of the country began to break down. Its vitals were eaten out. Business began to languish, agriculture proved unprofitable; banks found themselves with paper which they could not collect, and after a lingering effort many of them had to be closed; railroad earnings dropped to less than three-quarters of 1 per cent.

But even these enormous taxes have not met public requirements. The State and national debt has risen to the stupendous sum of about $32,000,000,000. Local governments last year increased their bonded indebtedness by over a billion dollars.

EXPENSES REDUCED

The present policy of the government has been to pay off the national debt and reduce the national expenditures. Since June 30, 1921, the national government has reduced its yearly expenditures about $2,000,000,000. It has paid off about two and three-quarters billions of dollars of its debt and reduced its annual interest by over $130,000,000. It is estimated that the taxpayers of this country, by these actions, have been relieved each day by about $6,000,000. It is anticipated that in spite of some new items of cost, the budget of next year can be considerably less than the appropriations of the present year. If the tax burden has been high, the national government has been making every possible effort for retrenchment. In 1920 the per capita tax was nearly $54, in 1924 it was under $30, and by 1926 it should be under $27. That means that so far as the national government is concerned, the burden of taxes has been cut in two.

A policy of economy has as its sole subject the benefit of all the people. Just prior to elections a great deal of talk is made about taxes of the poor and the rich. It can fairly be said that the national government does not tax the earnings of the poor. Family earnings of $2500 are entirely exempt and on $5000 they would pay but $37.50. The claim can scarcely be made that the poor are obliged to pay direct taxes to the national government. All talk then about taking direct taxes off the rich and leaving them on the poor is simply misleading. But every student is well aware that the public in general, which is mostly made up of people of moderate means, do and must indirectly pay the expenses of the government.

ORIGIN OF TAXES

The great corporations, the banks, the railroads—all the great incomes do and must collect their money from the people. All our food, clothing, shelter and fuel pay a tax to the government and the people who earn the wages of the nation do and must pay these taxes when they buy these necessaries. This simple fact determines what must be a sound policy of taxation. It should be at a rate which will produce the largest amount of taxation from large incomes, and by doing the utmost to stimulate enterprise and business, afford the wage-earners ample employment with good pay, in order that they may the better bear the burden may the better bear the burden shows that a larger amount of money can be collected from large incomes at a moderate rate than at a high rate. When the rate is too high, large incomes disappear, leaving all the burden of taxes on the wage-earners and people of small means. Getting all we can out of the rich by making the rates moderate and stimulating business to provide work and increase the earnings of the poor seem to me to be the common sense method of taxation. The estimated income and expenses of the government for the coming fiscal year indicate that we can have a further reduction in taxes. But we can only secure this result by continuing our policy of drastic economy.

A very material part of our revenue comes from the tariff, which is now running at the rate of about $550,000,000 per year. This is notwithstanding the fact that we have the lowest tariff which the Republican party has enacted since 1890, and that it is even lower than the Democratic tariff of 1894. Nearly 57 of our imports are on the free list, while the average duty on all imports is less than 15 per cent. Under it, in spite of prophecies to the contrary, our foreign trade has greatly increased. In 1921, it was less than $7,000,000,000; in 1923, it was nearly $8,000,000,000, and is now running at about that rate.

TARIFF AND FARMERS

It has been constantly asserted that what the farmer buys is protected and what he sells is not protected. Almost everything that is used in the business of farming as a matter of fact is on the free list, while almost everything that the farmer raises is protected, from the nuts and citrus fruits of the Pacific Coast, through the sugar, grain and animal products of the Central West, to the dairy and tobacco products of the East. Without such protection many of these farm products would be destroyed by foreign competition.

When we turn to our industrial life, we find that the wages both in rate and buying power of the American workman, are more than twice that of the best-paid foreign labor. Compared to 1913, the advance in the wages of union labor is 99 per cent, while in the ordinary living costs it is only about 69 per cent. American industry cannot exist, American wages cannot be paid, the American standard of living cannot be maintained, without a protective tariff.

A most significant comparison has been made of wages paid by a concern operating in this country and abroad, making the same products with exactly the same equipment, for the month of August. The average eight-hour wage is as follows: Italy, 96 cents; Belgium, $1.18; France, $1.36; Germany, $1.46, and England, $2.28, but in the United States, $5.60. Take away protection and it is perfectly obvious that much of this manufacturing would close down at home and be carried on abroad.

Our high wages have a remarkable effect on the consumption of farm products. We consume per capita yearly seventeen pounds of butter; Great Britain, twelve; Italy a little over three. We consume 103 pounds of sugar; Great Britain, eighty; Italy, eighteen. We consume 183 pounds of meat; Great Britain, 120; Italy, forty-six. We consume fifty-three gallons of milk; Great Britain about fourteen; Italy about ten. These are the latest figures indicating that protection makes high wages, which makes good business, which enables our people to be the largest consumers of farm products and gives our farmers the best markets in the world.

PROSPERITY REVIVED

Under this policy of peace, economy, reduction of taxes and protection, the business of the country has very generally revived and brought us into an era of more than average prosperity. Agriculture, however, not only suffered first, and in many respects, most, but has been the last to recover. In spite of the fact that prices for the great staples of wheat, corn and animal products are now at a much more encouraging level, nevertheless, the farmer has not been able to restore in one season the losses he has encountered in the four preceding seasons. Agriculture must be placed on a permanently profitable basis, where it can enjoy economic equality with other industry.

Much discussion has been made regarding the government policy of deflation. There has been much debate whether raising discount rates by the Federal Reserve Board up to 7 per cent, was the reason for the collapse in farm values. I do not wish to consider that question. But I should like to have it made plain that this action took place before this administration came into power, and whatever damage there was had already been done. It has been the policy of the present administration constantly to favor the reduction of discount rates. This has been done, until they now range from 3 per cent to 4½ per cent. This administration has constantly sought to prevent further deflation by encouraging all kinds of business in order to restore prices of agricultural products to a point where they would show a fair profit. The general business depression had reached its lowest depths in the spring of 1921, and since that time there has been a gradual recovery which, has now spread to agricultural products. If a mistake was made, it was not made by this administration. The government is now proceeding in the opposite direction.

SAFE GUARD FOR FUTURE

Advantage must be taken of the present period of relief to provide, by the adoption of sound business methods and sound legislation, against the recurrence of such disastrous depression. This is not a political question, it is an economic question. It is not a sectional question, it is a national question. It does not relate merely to the welfare of those who live on the farms, it influence the welfare of all the people of our country. It is altogether too important to be permitted to be involved in partisan politics.

As prices have been rising and conditions improving which it would be disastrous to disturb, it is necessary to avoid all political influences. I have withheld the calling of an agricultural conference on the advice of some of the leaders in the farm organizations. But I stand committed to this proposal. I believe it holds out the best promise of a wise solution and the best method of a substantial agreement among the farm organizations themselves of what they desire in the way of government action. I therefore propose to call such conference, to consist of some of the leaders in the farm organizations and some of the prominent representatives of farm economics in our agricultural colleges, to formulate a program for legislation to be presented to the Congress which we can all support. The farmers have suffered enough from those who have attempted to barter their votes for unsound remedies. I want their business put on a sound basis by thorough and scientific study, where it can exist on an equality with other businesses.

FOREIGN TRADE

What we may hope for in this direction is illustrated by our present foreign trade. In 1913, both imports and exports were but $4,200,000,000. After the war the trade of the whole world collapsed, but we have brought our foreign trade up to about $8,000,000,000. Translated into prewar prices this would be about $5,200,000,000. On the same basis, in 1923, Great Britain shows a decrease of 12 per cent, France 14 per cent and Germany 51 per cent, while our increase is more than 19 per cent. In 1913, we had less than 11 per cent of the foreign trade of the world; now we have nearly 17 per cent. This has been promoted by the activities of the Department of Commerce in finding markets for farm co-operatives and small concerns. Inquiries in this field have risen from 700 per day to nearly 7000 per day. This is a natural, sound, common sense way of dealing with industry, which may profitably be employed in further dealing with agriculture in the matter of finding markets.

When we look for an example of benefitting consumers, we shall find it in the bituminous coal industry. Three years ago there were about 9000 mines or 30 per cent more mines and miners than could be given regular employment. The Department of Commerce found there was need for more cars, more summer storage and more industrial peace. These have been accomplished, with the result that while in the profiteering period of 1920, run-of-mine coal averaged $5.84 a ton, notwithstanding the strike of 1922, it averaged $2.67 per ton, and for the year ending June 30, it averaged $2.23 per ton. This industry has been organized, but not monopolized, it has between 7000 and 8000 competing mines, and no person or group controls more than 2 per cent or 3 per cent of the production.

RADICAL PROPOSALS

It is impossible to escape the conclusion that the general economic condition of the country is good. While business and agriculture have not fully recovered the losses caused by the world-wide depression which always follows war, they are now on a fairly profitable basis. It would be natural to suppose that every well-wisher of the country would be anxious to maintain the present established order of things, which has given to the people of America a position superior to that ever before held by any people on earth. But in spite of the extraordinary results which have been accomplished, there is not only a large amount of criticism, but proposals to make at least two of the most revolutionary changes.

It has always been the theory of our institutions that the people should own the government and not that the government should own the people. James Otis stated this principle before the Revolution, when he said that "Kings were made for the people, and not the people for them." This policy cannot be maintained unless the people continue to own and control their own property. The most important property of the country is transportation and water power. It is not only very large in amount, but is of the greatest strategic value. It could be used in such a way as to assume virtual control of all other business of any importance. It is proposed that these properties should be brought under public ownership. Responsible public commissions have valued these at about $35,000,000,000. Such a cost would more than double all our public debts. And deficit in earnings would have to be made up out of taxes. We did that during the war at a cost of $1,600,000,000. With the government in possession of such a great engine with 2,750,000 employees spending $9,000,000,000 or $10,000,000,000 each year, holding virtually the power of life and death, what chance would the rest of the people of this country have? It would appear to be perfectly obvious that if these properties were taken off the tax list by public ownership, the other property of the nation must pay their yearly tax on some $600,000,000. In the thinly settled agricultural regions this would make an increase of 30 per cent or 40 per cent on local taxation.

They have government ownership abroad. It takes twenty-three men in Germany to move a ton of freight one mile, twenty-four men in Italy, thirty-one in Switzerland. In the United States it takes only five men. It is interesting to note also that, reduced to terms of bread and butter, railroad employees in these countries show weekly earnings of only about one-third of those in this country. Measured by experience, by efficiency of service, by rate of wages paid, we have everything to lose and nothing to gain by public ownership. It would be a most perilous undertaking, both to the welfare of business and the independence of the people.

JUDICIAL PROTECTION

Another principle in which the American people have always strongly believed and which they have stoutly maintained, is a judicial as against a political determination of causes. When our Constitution was adopted, it established the Supreme Court of the United States to be the very citadel of justice. Its members are appointed for life in order that they may be devoted entirely to the administration of justice according to law and be as independent and impartial as it is possible for men to be. One of their chief duties is to protect the rights of the individual. Our government is anything but absolute. It is strictly limited. It has only those powers which are conferred upon it by the Constitution. That Constitution distinctly declares that the President and the Congress are prohibited from doing certain things, the central thought of which is that no one shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law. There is provision against unlawful searches and seizures in order that the people may be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects, also against making any law respecting an establishment of religion or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press and including the right to trial by jury, with many other provisions for the protection of the individual from impositions which other governments had constantly inflicted upon them. This is in accordance with our theory that the people are born with certain inalienable rights which no government should have any power to take from them.

The same privileges that belong to the individual are likewise guaranteed to the minority, and to the several States. We have made our Constitution the supreme law of the land, and whenever the Congress, the President, or a State Legislature or Governor violates it, anyone who is injured has the right to appeal to the Supreme Court and to have such violation prevented. What better method could there be for preserving the rights of the people and of the States? It is not necessary to prove that the Supreme Court never made a mistake. But if this power is taken away from them, it is necessary to prove that those who are to exercise it would be likely to make fewer mistakes.

ABSOLUTE POWER

It is proposed to place this power, which, it must be remembered, is that of life and death, in the hands of the Congress. That would give to that body power to violate all the rights which I have just mentioned; the power to destroy the States, abolish the Presidential office, close the courts and make the will of the Congress absolute.

Is it supposed that in the exercise of this power they would be more impartial, more independent, than the judges of the Supreme Court? It seems to me that this would be a device more nearly calculated to take away the rights of the people and leave them subject to all the influences which might be exerted on the Congress by the power and wealth of vested interests on one day, and the passing whim of popular passion on another day. The poor and weak would be trampled under foot. Under such conditions, life, liberty and property, and the freedom of religion, speech and the press, would have very little security. In time of national peril our government would have no balance wheel. If this system were adopted and put into effect the historian would close the chapter with the comment that the people had shown they were incapable of self-government and the American republic had proved a failure. If we are unable to maintain the guarantees of freedom in this land where on earth can they be maintained?

Our present system is the only one that is adapted to the needs of a free republic, the only one which holds out any promise of providing the security and stability necessary alike for our economic development and the protection of the poor and the weak.

ADVANCE WELFARE

These are some of the methods by which I believe the economic welfare of the people of our country can be advanced. The government can help to maintain peace, to promote economy, to provide a protective tariff, to assist the farmers, to leave the people in the possession of their own property and to maintain the integrity of the courts. But after all, success must depend on individual effort. It is our theory that the people make the government, not that the government makes the people. Unless there abides in them the spirit of industry and thrift, of sacrifice and self-denial, of courage and enterprise and a belief in the reality of truth and justice, all the efforts of the government will be in vain. I believe in the existence of these virtures. I do not think the fathers of the land are going to barter away their property or their liberty. I do not think the mothers of the land are going to abandon the rich heritage that belongs to their children. The American people have faith in themselves. It is justified by their history. They have faith in their government. It is justified by its works. They know it is neither corrupt nor inefficient. They are not likely to be deceived by those who constantly assail our institutions. The intelligence, the courage, the faith of the people, will support America. Against that support no effort for destruction can prevail.

sound," the President criticised those who emphasize "out of all due proportion its abuses." Correction of these abuses, he held, lies in the hands of those administering commerce and industry and only they, he added, can prevent the necessity of government intervention.

"Already they have made great advances in this direction," he continued. "Their sense of responsibility has made steady growth during the last two score of years. We no longer hear the expression of indifferent attitude toward the relation of business to the people. The merchants and the manufacturers today are seeking to deliver something besides their goods; and they are delivering it with pride. That new something is the sense of service to the community.

"These are the lines of real progress. To tear down a system under which so much of genuine progress has been accomplished in so short a period, merely because the minor defects have not yet been entirely eliminated, would be a policy of destruction. We need not fear that the American community will commit itself to such a policy. It is the long-expressed genius of the American people to build up, to construct. That genius was never more vigorous, never more intent on exercising itself than now. It will still continue to be supreme in our country."

HUGE COOLIDGE LEAD IN STATE PREDICTED

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 23.—The Republican party is predicting a majority of 200,000 votes in California for President Coolidge in the November election, according to Dr. Fred J. Crease, who returned today from Los Angeles, where he attended the meeting of the Southern California advisory board of the Republican party. Harrison George of Taft represented the oil fields district at the meeting.

REPUBLICAN CLUBS GROW IN COLLEGES

Permanent Organizations Throughout Country Now Boast 125,000 Students

Permanent Republican College clubs are being organized in colleges and universities throughout the country, and these clubs now have a total membership of approximately 125,000 students, according to Jason C. McCune, Pacific Coast representative of the college bureau of the Republican National Committee. Mr. McCune is in Los Angeles for the purpose of conducting organization work at the University of Southern California, where a meeting was held yesterday, and at other institutions in Southern California.

These clubs, Mr. McCune said, are not being organized for this campaign alone, but as permanent organizations, for the purpose of keeping college students informed concerning political principles.

Mr. McCune said yesterday that strong clubs have been formed in every State university on the Pacific Coast, and that they have been organized in many of the endowed and sectarian institutions.

Assisting Mr. McCune in organization work in Southern California, is Philip C. Farman, local attorney. Mr. Farman was one of the principal speakers at the organization meeting at the University of Southern California yesterday. This meeting was attended by approximately 100 students, all of whom evinced an thusiasm for the Republican cause.

COUNTRY HEARS COOLIDGE TALK

KHJ Flashes Voice from Wires Over State

Broadcasting Speech Great Radio Achievement

Thousands of persons in and around Los Angeles were thrilled last night by the rare treat of listening to President Coolidge's address at Washington which was carried to the Pacific Coast over telephone wires and broadcast by the Times radio KHJ.

The President's address was carried throughout the land and seas by twenty-three broadcasting stations in the United States. KHJ was one of the stations. Through arrangements made by The Times, thousands of persons in Southern California were enabled to hear the President's speech over loud speakers at various business houses and public places.

CRYSTAL SETS WORK

Throughout the downtown district, in neighborhood and outlying communities crowds and groups of people gathered around the stations that were broadcasting the President's address. Many business houses downtown remained open and the public was invited in to listen to President Coolidge's words traveling more than 3000 miles to Los Angeles. In many instances loud speakers were put in automobiles and taken to districts that otherwise would not have been able to hear the address. Up and down the streets, groups of people gathered in front of stores and on corners told the story of Americans listening to their President speak.

Owners of the tube sets were not the only ones who enjoyed the speech. The boys with the crystal sets got unusually good results as the speech was broadcast by KHJ. In some ways, reports showed that crystal sets picked up the speech with clearer results than the tube sets. One fan at Monrovia, eighteen miles from KHJ, reported picking up the President's words quite clearly with a crystal set.

RESULTS ARE GOOD

Considering the enormity of the undertaking the results obtained on the whole were considered very good. During the course of the speech, the main station at Washington called for reports on the results being obtained. According to Operator Cronkhite at KHJ, who listened in on the reports, stations east of Omaha reported good results and those west of that point offered suggestions for improvement.

One of the biggest handicaps that had to be overcome was the unfavorable conditions under which the President's words were broadcast, speaking as he did in an open hall of large proportions as compared to the usual broadcasting conditions of perfect acoustics in a studio. Hall noises and the echo received the greatest number of criticisms. Added to this was the fact that before reaching the Pacific Coast, the President's voice was relayed over the telephone wires about twenty times.

As Uncle John stated over KHJ after the speech was [illegible] the broadcasting of the speech was considered a great achievement in the radio

Merriam Says President Is to Carry State

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 23.—[illegible] Coolidge will carry California by a substantial majority, [illegible] tent of the popular vote cast by voters of the State will be entirely upon the number [illegible] to the polls on November 4, was declared here today by Frank Merriam of Long Beach, speaker of the lower house of the California Legislature.

Merriam came here from the Imperial Valley to help [illegible] political situation and [illegible] confidence that Coolidge would carry the State by a majority of from 40,000 to 50,000. The situation in Imperial Valley, he said, was entirely satisfactory from the Republican point of view.

"There is no question but that Coolidge carrying the State," he said. "The only thing in doubt is the size of his majority that will be determined by the number of voters who will [illegible] charge their pacifism during the month of going to the polls.

"We know that every county of La Follette will vote for him November 4. Will all Democrats and women do likewise? That is the only question remaining to be settled before the coming election."

COOLIDGE TIDE RISING IN LITERARY DIGEST'S POLL

Returns Show President's Ratio Improving, While Davis Climbs Near La Follette Total

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Davis has almost overtaken La Follette in this week's returns of the Literary Digest's nation-wide Presidential poll which were made public today. Besides increasing his popular vote, the Democratic candidate has gained ascendancy in Kentucky by the week's tabulations which gives him leadership in twelve States.

Coolidge has 1,293,378 votes; Davis, 487,782; La Follette, 496,006 of the 2,300,484 ballots now recorded.

Davis has brought down La Follette's lead over him from 48,455 last week to 8224 this week, a gain of over 40,000. President Coolidge has also increased his percentage of the popular vote a fraction. Senator La Follette's share has declined over 1 per cent.

Expressed in percentages, the last three tabulations of the vote, including the present one, show the standing of the candidates as follows:

October 18	1,903,004	54.02	20.19	22.73	1.05

In Illinois Coolidge is leading La Follette by 2½ to 1 and Davis by 5 to 1. The President outnumbers Davis nearly 5 to 1 and La Follette over 2 to 1 in Iowa; Davis over 2 to 1 and La Follette more than 5 to 1 in Indiana; Davis nearly 7 to 1 and La Follette almost 2 to 1 in Minnesota; and Davis 5 to 1 and La Follette by 3 to 1 in New York.

"If this poll is any indication," the Digest states, "President Coolidge is likely to receive considerably more than a sufficient number of votes in the Electoral College to insure his election to succeed himself as the next President of the United States."

Following is the total vote by States for each of the three leading candidates:

	Coolidge	Davis	La Follette
Alabama	5,206	11,177	1,486
Arizona	4,185	1,950	2,220
Arkansas	5,494	10,765	1,891
California	76,049	10,155	65,050
Colorado	19,014	4,663	6,072
Connecticut	19,706	2,982	3,962
Delaware	2,799	1,333	340
District of Columbia	4,462	1,412	1,449
Florida	6,417	8,761	2,086
Georgia	5,268	16,393	2,430

OHIO CONCEDED TO PRESIDENT

German Split Not Enough to Hurt Republicans

Klan Issue Reaction Upon Negro is Problem

BY LOUIS SEIBOLD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CINCINNATI, Oct. 23.—Having no favorite son entered in the Presidential handicap, Ohio refuses to let loose her surcharged political emotions, while the 400,000 voters in the southern section of the State are only mildly interested. They are not overly enthusiastic, because there are no jobs in sight. There is little reason to doubt, however, that most of these voters who have any number of grievances, real and imaginary, will help give the State to the Coolidge-Dawes ticket by a confortable margin.

Aside from the sullen attitude of the "wooden-shoe" element among the German-American voters, so-called resentment in the colored fold over the extraneous Ku Klux Klan irritant, and the fatuousness of the professional union-labor vote, Republican prospects in Cincinnati seem much the best for the national ticket.

Recent impressive breaks in the unity of these factors apparently justify the assertions of the Republican leaders in Hamilton, Brown, Clermont, Butler and Warren counties, all contiguous to Cincinnati, that the President and Gen. Dawes will carry them by very substantial pluralities. Democratic leaders, who appear to be struggling against party atrophy noted elsewhere, privately admit the Republican assertions.

GERMANS UNHAPPY

Democratic chances are confined almost entirely to the straight partican fight between Gov. Donaghey, Democrat, and ex-Gov. Henry L. Davis for the job now held by the former. Considering the factor in the national contest, the German-American vote, so-called, is most uncertain and disturbing. It is the largest single unit in the Presidential equation, not only in the southern border counties but throughout the State.

The eligible vote of Hamilton county, Cincinnati, for instance, is around 190,000. Of this number probably 60,000 is catalogued by the professional politicians as "the German vote." Ever since the war the German brother on both sides of the "Rhine" district in Cincinnati has been most unhappy in a political sense. His disillusionment left him politically friendless.

For a half century the German has been led to believe he has the balance of political power, not only in the pretzel and pilsner district of Cincinnati but throughout the country. The politicians seeking his support told him so, and he was gullible enough to believe them. The Kaiser thought so, too. When the Cincinnati German, responding to the propaganda of the old German-American alliance, attempted to assert his power he found little sympathy from the politicians. Naturally he was resentful.

The first object of his wrath was Mr. Cox, who essayed to uphold the Wilson policies. The German voter scored heavily there, or at least he thought he did. Now he has coupled the Republican party with the Democratic object of his wrath and he has only one place to turn. That is why La Follette will get a lot of votes in Cincinnati.

Republican leaders of German thought are not particularly happy about it. They know the Wisconsin radical has no chance to win. They like his "war record" and his wet views, but they do not indorse his views of constitutional government or approve of his condemnation of the judiciary.

The prospect of being stood up and counted with the losers is not an inviting one. It does not appeal to German pride. Wherefore a great many more Germans than seemed probable two months ago will support President Coolidge. How many votes they will be able to tow along with them is problematical.

Many thousands of their compatriots are still incensed at both the regular parties. That element undoubtedly will deliver their votes to the La Follette-Wheeler ticket on the theory that they are punishing Republicans as well as Democrats.

The second fly in the Republican ointment in Southern Ohio concerns the negro. There are around 300,000 negro citizens in the 5,500,000 population of the State. Seventy per cent is concentrated around Cincinnati. Much of it is insurgent, chiefly because of the Ku Klux Klan. A great many negro voters believe the Republican party, which they have always supported, should take a more determined stand against the Klan.

Some influential leaders in the race have advocated the support of Davis. Three or four weeks ago it looked as if the defection of this class of voters might seriously affect the Coolidge-Dawes ticket. If Republican leaders are correct in their present analysis of the situation the negro is coming back to his natural moorings. In any event, La Follette will not get many voters of this class and Davis not enough to help him win the State.

Republican County Chairman Morris, and Mr. Capelle, vice-campaign chairman of Hamilton county, also note a distinct improvement in the labor phase of the Presidential contest.

UNION VOTE TURNS

The denunciation of the La Follette venture by President Lee and Vice-President Doak of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, and President O'Connor of the Longshoremen's union, has turned many thousands of labor votes in this section of the State.

Congressman Longworth, who is in line for Speaker of the next House, will not have any trouble in scoring again. He is making an active campaign against his Democratic opponent, T. R. Paxton, Jr., who is conceded by the Democratic local managers to have an uphill fight on his hands.

A development of the campaign that worries leaders of both the regular parties is the slump in registration in the southern part of the State. Four years ago 170,000 citizens of Cincinnati divided their ballots on the ratio of 112,500 for Mr. Harding and 77,598 for Mr. Cox. This year only 164,000 are registered, although more than 6000 new citizens qualified.

LA FOLLETTE SEES BLIGHT OVER NATION

Radical Candidate Says He's Only One Who Will Bring Prosperity

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

GRAND RAPIDS (Mich.) Oct. 23.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, in an address here tonight, replied to critics who, he said, are contending that he is "destructive" and without a constructive program. He asserted "the issue in this election is between constructive men and destructive men."

"It is between those who would bring in prosperity through equal opportunity," he said, "and those who would destroy it, as they have during the past four years, by monopoly privilege which has all but destroyed the industrial and the agricultural life of the nation."

Mr. La Follette declared Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota and Nebraska are "all but bankrupt."

The entire country has suffered as under a blight, asserted the Wisconsin Senator, adding that "all this happened under a Republican administration—a Republican administration whose chief claim on your support is that it is the party of prosperity, of the full dinner pail."

Contending that the movement he sponsors has a "constructive program—a program of equal opportunity for all and special privileges for none," Senator La Follette declared it was a plan which would aid the farmer by providing him with adequate credit, cheap transportation and proper marketing facilities; would free manufacturers from extortionate freight rates and provide them with cheap and adequate credit and would protect the wage worker and insure him the right to organize for his mutual benefit.

SHORTRIDGE IS SPEAKER AT BURBANK

Senator Honor Guest at Dinner and Gives Address at Valley Meeting

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BURBANK, Oct. 23.—Senator Samuel M. Shortridge was the principal speaker at two Republican meetings here tonight. He was the guest of honor at a dinner for leading San Fernando Valley residents at the Sunset Canyon Country Club. During the dinner the radio message of President Coolidge, broadcast throughout the United States, was heard by persons attending the affair.

Following the dinner Senator Shortridge addressed Republicans from all of the San Fernando Valley towns, at the Edison Grammar School, San Fernando Boulevard and Palm street, here.

W. A. Blanchard, president of the Burbank Coolidge-Dawes Club, presided at the meeting. William E. Evans, first vice-chairman of the Republican County Central Committee, and a member of the Southern California Coolidge-Dawes campaign organization, also addressed the meeting.

Veterans Urged to Give Support to Republicans

Veterans of three wars were urged to support the Republican party, which was declared to have done more for the aid of ex-service men and women than any other administration, at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home. A stirring plea for the Republican cause was made by Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, who outlined the various legislative enactments favoring the veterans, and particularly the disabled veterans, who have been adequately provided for through the system of hospitalization inaugurated by the Republican party, since it obtained a majority in Congress in May, 1919.

The good sportsmanship of President Coolidge was emphasized by Buron Fitts, State chairman of the Republican Veterans' League. When the bonus bill was vetoed by President Coolidge, and passed again by Congress over his veto, he made immediate preparations for carrying out the provisions of the bill, although no funds were voted for this purpose by Congress before its adjournment. Although President Coolidge could reasonably have waited until the next session of Congress for funds, thereby delaying the enforcement of the act, he immediately made arrangements through the Veterans' Bureau for carrying out its provisions, with the result that the bonus certificates will be available to veterans on January 1 of next year.

Secretary Hughes Defends His Foreign Policy

Attacks Shown Based Upon Misrepresentation

Inconsistency of Davis in Speeches Pointed Out

seeking a protectorate or overlordship, but desire to see our sister republics secure independence and constitutional government.

"It is charged that this government is engaged in negotiating concessions for our citizens. This is untrue. We maintain the principle of the open door, or equality of commercial opportunity to the end that our citizens shall not suffer unjust discriminations, but shall have the fair opportunity to which they are entitled. With this opportunity, they make their own contracts on their own terms. Let it also be remembered that the force of American arms is never pledged for the fulfillment of foreign loans or agreements.

MEXICAN RELATION

"Our relations with Mexico, happily re-established, are most cordial. The statements, sometimes ignorant and sometimes apparently malicious, as to our relations with Latin America, have brought condemnation upon those who circulate them, for in truth our relations with the Latin-American republics have never been on so good a footing as today.

"Equally futile has been the attempt to deprecate our endeavors which we have made with gratifying success for the promotion of peace. What do our opponents of the Democratic party think they will gain by belittling the Washington Conference on Limitation of Armament? Mr. Davis, at the outset, saw fit to speak of the conference as of 'doubtful value' and later with ill-judged observations he referred slightingly to the naval treaty which the leaders of the Democratic party had acclaimed in the Senate with the highest praise. Now Mr. Davis is compelled to deprecate his own deprecations on this work. But he still is so anxious to emphasize what the conference did not do, that he is utterly unable to estimate what was actually done. And his latest utterance on this point seems to me to be the most inexplicable and unworthy of all.

NAVAL LIMITATIONS

"The President, in a recent letter on Navy Day, observed that under the agreements we are entitled to maintain a navy equal to that of any other power. Then, Mr. Davis, invoking Ethan Allen, the great Jehovah and the Continental Congress, exclaimed, 'When did we need an agreement with any power to maintain such a navy as we desired?' Does that represent the spirit and purpose of the Democratic candidate? Is that then, his attitude toward limitation of armament? Of course, with our resources, we could have builded any navy we pleased if we cared to spend the money. Great Britain and Japan could also have built and we could each of us have piled up expenditures for construction and maintenance in a baleful competition in building the instruments of naval warfare. But if you are to have an agreement for limitation of armament you must have some standard of relative strength. The Washington conference treaty took the existing relative strength of the three great naval powers and based the agreement to stop competition upon this standard. This gave us, as the President said, a right to be second to none. For the first time Great Britain acceded to a definite equality with another power.

LEAGUE ISSUE

"It is constantly apparent that the center of attack of our Democratic opponents, with respect to foreign relations, is that the government has not joined the League of Nations. But what does the Democratic party propose? Does it propose that we should join the League of Nations? Quite the contrary. It is afraid to do so.

"The Democratic party definitely proposes that we should not join the League of Nations until a mandate has been received from the people through a referendum to that effect. The Democratic candidate has accepted the platform and he is bound by it. In view of the circumstances of its adoption he has no moral right to ask for votes on any other basis.

"The Democratic platform calls for a referendum. What sort of one? What is the question to be referred? Does it state the terms of joining the League? Not at all. The question is: Shall the United States become a member of the League upon such reservations and amendments to the covenant 'as the President and Senate may agree upon?'

'AFRAID OF PLATFORM

"Does Mr. Davis say what reservations he would favor? Does he discuss his platform? He tries to perform the impossible feat of standing on it and running away from it at the same time.

"It would seem to be proper to take account of the fact that the League is not an issue in this campaign. This is 1924, not 1920. It is apparent that as this government is not a member of the League we cannot act as though it were. Of course, this does not satisfy the zealous advocates of the League. Thus it is emphasized that this government did not attend the conference held at Barcelona under the auspices of the League in the early spring of 1921, on communication and transit. It is interesting to note that the invitation to attend this conference was received by the Democratic administration. The first invitation was sent to this government in September, 1920. The answer was given on January 3, 1921, by Norman H. Davis, acting Secretary of State, in an instruction to John W. Davis, the American Ambassador at London. This instruction said:

"'You will state that inasmuch as the United States is not a member of the League of Nations, this government does not deem it practicable to appoint a representative to attend the conference.'

POSITION ON COURT

"It is not necessary for me to speak of the Permanent Court of International Justice for my recommendation to President Harding is well known; as well as the public statements I have made in support of his recommendation to the Senate. President Coolidge has stated his position unequivocally, and it has been indorsed by the Republican platform.

"The assertion has been made that we refused an invitation to attend the recent 'conference' at Geneva where the questions of disarmament and peace were discussed. This is a misleading statement. The so-called 'conference' was simply the regular annual meeting of the Assembly of the League of Nations, and of course, not being a member of the League, this government was not invited to attend it. What we were invited to attend was a meeting of a committee for the purpose of dealing with the convention on traffic in arms. The proposed convention on traffic in arms has nothing directly to do with disarmament. As we had disclosed our position on all points it was not at all necessary that we should attend the further meeting, but quite sufficient that we should say, as we did say, that we were disposed to favor joining in an international conference.

"We are participating in the work of the committee to secure restrictions on production of opium and coca leaves and the manufacture and distribution of narcotic drugs, in the efforts to suppress traffic in women and children, in the studies of anthrax and standardization of antitoxic serums.

MANDATE QUESTION

"Also ill-considered and unjustified are the observations of our opponents in relation to mandates. As associates in the war, we had an equal right with respect to the disposition and administration of these territories. Our right and interest could not be dealt with without our consent and that consent under our form of government could only be made by treaty approved by the Senate. We have proceeded with the negotiation of these treaties. The delay has not been caused by us nor has it affected the administration of the mandated territories, which has gone on.

"Our influence in the cause of peace is constantly exerted and it is none the less effectively exerted because we do not embroil ourselves in European political interests. In connection with the recent effort to promote economic recovery in Europe it was possible to achieve success only because the American policy of securing an independent expert consideration of the subject of reparations was followed. We now face, I believe, a new era abroad, with opportunity for economic recuperation and the outlook is for prosperous times at home. Every uncertainty that now exists can be removed by the election of President Coolidge."

Sportsman Shoots at "Fur," Charge Lodges in Flapper's Scalp

ATTLEBORO (Mass.) Oct. 23.—Seeing a bushy object through a tree, James F. Kennedy, caretaker of an estate here, fired a load of buckshot, expecting to bring down a woodchuck. Instead, he heard a scream, saw a girl rise and swoon, and discovered that the buckshot had lodged in the scalp of Miss Lydia M. White without serious injury. The gunner had mistaken for a woodchuck the young woman's bushy bobbed hair.

DAWES STRIKES AT POLITICIANS

Brands Those Who Play Only for Votes as "Pinheads"

Calls on East to Awake to Peril to Constitution

Declares West is Alive to Issue in the Campaign

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WILMINGTON (Del.) Oct. 23.—Declaring the West was aroused and the women of the country generally were alert, Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for Vice-President, speaking here tonight, called on the men of the East "to awake to a recognition of the vicious attack being made on the American Constitution."

Mr. Dawes urged the voters of the Eastern States "to do your duty in this fight for they'll do their duty in the great Northwest where they realize that there is an issue at stake."

"There is one class of citizens that is awake to the great issue and that is the American women," he declared. "They realize this issue—this attack on the Constitution by a mobilization of extreme radicalism — comes close to the home.

"The pinheads on the political committees have been advising me to preach one thing in one section of the country and another thing in another section, not to speak in Colorado on irrigation as an economic factor in the settlement of agricultural questions for fear of losing votes and not to discuss this and that thing here and not something else somewhere else. Not so with the women in this campaign. They are not putting votes above principles."

Mr. Dawes made his address, which was devoted almost entirely to an attack on the La Follette independent candidacy, to an audience that jammed and overflowed the Queen Theater, where John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate for President, spoke three weeks ago. He was introduced by State Chairman Setterthwaite and shared the platform with Gov. Danny; T. Coleman Du Pont, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, and Senator Heisler L. Ball, defeated for the nomination by Mr. Du Pont.

'ANGELENO' GIRL TELLS WEIRD TALE

Says She Eloped to Wed and That Her Father is Local Capitalist

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RICHMOND (Ca.) Oct. 23.—Mysterious, but claiming to be the daughter of a Los Angeles capitalist named Thomas whose first name she refuses to give, a woman registered at the Jefferson Hotel here as Mrs. Lester Thompson, whose first name is Irene, today told the story of her elopement with a South American planter whose childhood sweetheart she was and for whose love she asserts she abandoned family, social standing and a fortune.

The father, she says, is now in Washington, having refused to accompany her to Miami, Fla., where she says she will meet her husband before sailing for Argentina. She refused to tell where or when the ceremony was performed, but otherwise talks freely. Unusually pretty and apparently just past the voting age, the girl said, in reference to her husband:

"I just love him so much I had to marry him. My husband and I were sweethearts from our school days and I could not stand the man that my family insisted upon my marrying. There was nothing else to do but elope."

Irene said she and her family lived in Chicago until a few years ago, when they moved to Los Angeles. Throughout her life she has traveled extensively, she said, and it was while in South America that she met her husband. Mrs. Thompson said she was married in a Pennsylvania city but refused to name the city. She said she had kept from her family the news of her marriage until two weeks ago. Her secret came out, she said, when her father failed to find her maiden name on a hotel register in Albany. The father, she said, created a scene as a result of which it came to light that she was at the hotel on her honeymoon. After the Albany Hotel scene the newlyweds parted, the father coming with Mrs. Thompson as far as Washington. Now, however, on her way to join her husband, she is unaccompanied except for a pet dog.

G.O.P. Chairman is Due Saturday for Conference

Charles L. Neumiller, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, will arrive here tomorrow morning from San Francisco for a conference with leading Southern California Republicans, according to an announcement made yesterday by A. L. Bartlett, first vice-chairman of the State party organization.

This will be the first time that Mr. Neumiller has visited Southern California since his election as head of the Republican party last month.

Members of the executive committee of the Republican Presidential campaign organization will meet in conference tomorrow afternoon to complete arrangements for the final drive to be made in behalf of President Coolidge and Gen. Dawes in Southern California. Committee members will meet at the Southern California Coolidge-Dawes headquarters at 2:30 o'clock for the conference.

COOLIDGE-DAWES CLUB FORMED AT LA HABRA

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LA HABRA, Oct. 23.—Planning co-operation as the keynote for their work, a Coolidge-Dawes Club for both men and women was organized this afternoon in the parlors of the First National Bank of La Habra. Mrs. C. L. Crumrine was chosen as chairman with W. L. York as vice-chairman. Plans were made to canvass the different precincts to stimulate the voting strength of the Republican party and also to make arrangements to get voters to the polls at the general election. Mrs. Nellie Terry of Anaheim, and C. L. Crumrine, both Republican committeemen, assisted in perfecting the organization. The meeting was well attended.

RESCUE OF BARNSDALL GIRL IS TOLD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—How the chauffeur of a multi-millionaire woman resident of Los Angeles saved her young daughter from certain death in the Yosemite Valley last June and thereby incurred serious injuries himself, was revealed today in a decision of the Industrial Accident Commission.

After spending a week in the valley, the chauffeur took the child out horseback riding and as the two were returning and within sight of the stables, the animal the child was riding broke away and galloped into a corral where other animals were running about. Statham rode his steed after her and caught up with the runaway animal as it was about to hurl the child beneath the feet of several excited horses. In trying to catch the girl he slipped and fell beneath his own horse and was trampled.

A fractured skull and other serious injuries kept him in the hospital there for seven weeks and to recover compensation for the expenses incurred he brought action. In the testimony the tale of heroism, untold before, was brought to light. Statham, it was revealed, receives $125 a week salary as chauffeur and acts as traveling companion frequently for his employer and her child.

CHILD KILLED AT PLAY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FARMINGTON (Minn.) Oct. 23. Nina Buchlin, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Buchlin, of this city, was fatally hurt when she fell between a pile of planks while at play. Her parents had last seen her alive as she was playing on the planks, and, after missing her, began a search which ended when she was found dead.

NEGRO KILLED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FLAGSTAFF (Ariz.) Oct. 23.—Fatal injuries were received by an unidentified negro, about 30 years of age when he stepped out of the way of a passenger train, west of this city, to be struck by a freight train. His worldly effects appear to have been four pocket knives.

BETRAYS GUILT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23.—Because Frank Smith, a negro, took to the alleys instead of using the sidewalks, when he came to the city, he was placed under arrest on suspicion and has confessed killing an aged man in Illinois.

CANINES ARE ACQUISITIVE

Dogs Strip Neighbor's Line of Airing Wardrobe; Loot Recovered

LA CROSSE (Wis.) Oct. 23.—Mrs. Abby Burton of this city, after hanging out a collection of furs, winter wraps and blankets, went downtown on a shopping tour. On returning home and going to the yard to gather in her treasures, Mrs. Burton found the line had been cleaned of everything. Police were called in and set out to locate the thieves.

While still worrying over her loss Mrs. Burton received a telephone call from a neighbor inquiring if she had lost any articles. Describing the goods taken, Mrs. Burton was informed they were all at the neighbor's home. It developed that two dogs had pulled every blanket and garment from the Burton clothesline and had dragged them to the home garage, where they were found uninjured, but very dusty.

Wilbur Doubts Powder Theory in Trenton Blast

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. — Examination of the inspection reports of the cruiser Trenton render untenable the theory that deteriorated powder may have caused the explosion on board which has resulted in fourteen deaths, Secretary Wilbur announced today. He added that the departmental files failed to show a single accident from "bad" powder during the past fifteen years, or since 1909 when the Navy obtained a method of stabilizing service explosives.

While the Ordnance Bureau has a definite theory of the cause of the catastrophe, the Secretary said it would not be divulged or commented upon while the court of inquiry is sitting in the case.

MAINE FOLK TO MEET

The first regular meeting of the Pine Tree State Association is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock this evening at Disabled Veterans' Hall, 246 South Hill street. M. C. Drisko, acting president, announces a program including a special number for the children and younger people. Leon Becker, 11 years of age, will give a short recital on the piano. Readings will be given by Merlin Belle McKee, instructor in expression at the Los Angeles Coaching School. Greetings will be read from Maine's new Governor, Ralph O. Brewster. An innovation will be made at this meeting in the way of a ten-minute talk on recent events in Maine.

DAVIS AGAIN TAKES SHOT AT KU KLUX

Says He Would Quit Elks and Masons if They Went Into Politics

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND, (O.) Oct. 23.—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President, stood tonight on the platform where President Coolidge was nominated by the Republican national convention and gave his interpretation of what he said was the one issue of the Presidential election contest—"the record of the Republican party during its present lease of power."

Mr. Davis, however, was not permitted to proceed far before a heckler in the audience demanded to know what his attitude was in regard to the Ku Klux Klan. He said his position was well known.

"I stand for the fundamental guarantee in favor of religious faith and practices in the United States and against any threat to diminish the right of any man because of his choice to adopt the religion he learned at his mother's knee," he asserted.

The candidate said he was a member of two secret organizations, the Elks and Masons, and asserted "if the day should ever come that they should seek to enter the political field, I would feel it my duty as a man and a citizen to sever my connection with them instantly.

"I do not believe, and in my judgment history will bear me out," he added, "that any lasting good ever can be accomplished by the intrusion into politics of any secret order whatever."

Referring to oil and other asserted scandals, Mr. Davis said:

"I am willing cheerfully to acquit the honest men and women who make up the great rank and file of the Republican party of any personal responsibility in all this festering corruption; but I remind them now that when the occasion comes when they are summoned to express an opinion, when they are afforded the only opportunity a citizen can enjoy to pass upon this government, they cannot escape the question of approval or of disapproval, of satisfaction or of dissatisfaction, of commendation or condemnation."

Mr. Davis assailed the Fordney-McCumber tariff act, and said:

"Is there any defender in this country of that measure? I know of none save one—and that the nominee of the Republican party for the office of President."

Woman Shot by Hold-up Man is Reported Better

The condition of Mrs. Stella Parsons, who was shot by a mysterious hold-up man at her home at 906 West Fiftieth street, last Saturday, was reported by physicians at the Angelus Hospital last night to be considerably improved. Her chances for recovery are good, it was stated.

Although police have conducted a search for a man believed to be her assailant no arrests have been made so far. Until Mrs. Parson's condition will permit her to give a detailed description of the bandit, the police state, the search will be handicapped.

POETIC CONTEST LACKS WINNER

Irish Judges Find No Anthem Poem Worth Even Part of Prize

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

DUBLIN, Oct. 23.—Poetry and patriotism seemingly do not go hand in hand in Ireland today, the judges of a contest conducted by a local newspaper have discovered. The paper offered a prize of 50 guineas for a poem suitable for an Irish national anthem. Many sets of verses were received. The judges said they found nothing worthy among the declarations, declaring "we read these poems and all agreed that not one amongst them was worth a guinea or any part of it."

Most of the verses, they said, imitated "God Save the King."

Rich Oil Man is Recovering From Poison Attempt

Elbert O. Orchard, former oil operator and reputed wealthy, was reported recovering yesterday at the home of his mother, Mrs. Belle Orchard, 3813 West Twenty-first street, from the effects of poison taken Wednesday in a cabin at Las Flores Canyon after leaving a note stating "it is a funny world." He was taken to his mother's home yesterday from Martin's Sanitarium, Santa Monica, to which he was removed from the cabin.

Friends of Orchard said he had been depressed over failure to effect a reconciliation with his former wife, Mrs. Lucille Orchard, whose divorce from Orchard became final yesterday.

Mat Tourney Tickets Are Put on Sale

Tickets for the Pacific Coast A.A.U. wrestling championship tournament to be held at the Hollywood Athletic Club were placed on sale this morning at the Kress Drug Company and the Central Commerce Bank in Hollywood. tickets may also be secured at the movie city club. With reservations already received from San Diego, San Francisco and other sections of the State, a complete sell-out is assured before the tournament starts, announced George L. Eastman, athletic chairman, today.

A delegation from San Francisco is expected late tonight to back up Hugh Stover, Bay City entry, who has a good record and should give the rest of the entries a run for their money. Several hundred sailors are also expected from the fleet to cheer seventeen entries from various ships. Charly Keppen of the L.A.A.C. is leading several hundred Mercury members to Hollywood to back up his nineteen entries. Carl Johnson, wrestling instructor, has eleven boys entered in the tournament and has had them working out daily for the past month. He is hoping his entries will cop several gold medals.

Bay Leaguers in Important Games Today

Numerous heated varsity frays will be staged today in the Bay League circuit, when the third round of games to determine the best eleven of the Crescent Bay division is run off.

Two contests stand out as the most important of the quartet of skirmishes that are billed for today. The San Pedro-Inglewood tilt at Inglewood and the Santa Monica-Huntington Park game on the latter's grounds will be close, hard-fought scraps.

Coach Vincent Shutt's Samohians run into their stiffest competition at Huntington Park, when the one-time defeated Parkers are engaged. Santa Monica has tallied victories against Gardena and Redondo, but both of the last-named squads should also be downed by Huntington Park.

Samohi will journey to Huntington Park for its toughest grid argument to date, and may well expect it.

Gardena and Compton play on the Comptonites' field. Both squads have lost in football engagements this season. Of the two, Compton is rated slightly the stronger. There will be no lop-sided count in this melee.

In a struggle that should prove the first victory of the scheduled series of contests for Venice, the Gondoliers will meet with Redondo on the former's field. Venice has played two tie games with Compton and Inglewood.

NEGROES ARRESTED

Nine negroes, asserted dice shooters, were arrested at 1529 East Twenty-third street last night by Police Officers Sheffield and Randolph. The suspects were lodged in the City Jail on charges of gambling.

MILKMEN SELL TOWN WATER

Blast in Quarry Causes Well, Sole Source, to Go Dry

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Lemont, twenty miles southwest of here, is buying its water from milkmen since a dynamite blast in a quarry near there caused an artesian well, the town's sole water source, to go dry.

The only free water available comes from a spring in an abandoned rock quarry until pipes can be laid to another spring a mile and a half from town.

MEXICO READY FOR REBELS

War Office Announces Army is Prepared to Halt Plot to Prevent Calles Inauguration

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 23.—Any attempt by elements unfriendly to the central government to prevent President-Elect Calles from assuming office as the nation's Chief Executive will be met with "cold steel," the War Office announced today.

Disquieting rumors to the effect that former adherents of Gen. De La Huerta in his unsuccessful attempt to overthrow the government would seek to prevent the peaceful transfer of the executive powers to Gen. Calles brought the announcement from the War Office.

Government officials, however, expressed their belief that there is no truth behind the reports that the former revolutionary supporters of De La Huerta are planning a disturbance. Military commanders throughout the republic, nevertheless, have been instructed to stamp out without mercy any movement which has the earmarks of an attempt to prevent Gen. Calles from assuming the Presidency.

Reports that authorities of the States of Sinaloa and Nayarit had refused to accept the ruling on the Presidential election were branded as absurd by government spokesmen. They also characterized rumors that supporters of Gen. Angel Flores, defeated candidate for the Presidency, were plotting unfriendly action toward the government in similar manner.

Among these rumors is one to the effect that Enrique Estrada, who led De La Huerta's revolutionary forces in the West, was gathering supporters in the State of Zacatecas, and that he intended to start another revolution to prevent Gen. Calles from becoming Chief Executive.

Reports also have been received here that trouble is brewing in the State of Chiapas. The government has issued orders for special vigilance along the United States and Guatemala border to prevent arms from being smuggled into the republic.

The War Office statement says in part: "Never before has the army been so well disciplined and united. The army's well-oiled machine is capable of stamping out any antigovernment movement which might break out either in Lower California or Yucatan."

Wheeler Flays Accuser as His Reply to Charge

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEDALIA (Mo.) Oct. 23. — A response to charges that the La Follette campaign is aimed at subverting American institutions was incorporated tonight in a speech here by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, candidate for Vice-President. He aimed particularly at Martin W. Littleton of New York, who dealt with the subject in a speech in New York last night.

"No doubt you have read Mr. Littleton's diatribe to the effect that Senator La Follette and myself are engaged in a Communist enterprise of tearing down the Constitution and the institutions of the United States," Senator Wheeler said. "Now, who is Martin Littleton? The last time he came to public notice he was engaged as an attorney, by Harry S. Sinclair with the object of preventing the Senate committee from getting to the facts about the Teapot Dome steal, which eventually proved so damning to his client. That explains completely Mr. Littleton's interest in the campaign."

FUND QUIZ MAY BE PROLONGED

Inquiry Likely to be Kept Going Until Election

Suspicions, Opinions Only Results Now in Sight

Subpoenas Issued to Heads of State Committees

BY PHILIP KINSLEY
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23. — The Borah committee's "slush fund" inquiry switched today from national to State campaign fund resources, with the certain prospect of running until election day, and the probability of developing little beyond opinions and suspicions.

Senator Borah was particularly aroused over the following telegram which was received by Attorney Frank P. Walsh from Senator T. J. Walsh of Teapot Dome fame:

"Rumored that $100,000 is coming into Montana to be used against me, not passing, however, through either national committee or the chairman of the Republican State Committee. Kindly question carefully concerning remittances to this State."

After an afternoon spent largely in an exchange of opinions between the witnesses, Charles D. Hilles and Fred M. Shepherd, executive officer of the American Bankers' Association, Senator Thaddeus Caraway of Arkansas and the counsel for Senator La Follette, Attorneys Walsh and Samuel Untermyer, Chairman Borah said:

WANT FACTS ONLY

"We want facts rather than opinions in the future. We are particularly interested in the Senator Walsh proposition in Montana. We want the facts to run that down and will go to any extent.

"We are not confined to national committees in this investigation. Senator Walsh would not say there was such a rumor unless he had good grounds."

"Those things are not on the surface," interposed Mr. Untermyer.

"I know they are not, but I am of the opinion that we can run it down."

Mr. Untermyer asked that the State chairmen of New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Illinois be subpoenaed and submitted a long list of additional witnesses.

"Don't you know?" he asked Mr. Hilles at one point, "that millions may be contributed in this campaign without violating the law, that great individual contributors may be taking care of certain States? That is what we are after."

MILLION ENOUGH

Mr. Hilles did not know anything about it.

He expressed the opinion that President Coolidge would be elected if the Republicans had only $1,000,000 and that the Republican committee had a perfect right to raise what it considered necessary to carry on an efficient campaign.

Mr. Untermyer wanted to know how it was that the names of E. H. Gary, John D. Rockefeller, J. P. Morgan, the Standard Oil and others "vitally interested, were strangely missing" from the records of contributors as turned in by the Republican National Committee.

Mr. Hilles could not answer, except in the case of John D. Rockefeller, who, he said, had made a recent contribution of $10,000 not yet on the reports.

"I am mighty glad these names are missing," said Senator Borah. "Possibly it is a compliment to the Republican National Committee."

"I am not certain," said Mr. Untermyer. "We have certain leads. We will pursue them all to the limit."

TELLS OF GIFTS

Mr. Hilles, who is the national committeeman from New York, said he had contributed $2500 and had taken $15,000 from Mortimer Schiff; $10,000 from William Nelson Cromwell; $5000 each from "the four Guggenheims;" $10,000 from Horace Harding, New York banker, and $5000 from Marshall Field.

Other large contributions in the new list submitted to the committee by the Republican National Committee were:

Senator William B. McKinley, $5000; Alanson B. Houghton, New York, $2500; Theodore Gary, Kansas City, $2500; Hunter L. Gary, Kansas City, $2500; Irene Dupont, $10,000; Boren & Co., Philadelphia, $10,000; Joseph Bromley, Philadelphia, $10,000; Cyrus H. K. Curtis, $1000; Max Steuer, Philadelphia, $5000; W. Emlin Roosevelt, $1000; Ogden Mills, $10,000; Frank Munsey, $10,000; E. L. Ford, Detroit, $1000; J. B. Ford, Detroit, $1000; Frank Stearns, Boston, $10,000; Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, $11,000.

Between the 11th and 15th inst., the report showed, $487,027 had been collected. This brings the total Republican fund over $3,000,000.

ANOTHER ONE EXPLODED

Mr. Shepherd, when examined regarding the La Follette-Walsh charge that a percentage assessment to defeat La Follette had been made at the recent convention of the American Bankers' Association in Chicago, denied this, and produced the stenographic records of the proceedings to show that no such address as alleged had been made there.

He was asked about the Bankers' League, an organization headed by Charles D. B. Claybourne, which maintains, it was said, legislative offices in Washington. Letters were read showing the activity of this organization against certain legislation and in favor especially of reducing the minimum surtax.

Mr. Shepherd said the American Bankers' Association did not engage in political activities and the league referred to was headed by a disgruntled member of our association."

"I suspect," remarked Senator Borah sagely, "that Senator La Follette has no objection to the bankers being against him."

It was brought out at one stage of the inquiry that the charge had been made that some bankers were notifying time purchasers of automobiles that notes would not be renewed if La Follette was elected. Mr. Shepherd said he never heard of this.

Mr. Hilles testified that New York had collected $650,000 for the Republican national campaign fund to date and he hoped to make it a million.

ARITHMETIC FAULTY

"I have seen it stated that on this basis we would have a slush fund of $12,000,000," he said. "I noticed that they raised $30,000 for Mr. Davis in a West Virginia city. On that basis the Democrats would have a campaign fund of $35,000,000. Yet we make no such charge. Senator La Follette's arithmetic is pure fiction."

Asked as to his opinions on campaign funds Mr. Hilles said that in his opinion Mr. Davis would have just as many electoral votes if he had not spent any money.

"They were already on hand," he said.

"And yours are still to be bought?" asked Senator Caraway.

This raised a laugh in the crowded committee-room.

Mr. Untermyer sought to establish through Mr. Hilles that all the Republican campaign money came from the "great protected manufacturing States, centers of finance and big business."

"That does not follow," said Mr. Hilles. "The contributions are pretty general, much more so than in the old days. We hope to have 30,000 contributors."

He told of the group contributors in New York, in the insurance, banking, and other fields.

"Do you require officeholders to contribute?" asked Senator Caraway.

"No, sir."

"Do you know that every officeholder in my State is compelled to contribute?"

"It is news to me."

"And in South Carolina? Did you ever read the 'Dear Ben' correspondence of Bascom Slemp?"

"No, sir."

"Well, get it when you have a day off. It is very interesting. It is on record."

Mr. Hilles practically defied the La Follette attorneys to furnish any specifications of their slush-fund indictment.

"I assume the effort here is to show a conspiracy to raise a vast sum, supposedly sent from some place to buy certain States," he said. "Against whom does the indictment lie?"

REBEL TRIO EXECUTED IN MEXICO

Victims Are Believed to Have Been Implicated in Attack on Train

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 23.—The court-martial and execution of three rebel leaders are reported from Piedras Negras by Gen. Juan Andrew Almazan, chief of military operations in the State of Vera Cruz. The rebels, Jose De Jesus Ponce, Aurelio Lagunes and Jose Munoz, are believed to have participated in the attack on a train near Joachin recently when almost thirty military guards and passengers were killed and several young women carried off.

Capture of the rebels was effected Sunday.

VERA CRUZ, Oct. 23.—The bandit Aurelio Lagunes, executed by a Federal firing squad at Piedras Negras, was a brother of the rebel general, Jose Lagunes.

The execution of Lagunes and his comrades is expected to be followed by speedy pacification of the entire region.

FOSDICK RESIGNATION ACCEPTED BY CHURCH

INVITATIONS GIVEN, HOWEVER, TO PREACH WHENEVER IT IS CONVENIENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick no longer is a preacher in the First Presbyterian Church. His resignation was unanimously accepted at a meeting of the congregation last night. An invitation was extended to him, however, to preach at the church "on such Sundays as he finds it convenient."

A letter from Dr. Fosdick, including a copy of a letter to the New York Presbytery, was read.

Dr. Fosdick in his resignation declined to denounce his affiliation with the Baptist Church.

Dr. Fosdick was told in a letter sent to him after the approval of the report which accepted his resignation: "We will suffer an irreparable loss if you leave us entirely. Moreover, the Presbyterian Church at large will suffer seriously. Thousands of young men and women, attracted by your preaching and writing, will drift away from any church association whatever. But the greatest loss will be to the cause of Christian fellowship and church unity, to which you and we are committed."

Three Children Die; Many Hurt in Ohio Crash

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

LORAIN (O.) Oct. 23.—Three 7-year-old boys were killed instantly and seventeen other children were injured, several seriously, late today when an interurban car crashed into a school bus about eight miles east of here. Approximately thirty-five first and second-grade pupils were in the bus when it was struck and overturned in a six-foot ditch.

The bus was taking the children to their homes in the vicinity of the Sheffield Lake. First reports were that six were killed.

BULLET STRIKES WOMAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BISBEE (Ariz.) Oct. 23.—A stray bullet is believed to have caused a wound in the jaw received near Forest Station by Mrs. Grace Kingsbury of Columbus, O. The injury is not serious. The bullet, of small caliber, lodged at the base of the tongue.

New Skirts $10.95

—Skirts in the ever-popular wrap-around style—a style that will prevail for skirts as long as a slim silhouette is sought for—And specially—remarkably—priced for the end of the week; with a few pleated skirts finding their place among them . . . Superior skirts indeed, for their various materials are of the finer grades . . . Charmeen and Kasha cloth, favored by the Fall season and of comfortably light weight—novelty cloth and camel's hair, both ideal for sports wear—and satin, to complete bright blouses and long tunics . . . Many are of plain colors, autumn-favored shades, many are smartly striped or plaided . . .

—They are carefully cut—for snugness and comfort—and carefully finished—as becomes their quality—with skillful pockets, bound buttonholes, box folds . . .

AT THE VILLE—THIRD FLOOR

Sweaters: $4.95

—This group of beautiful sweaters has been selected for reduction—a valuable assortment indeed, for this one special price covers a variety of styles! . . . There are slip-ons, golf coats, swagger coats, many with pockets, some with Rayon bindings, and some with collars, while among the slip-ons may be found round or V necks.

—Altogether, sweaters for every sweater-need! And the colors are green, red, copen, brown, cocoa, black, navy, gray and tan.

AT THE VILLE—THIRD FLOOR

Tunic Blouses $12.75

—Now—and in wide demand, for brightening a suit or completing a skirt to make a full costume . . . This group is variously styled—some hang straight, some tie about the waist or the sides, while sleeves vary as to length and neck lines as to height . . .

The colors are those demanded to accompany new Fall outfits . . . while the trimmings, of beads, embroidery or braiding, make them entirely fitting for dress wear!

AT THE VILLE—THIRD FLOOR

Grewen Fabric Gloves $1.75

—Smart gloves of fabric are increasingly popular because of their long-wearing qualities . . . Low-priced gloves, also, with the brief novelty cuffs that have arrived with this season, and wide crochet on the backs—in the newer shades, lariat, sombrero, pigeon and cinder as well as white. Sizes 5½ to 7.

AT THE VILLE—FIRST FLOOR

Novelty Silk Gloves $1.45

—A splendid value, for the new ideas in gloves are carried out with turn-back cuffs—some plain, some silk embroidered—and attractively embroidered backs, making them decidedly suited to dress wear! In the new shades, fawn, beige, gray, mode, also white. Sizes, 5½ to 7.

AT THE VILLE—FIRST FLOOR

Kayser Silk Chiffon Hosiery $1.95

—An exceptionally fine even weave of chiffon stockings sheer enough for the nicest wear, yet amply strengthened for service by fine lisle garter tops and reinforced toes, heels and soles . . . In fascinating shades, all subtly different—French nude, fallow, sunset, cinnamon, bunny, gunmetal, beige, gray—also white. Sizes, 8½ to 10.

COATS—

Coats: $29.50!

—A sale the more exceptional because the coats involved have adapted (even at this low price!) the vogues that rule in wraps at much higher markings! These available Friday are an obvious proof of this adaptation!

—Autumn plentifully supplies new materials for coating fabrics . . . and these have been employed, in the case of Angora Polaire . . . Downeywool . . . Sundine and Bolivia . . . to fashion these coats . . .

—There are many styles, remember—dominated by the cinder mode of the moment . . . the long straight lines . . . which women have welcomed because of their slenderizing effect . . . These are further made infinitely pleasing by the lavish use of sealine . . . marmot . . . muskrat . . . and Manchurian wolf . . . in collars and bandings.

Reindeer Brown Copenhagen Black Casserole Rust

AT THE VILLE—THIRD FLOOR

Coats: $39.50!

—Attractive Coats . . . so low-priced that everyone should have a new coat for Fall or Winter!

—Not the usual coat for $39.50 at all, but those which have taken the new coat fashions . . . and turned them to account in various new and pleasing ways.

—All this in a season when the materials are the lovely ones of Sundine, Angora Polaire . . . Blocked Bolivia . . . sports mixtures . . . Francine and Downeyl plaids. . . .

—And when such furs as muskrat, sealine, skunk, wolf, marmink, coney . . . are used to such decided advantage!

WORLD UNION OF CHURCH SOUGHT

Lutherans Are Called on to Bridge Boundaries

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Lutherans throughout the world were called upon today at the convention of the United Lutheran Church in America here to bridge national boundaries and present a solid front "in the conquest of the world for Christ."

Dr. J. A. Morehead of New York made the appeal, declaring that Christianity is "supra-national" and that the time has come for the church to apply the doctrine of the New Testament, "Ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints and of the household of God."

At present Lutherans to some extent, even in this country, according to delegates are organized along lines of national origin, Dr. Morehead called for world union.

"Our foreign missionary endeavor bears testimony to the fact that Christianity knows no aliens nor foreigners," he said.

NO DISCRIMINATION

"Already Lutherans of different countries have co-operated effectively in relieving distress as in Russia, and in such have disregarded, in the case of their beneficiaries, the lines of nation, class, race or creed.

"Lutherans, recognizing the just demarcation between church and State and cherishing no political ambitions, are fitted for international amalgamation."

The French Lutheran Church cabled to Dr. F. H. Knubel of New York, president of the United Lutheran Church in America, its "greetings and best wishes" to the convention.

In connection with Dr. Morehead's appeal, delegates noted that even the committee report which holds that "Christians may engage in a just war" touches an international chord. It concludes:

WAR REPORT

"We also believe that the time has come when it is necessary to stress the fact that nationalism and internationalism are not mutually exclusive terms, that patriotism and the love of other nations and races are supplemental; that the processes employed by and within the nation to secure just peace and stability must be employed in an ever-increasing measure in the intercourse between nations; that the arbitrament of arms must yield in an ever larger degree to the arbitrament of reason ... ; and that to this end the Christian citizen is pledged to exert every effort, through the establishment of some agency to further justice and good will in his own country and in the commonwealth of nations."

The convention will be called upon Tuesday to choose between this declaration and a more drastic one demanding that all war be outlawed as crime.

WIFE GETS FIFTY-YEAR TIE LOOSED

Colorado Woman Secures Divorce on Her Golden Wedding Anniversary

DENVER, Oct. 23.—After waiting thirty years for the return of her husband Mrs. Helen Ellis obtained a preliminary decree of divorce from him on the fiftieth anniversary of her wedding.

Mrs. Ellis testified she was married to Josiah Hilman Ellis in 1874. Thirty years ago he left home, she said, and only once since that time has she seen him, she told the court. She had waited for him to return home and now, after thirty years, she said, she had given up hope.

The decree was granted on the ground of desertion.

ANOTHER IN HATFIELD CLAN BULLET VICTIM

SON OF MAN WHO STARTED TUG RIVER FEUD IS KILLED IN FIGHT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BLUEFIELD (W. Va.) Oct. 23. Another violent death has been recorded in the family history of the notorious Hatfield clan of West Virginia and Kentucky. Recalling the days of the Tug River feud between the Hatfield and the McCoy clans, veteran officials of Mingo county today were investigating the killing of Alex Hatfield, the latest of his line to feel the sting of a bullet. He is a son of the man who started the far-famed feud of years ago.

During an argument over the coming election Hatfield is said to have called Thurman Chambers a "liar." Chambers told officials that he struck Hatfield with his fist, whereupon the latter drew a pistol and, in a struggle for possession of the weapon, Hatfield was shot.

Alex Hatfield, former postmaster of Matewan, W. Va., was the son of Floyd Hatfield, whose suit for a litter of hogs against the McCoys of Kentucky marked the beginning of a feud in the hills along the Tug River during which many members of the two families met death.

BOTTLERS TO MEET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—A large number of California bottlers will be in the delegation from the Pacific Coast States and Hawaii to the annual convention and beverage exposition of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages at Louisville, Ky., November 10 to 14. An attendance of 5000 persons is indicated, according to Secretary Junior Owens, in charge of the national headquarters here.

HANGMAN IS GUARDED AS TRAP WAITS

Plot to Foil Hanging of Five Murderers Feared on Eve of Execution

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MONTREAL, Oct. 23.—Plans by underworld desperadoes to kidnap Ellis, the hangman, who will preside over the execution of five bandit murderers tomorrow, have been unearthed, according to a report here. The rumor is denied, but nevertheless extraordinary precautions are being observed.

The persons admitted for the executions entered the jail at 6 o'clock tonight and must remain till all is over after 8 a.m. tomorrow. Mounted police will prevent any person coming within half a mile of Bordeaux Jail.

The five who are to die for the murder of Henri Cieroux, chauffeur of the Bank of Hochelaga, are: Louis Morel, ex-Montreal detective and erstwhile athlete; Arcengiolo Di Vicanzo, alias Tony Frank, at one time a master mind of Montreal's underworld; Giuseppe Sarafini, Frank Gambino and Mike Valentino. A sixth bandit, Leo Davis, was condemned to die, but the production of new evidence caused his execution to be postponed until November 6.

UNION CHIEF SENTENCES CONFIRMED

Four Chicago Business Agents Must Serve Year in Extortion Plot Case

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Thomas Walsh, Roy Shields, Peter Kane and Frank Hayes, local labor union leaders, will have to serve one year in the County Jail, the sentence imposed upon them for conspiracy to extort, according to a decision of the Illinois Appellate Court today.

They were convicted of conspiracy by a jury before Judge Oscar M. Torrison in criminal court two years ago during the midst of State's Attorney Crowe's drive on the union warfare that held Chicago in its grip at that time.

Walsh and Hayes were business agents for the Sheet Metal Workers' Union; Shields was business agent of the Painters Union, while Kane was the business agent for the Plumbers' Union. It was charged that the four used their office to force workers in the different trades either to stop work or continue, as they so directed. In accordance with this, the indictments charged, the business agents conspired to extort large sums of money from construction companies.

Crowds Greet Leaders Back in Philippines

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MANILA, Oct. 23.—Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, and Sergio Osmena, one of the coalitionist leaders, were welcomed home today by huge crowds upon their return from a six months tour of the United States and Europe.

Addressing the crowds, Quezon said:

"Philippine independence has a better chance now than it has ever had. The administration blocked action on independence measures, but as a result of recent events Philippine problems are more clearly understood by the American people."

Cashier Shot but Bank Bandits Go Without Plunder

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Stefan Kovac, cashier, was shot and probably fatally wounded today when he fought a revolver battle with two robbers who made a daring attempt to rob the Papanek-Kovac State Bank at 1946 Milwaukee avenue. The bandits escaped empty handed.

The bank is located near one of the busiest intersections of the northwest. Hundreds of persons were near when the attempted robbery and shooting took place.

WRIT ASKED TO FORCE SANTA ROSA ELECTION

TWO COUNCILMEN RESIGN IN FIGHT TO FORCE SPECIAL VOTE ON VACANCIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 23.—A petition for a writ of mandate to compel the City Clerk of Santa Rosa to call a special election to fill three vacancies in the offices of Councilmen, was filed in the District Court of Appeals today by W. J. Meeker.

Meeker, with Newton B. Kinley, resigned from the Council the 15th inst. A third vacancy was caused by the death recently of D. P. Mack. It is pointed out in the petition that when a majority of seats in the Council are vacant a special election must be called under the city charter.

The petition does not show the reason for the resignations of Meeker or Kinley, but it is assumed that they resigned for the purpose of forcing the issue of a special election.

PLAY SAMOHI

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 23. Reeder's field will be invaded tomorrow afternoon by Santa Monica's eleven, the heavyweight football team, which will go against the Spartan's of this city. Coach Vern Landreth of the locals, states that he has the lads in fine trim and that they expect to put up a fast game.

BUSINESS WAR GOES TO COURT

Finance Corporation Sues Bradford Company

President is Accused in Plea for Accounting

Official Says Action is Effort to Embarrass

Business differences between the Max Oscher Company, Inc., and C. Raymond Bradford, president and general manager of the Bradford Baking Company, resulted in the filing of a civil action by the former in the Superior Court yesterday.

The plaintiff asked the removal of the Bradford Baking Company's board of directors, an accounting of the company's finances, and the appointment of a receiver. The Max Oscher Company, Inc., a New York financing company, is a minority stockholder of the baking company, which is one of the oldest and largest concerns of its kind on the Coast.

Although the suit alleges embezzlement and other penal offenses it does not appear that any complaint was made to a criminal prosecution agency such as the District Attorney's office, the charges being confined to the civil suit.

Mr. Bradford, through his attorney, Leroy M. Edwards, last night made a complete denial of all the charges, asserting that the suit is the result purely of a disagreement with the plaintiff, who sought this means to embarrass the baking company and himself because he had refused to enter into financing arrangement with them. Mr. Bradford owns 90 per cent of the baking company's stock. Attorney Edwards is a member of the company's board of directors.

That Bradford has dominated the affairs of the company through its board of directors is charged in the complaint. Directors besides Bradford, the complaint states, are Leroy M. Edwards, prominent local attorney, and Mrs. Daisy C. Moreno, wealthy social leader and wife of Antonio Moreno, film actor, the latter two of whom have held office since April 11, last. Edwards and Mrs. Moreno are not made a party to the suit, but their removal as directors is asked.

The action, the complaint states, is brought to protect stockholders, who, it is charged, have never received any dividends.

The suit asks that a receiver be appointed to take charge of all assets of the company, that an accounting be conducted under the direction of the court and that a judgment for all the money declared to have been misappropriated be entered against Bradford, together with interest at the rate of 7 per cent from the time of the asserted misappropriations.

The complaint was prepared by Atty. A. W. Sorenson of Los Angeles.

"There is no truth in any of the charges made against Mr. Bradford or the company, and the action was brought merely for the purpose of embarrassing him and his company in the hope of forcing a refinancing scheme whereby the Oscher company would reap a nice profit and possibly secure control of the company," Mr. Edwards declared.

"Several years ago the Oscher company, a New York concern, whose business it is to foster refinancing propositions on prosperous bakeries throughout the country, induced Mr. Bradford to go into their proposition. He caught himself just in time and withdrew from them.

"Out of the settlement of the affairs, the eastern concern obtained a few shares of stock, Mr. Bradford retaining and still owning 90 per cent of the capital stock of the company. About a year ago they came out here again and tried to get Mr. Bradford to enter into another refinancing scheme, but he turned them down, refusing to have any further dealings with them. Some six months ago they demanded an audit of the books of the company, which we permitted to be made by their own auditors. When the audit was completed everything was found to be in good shape, and we never heard anything from them until this suit was filed."

Mr. Edwards added that the increase in salary granted to Mr. Bradford was done in the regular manner by the board of directors, representing 90 per cent of the company's stock.

AS ALL THE WORLD SO TRIP LIKE THE MOTHER FINDS HER SAILOR

Almost Hopeless Search for Lad, Torn From Home by Call of War, is Rewarded When Brother Shouts His Name in Midnight Mission Here

This is a story of rags and riches, of an almost hopeless search for a sailor lad who disappeared several years ago and of a despondent mother whose breaking heart was healed when a telegram from Los Angeles reached New York announcing "I've found Bud and we're coming home."

"God bless this food to the strength of our bodies and minds; create new hearts within us; remember our loved ones, wherever they are and grant that the homeless ones here may be restored to those who love them."

"Brother" Tom Liddecoat had finished his brief prayer, last Wednesday at midnight at the Midnight Mission, 136 South Los Angeles street, and 400 hungry, ragged men had seated themselves in the dining-room to enjoy the feast prepared for them.

The door opened and a young man, handsomely dressed, neatly shaved with manicured nails and carefully brushed hair, and wearing a diamond pin in his tie, walked to the platform and accosted "Brother" Tom.

"Pardon my interruption," said the youth, "but this is just one more chance out of 1,000,000. At the beginning of the war my brother and I entered the service of Uncle Sam. We both went to France. He was a sailor, I am a soldier. My brother never returned and we have had no trace of him. My mother in New York is dying from grief. I have searched for him all over the country. Will you please call the name of Bud Bennett?"

"Is there a man here by the name of Bud Bennett?" shouted Mr. Liddecoat.

From the far end of the long table a ragged, unkempt young man jumped from his seat and rushed toward the platform. His brother opened his arms to receive him and the two embraced, speaking no word for more than a minute, during which time the hubbub ceased and the residents of "Hell's Half-Acre" gaped with wonder.

"Home, brother, home!" sobbed the man wearing the diamond pin. "But first, the telegraph office!"

"Home!" echoed the man in rags as he fairly dragged his brother from the room, "passing up" what was probably the finest feed to which he had been invited for many days. "Brother" Tom stood with his head bowed, in silence.

Mr. Liddecoat said that the Midnight Mission is now feeding 700 men every day and giving shelter and bedding to 400 men every night. Yesterday he paid a visit to the Chief of Police and told the latter to please inform him if he or his officers discovered a hungry man in Los Angeles.

"Send him to us and we'll feed him," said Mr. Liddecoat. "Also, if you know of any needy family in Los Angeles, let us know. Everybody is helping us because our object is to help every one in need. Why, during the San Gabriel fire, the mission received and distributed 2300 garments among the men who left the mission to help fight the conflagration. Yesterday we were happy in receiving from the Home Electric Supply Company a $150 washing machine. Hell's Half Acre is going to have a clean shirt."

Next Sunday evening Mr. Liddecoat will speak at the First Methodist Church of Burbank on "Salvaging Souls in Hell's Half Acre."

BE IT EVER SO HUMBLE

Ancient Miners Call for Soft Music as They Agree to Quit Poor Claim in Path of Dam Project; They Wail "We've Misspent Most of Our Lives Here"

The two ancient miners didn't want to sell their gold mine, but when they found out it was going to be under some fifty feet of water they decided they had better move out.

Their claim is in the San Gabriel Canyon, where the $2,000,000 dam of the flood-control district soon will back up a good-sized lake. In clearing up legal matters preliminary to construction of the dam, Deputy County Counsel Dowds ran across the record of their rights. Both men are past 76 years of age and they have been scratching out infinitesimal bits of gold by placer mining.

They were adamant when Dowds first approached them with a suggestion that they move off, pointing out that as a gold mine it was of no value that could be established.

"Not much gold there, but it's the sentiment of the thing," they protested. "We're attached to the place. Why, dog-gone it, we've misspent a big part of our lives right here on these diggin's."

But after Dowds explained that the welfare and prosperity of several thousand persons was dependent upon the reservoir, and that it would be constructed, anyway, the old men agreed with him that they ought not make any resistance.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY, Oct. 23.—Crawford Fairbanks Failey, instructor in research and chemistry at the University of California, and one of the heirs to the estate of his grandfather, the late Crawford Fairbanks of Terre Haute, Ind., whose will was probated in the eastern city recently, will receive approximately $12,000,000 as his share, it was learned here today.

Under the terms of the Fairbanks will, Mr. Failey received one-half of the estate, the value of which was not revealed at the time of the probate. Mrs. Crawford Failey, also an instructor at the University of California, was notified today that the estate would amount to approximately $25,000,000. Mr. Failey is in the East and will return to Berkeley within three weeks.

"COZY" DOLAN SAYS HE IS PERFECTLY INNOCENT

Giants' Coach Asserts He Never Did Anything Wrong in Baseball; Has Nothing to Fear

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—For the first time since his sudden expulsion from organized baseball for alleged complicity in the plot to offer a bribe of $500 to Shortstop Heinie Sand of the Philadelphia Nationals if the latter agreed not to "bear down" in a game with the New York Giants at the Polo Grounds during the closing days of the hectic penning race, "Cozy" Dolan broke his sphynx-like silence today.

Appearing in person before an inquisitorial body of newspaper men at the office of his counsel, William J. Fallon, the former coach of the Giants told a straightforward story of his three meetings with High Commissioner Landis and stoutly maintained his innocence of all charges preferred against him. He denied emphatically that he had ever accosted Outfielder Jimmy O'Connell, who was also debarred with him, with any proposal to bribe Sand or that he had ever even heard of such a plot, such as O'Connell confessed was concocted in the Giants' clubhouse.

NOTHING TO FEAR

"I told the commissioner just what I am telling you gentlemen here today," said Dolan with a dramatic quiver in his voice. "I never did anything wrong in baseball—that I have nothing to fear from the outcome of a fair trial in a court of law—that I am innocent."

At the behest of his counsel, Dolan recited in detail as best he could remember just what happened during his three meetings with Landis. When he was called first there were present in the room in addition to himself and the commissioner, John Heydler, president of the National League and a man whom he figured to be a public stenographer.

He admitted having replied: "I don't remember" to most of the commissioner's questions but stated it was his way of entering a denial.

"At the second meeting," Dolan continued, "Charley Stoneham, owner of the Giants, and Manager John McGraw were sitting in the commissioner's office at the Waldorf when I arrived.

STILL IN DARK

"Dolan, if you know anything about this thing, I want you to tell it right here and now,' fumed McGraw.

"'John,' I said, 'I know no more about it now than I did the first day I was called.'"

"Cozy" then related how Commissioner Landis escorted him into another room. As he was sitting there waiting for something to happen, Landis stepped to his side, and, shaking a threatening finger in his face, shouted at the top of his voice:

"Dolan, you're guilty and you know it."

Dolan again refused to admit his guilt and, when Landis repeated the questions he had asked him at the first hearing, he replied "no," instead of the evasive "I don't remember."

"My answers seemed to satisfy the commissioner this time," said Dolan, "and when we walked back to the room where Stoneham and McGraw were, Landis, who, by this time, had come down to earth, put his hand on my shoulder and in a very friendly tone of voice, told me that that was all."

ON GOOD TERMS

Replying to a barrage of questions fired at him from all angles, Dolan stated that he was on friendly terms with O'Connell and that he had no reason to believe that Jimmy would "frame" him just to satisfy a personal grudge. He also said that he was on good terms with Landis and could assign no reason why the commissioner should go out of his way to "get" him.

Papers in the damage suit against Landis would be filed within the next few days. Mr. Fallon stated that all players, that is to say, O'Connell, George Kelly, Ross Young and Frankie Frisch, whose names were mentioned in connection with the plot, would be summoned as witnesses.

CLOSE MATCHES AT BRENTWOOD

Favorites Win Out in Hard First Round Battles

Harlow Hurley Disposes of Arnold Statz, 1 Up

Meets Harold Thompson Today in Feature Event

BY CHARLES WEST

The usually unexciting first rounds of play in the Brentwood invitation tournament were given a real kick yesterday when Harlow Hurley and Arnold Statz staged a battle which was fought over every grassy inch of the Brentwood course with Hurley gaining the verdict on the home green, 1 up. Had Statz been able to match putting with Hurley the match would probably be still going, so closely were the players matched, but a few months away from the golf links robbed Statz of his putting touch, and with splendid work on the greens the Annandale player, Hurley, emerged the victor.

The other popular favorite, Frank Gadchaux, also survived the first round of play, defeating Welker Cochran of billiard fame, 4 and 2, while Stanley Hughes of Hollywood disposed of his fellow club member, George Cornes in a nip-and-tuck match, 1 up. Hughes and Godchaux meet today in the second round. Harold Thompson of the Pasadena Golf Club scored the most emphatic victory of the day, vanquishing C. P. Binder, 7 and 5, and faces Hurley in what appears to be the best match on today's program.

CLOSE MATCH

Among other favorites to triumph was J. M. Arneill, who trimmed Lou Thomas of Flintridge after a battle, 1 up. Thomas continued the excellent shooting he displayed in the qualifying round, but Arneill was a little too keen for him. Ed Merritt of Rancho and C. E. Smoot had another interesting session, with the former winning out, 1 up. Dr. L. S. Rankin trimmed C. L. Soldini of Rancho, 3 and 2.

Statz, perfectly at home either on a golf course or a baseball diamond, finished the first nine holes, 1 down, and had opportunities on the next two holes for wins, only to miss short putts. On the next hole Hurley sank a long one to rob Statz of a hole, and so it went. Hurley finished with a medal score of 75, while Statz scored 77.

TOO BAD

There were a discouraging number of defaults in the nine flights. Every player who fails to state his intention not to play through robs some body else of a place in a flight, and gives somebody else a trip to Santa Monica for no game.

Second-round matches will be played today, with semifinals and finals tomorrow. Yesterday's results and starting times for today follow:

FIRST FLIGHT

Starting time today 1 p.m.
J. A. Knudsen defeated L. M. Thomas, 1 up.
J. M. Arneill defeated W. B. Dickinson, 2 and 1.
Frank Godchaux defeated Welker Cochran, 4 and 2.
Stanley Hughes defeated George Cornes, 1 up.
L. S. Rankin defeated C. L. Soldini, 3 and 2.

SECOND FLIGHT

Starting time today 12 M.
E. R. Canterbury defeated Tom McCall, 4 and 3.
R. Estes defeated A. A. Sugg, 4 and 3.
H. J. Borde defeated N. Allen, 4 and 3.
C. Norman defeated C. E. Johnston, 1 up.
Frank Deloss defeated W. K. Carrigan, 2 and 1.
A. M. Bonet defeated George Morgan, 3 and 1.
F. L. Dickinson defeated Ben Foley, default.

THIRD FLIGHT

Starting time today 11:30 a.m.
J. M. Stahman defeated E. A. Burton, default.
A. M. Fraly defeated H. P. Mills, 3 and 2.
R. J. Breed defeated A. G. Causey, default.

FEW BIG BOUTS PLANNED

Quiet Boxing Season for Winter Months in Most Divisions; Featherweights Perking Up

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Prospects for championship boxing bouts, outside the light-heavyweight and featherweight division, are uncertain this winter.

The State Athletic Commission's proposal for a featherweight elimination tournament to determine a successor to Johnny Dundee, who relinquished the crown when he outgrew the division, has revived interest among the 126-pounders and before the indoor season wanes it seems probable the featherweight crown will rest upon the head of a new champion.

Negotiations are pending whereby Mike McTigue, present incumbent of the world's light heavyweight throne, will toss his crown upon the market against either Paul Berlenbach or Gene Tunney, the American champion, but nothing definite has yet been arranged.

The collapse of the lightweight elimination tournament, fostered by the State Athletic Commission to determine a logical challenger for the 135-pound crown now worn upon the brow of Benny Leonard, means that Leonard will remain inactive for the present at least, unless there is a renewed effort to rematch him with Micky

ENGINEERS AND POETS IN ROW

Rumor Has it That Caltech Will Break Off

Athletic Board Said to Have Sanctioned Plan

Move Awaits Signature of College Prexy

President Robert Millikan of California Institute of Technology last night signed the document breaking off athletic relations between his school and Whittier College. The trouble arose over the alleged rough playing of the Whittier men in a recent game with Caltech. The action taken by Caltech does not involve the Southern California Conference, but means that the Engineers will in the future forfeit all contests with the Quakers.

Rumors and rumblings that the California Institute of Technology had severed athletic relations with Whittier College flew thick and fast last night. It was unofficially reported that the Caltech athletic council had voted to discontinue all connections with the Quakers, this action having taken place at a meeting held Wednesday night.

From a Caltech standpoint, the whole trouble centers around the alleged unsportsmanlike playing of the Whittier athletes in the game at Tournament Park two weeks ago when the Poets won a hard-fought 7-to-6 victory. Those who played for the Engineers in the game are said to have been bitter in their denunciation of the so-called "dirty" playing of the Whittier men, and themselves demanded that some action be taken. It is said that the entire student body stands back of the athletic council in its action.

There has been no official statement by the board itself. It is understood that the notice to Whittier, which may or may not have been sent to the Quaker town, called for the immediate cessation of all athletic relations, the Engineers refusing to meet Whittier in any sport. The document, it is said, was to be given to President Robert A. Millikan yesterday, and it was up to him to quash the entire thing or put the last stamp of approval on the action. Up to a late hour last night it had not been learned whether Dr. Millikan signed the letter to the Whittier officials.

WOLVES ARRIVE TONIGHT

Charley Erb and Nevada Football Players Due This Evening for Game With Trojans

With nine of the men seasoned by considerable experience on the Coach Charley Erb's University of Nevada football squad will arrive this evening. The Wolves, twenty-five of 'em, are coming to the U.S.C. athletes at the Coliseum tomorrow afternoon.

The starting line-up announced includes five men who appeared against the Trojans last year in Capt. Harrison, who has played from end to quarter-back; Fullback; Balsam, Quarterback and Carlson, halfback. The latter is playing his first year and is the heaviest man on the team, tipping the scales at 195 pounds. In addition to Harrison has (two other Clarke and Lohein—a great part of the time in the contest. Gutterson, the big quarterback of last year, will not start, but will be used to take his crack at the game when the time comes. Another outstanding star of the team. His play at end last season was spectacular. He does the punting for the Wolves and will be ably seconded in the backfield by Lowry, the hard-hitting fullback. Max Allen, former Manual Arts player, is holding down one halfback berth with Clarke in the other.

The new men are Farnsworth, center, who weighs 185, and Chaffer, guard, who packs around 188 pounds of beef. Lawson, right end, is also a newcomer.

Last year U.S.C. won easily by the score of 33 to 0. Gloomy Gus Henderson will probably try to keep the score down lower than that tomorrow and will no doubt be successful.

Interest in Walker Bout Wednesday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Jimmy Walker and Jack Kapp into the ring for a twelve-round bout at the First Regiment Armory in Newark on Monday night, it is expected that the big drill shed will be filled to capacity. The bout promises an unprecedented attendance and from advance sales it appears that 5,000 fans will be on hand to see the battle. Interest in this bout is unprecedented, for it is remembered that Walker is the most popular fighter ever put by the Newark boxing fans. Walker's following is said to number in the thousands and the bout is expected to draw many points of interest. It is expected that a large contingent of fans from Philadelphia will follow Walker's successful ring career in the welterweight division in a bout with Harry Greb recently.

BECKETT TALKING TO HIMSELF AGAIN

[LOS ANGELES DISPATCH]

Oct. 23.—Joe Beckett, who first gave notice about as to any heavyweight of the present day, has decided after all he to step into the ring—for a while, at least. It was announced that I had not "think of any Beckett. Beckett, however, es my terms nothing to do I another fight for me."

AND SAVAGE TO FIFTEEN ROUNDS

Kid Savage and Kid Savage go through Rex rounds to a finish Sunday afternoon at Athletic Club's auditorium. Charley Mack will meet in the main bout, and Harry Foley will be in the feature of the other bouts are

Notre Dame on Way to Tackle Princeton Team

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NOTRE DAME (Ind.) Oct. 23.—The Notre Dame football squad, thirty-three strong, entrained here shortly after noon today for Asbury Park, N. J., where it will hold a light practice session on the polo grounds of the Deal Country Club tomorrow afternoon preparatory to its game with Princeton in the Palmer Stadium Saturday.

The first string members of the squad are still suffering from severe bruises sustained at the hands of the Army eleven last week and from all indications Rockne will be forced to use a crippled club against the Tigers. Capt. Adam Walsh left here with both hands in splints and will not be in condition to take his regular place in the Notre Dame line. Harmon will replace the blond pivot and will be relieved by Maxwell and Arndt, the former a sophomore, who has been showing much promise here of late.

HOLE-IN-ONE EASY FOR BRITISH STARS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Thirty times in the memory of those who play at the Coombe Hill golf course has the seventeenth hole been made in one shot. This is believed to be a record for any course. Alex Herd, the famous professional, has holed this hole in one seventeen times.

The number 30 was placed on the records recently in a four-ball match when one of the players shot a one, the second a two, being on the lip of the cup, and the other two had threes. The hole is 150 yards.

MORRIS JESSUP TO CAPTAIN FRESHMEN

Morris Jessup, former Gardena football star, was last night elected captain of the local University of California freshmen football team. Jessup plays right half and is regarded as one of the best freshman players in the conference, being a triple-threat man.

HANFORD FIGHTS FOR MILK FUND TONIGHT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HANFORD, Oct. 23.—Tomorrow night in this town will be staged one of the best boxing cards presented here by the Park Athletic Club under the management of Manager Jimmie Gorman. The proceeds are for charity, to provide funds for a continued supply of milk, dispensed through the public schools, to under-nourished children. The Hanford Kiwanis Club sponsored the project, secured the boxing place and has sold enough tickets to guarantee the desired $400 for the milk fund the coming year. There will be six events on the card. Ringside seats were sold at $1.90 and bleachers at $1.65.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER
BILL HENRY

Mercy, how ambitious our pugilists have suddenly become. The fad of trying to be the best man in the world in two or three-weight divisions sort of had a lull after Bob Fitzsimmons quit knocking out everybody from the middleweights on up. Then in quick succession we have had Johnny Dundee holding the featherweight and junior lightweight titles and aspiring to the lightweight crown. Harry Greb trying to grab off the middleweight and light-heavyweight titles, Benny Leonard seeking Mickey Walker's welter laurels in addition to those of the lightweight division, and so on.

The latest, and probably the most surprising aspirant of all, is Mickey Walker, welter champ, who wants to box Mike McTigue for the world's light-heavyweight title. Mike, it seems, claims that he can make 160 pounds. This brought on two challenges in a hurry. Harry Greb offered to box him at 160 pounds, now the recognized middleweight limit, for both the light-heavyweight and the middleweight titles, the winner to hold them both.

Now Walker is offering to box McTigue at 160 pounds for the crown the Irishman is clinging to so carefully. Of course, the fact that McTigue is such a rotten fighter is what makes the competition so fierce in his division. If McTigue should accept Walker's defi, there would be a lot of people willing to back the welter champ to grab the Irishman's laurels, despite the great difference in weight between the two.

* * *

The customary number of reports regarding the New Year's Day football game at Pasadena are cluttering up the atmosphere and the most persistent—and probably the nearest the truth—is that Notre Dame has been signed up to play against a suitable opponent, yet to be selected. It is sincerely to be hoped that such is the case as everybody out here would like to see this well press-agented aggregation do its stuff.

From all accounts, Rockne has a team worth seeing. It is a team that attracts attention because it is so light. However, it isn't a light team

TO BATTLE IN TITLE TOURNEY

One to be Eliminated From Championship Series

Second Meeting Between Fast Bantamweights

McNeely is Guest of Honor at Hollywood Stadium

"It's going to be a great bout;" that is what one hears all over town about the bantamweight tournament bout at the Hollywood American Legion stadium tonight when Teddy Silva and Georgie Rivers trot their stuff in the main event.

It isn't the first meeting between these two lads, but the fact that there must be a decision, and that one or the other is going to be counted out of the tournament is going to make this scrap far more interesting than the last meeting of the two.

There isn't a boxing enthusiast who hasn't fond memories of the first time Silva and Rivers met at the Hollywood stadium in one of the greatest bouts ever seen in California. Both boys went to the floor and the bout had so many exciting moments that there wasn't an individual present who wasn't satisfied that he had had a wonderful evening of it.

Teddy Silva rules the favorite to win tonight's battle. He is the more polished performer of the two. Silva is a smart kid when it comes to knowing all angles of the boxing racket.

The best bouts that Silva has ever put up at Hollywood are the ones where he has been floored. Nationalista had him down and so did Georgie Rivers but he got right up on his feet and socked both Rivers and Nationalista and had them kissing the canvas.

Sport centers are all hopped up over this tournament bout, as the winner will probably have the big edge for the title. Rivers has had a good rest and is in the pink of condition for this one battle.

Supporting the main event is a card that should be one of the most pleasing that Hollywood boxing fans have enjoyed in weeks. It has boxers of all styles and classes listed who are noted rockers.

MEAN WALLOP

Mickey Rookson, is seen in the semi-wind-up with Bert Tribby. This guy Tribby isn't exactly clever, but he is a middleweight who bounces a wallop off of his opponents chin that usually spells doom.

Just before the main event Earl McNeely, the Washington ball player who made the two-base clout that won the big series for the American League champs, is to be introduced. He will be the guest of honor at the stadium. McNeely was one of the big heroes of the series and will be a curiosity to many baseball fans who would like to see what the Sacramento lad looks like off of the ball field.

Johnny Mendes, a slugging welterweight from San Diego, and Buddy Soules tangle in the special event. Never has there been a time when Bud Soules has failed to give a few thrills when on a card at the Hollywood stadium.

The preliminaries are fast and carry boxers with heavy guns. Joe Kelly vs Benny Irwin, 145 pounds. Billy Young vs Sailor Fernandez, 130 pounds. Young Danny vs Billy Blake, 126 pounds. Eddie West vs Cecil Roller, 138 pounds.

U. C. CASABA COACH QUITS HIS POSITION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BERKELEY (Cal.) Oct. 23.—Earl Wight, basketball coach at the University of California, has resigned to become director of physical education at the State Teachers' College in Fresno.

Wight has been a coach at the University for four years, the last two of which he has turned out basketball teams that won the Coast conference title. His successor has not been named.

RED GRANGE RUNNING WILD

This picture, taken Saturday when the Illinois sensation almost single-handedly defeated Michigan, shows Grange on his fourth sparkling run with the ball, in full stride, having just shaken off a Wolverine tackler, and preparing to get by another Michigan warrior. Grange scored four touchdowns in twelve minutes in this game, his shortest run being 45 yards. Later he ran another 12 yards for the fifth score of the battle. [P. & A. Photo]

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Franklin, 20; Lincoln, 2.
Manual Arts, 6; Jefferson, 6.
L. A. High, Poly, Hollywood, bye.

Coach Jim Pursell's Jefferson lightweights have gotten by two league games without a defeat, but they just escaped taking a licking at the hands of the Manual Arts Toilers by the scant margin of one and one-half yards in yesterday's tilt at Wilson Field. The game ended in a 6-to-6 tie, but with the Manual Arts boys in possession of the ball on the Jeff 1 1-2-yard mark when time ended the conflict.

The Democrat Midgets, greatly outweighed by the Purple and Gray clad opponents, made a game uphill fight to overcome the six-point lead hung by the Artisan welterweights in the second quarter.

Manual had all the advantage in the first half, with Rose boxing Bucklin in a punting duel. The Toilers recovered a fumbled punt on the Jeff 25-yard line in the second quarter and then two passes, Rose to De Miceli, took the ball to the 8-yard line. Another pass, Rose to Smull, worked for a touchdown. Rose's attempt to kick goal was blocked.

The Democrats got a break in the final period when Rose punted out of bounds on the Manual 50-yard line. Four bucks made it first down and then the Toilers held for three plunges. With six yards for a first down, Cireno passed to Dade, scrappy colored half-back, who skirted around for a touchdown. Cireno failed to kick goal.

The Toilers gained possession of the ball on Jeff's 25-yard line when the Democrat backfield ran off without getting the ball. A series of plunges took the ball to within a yard and a half of the goal, but then time intervened in favor of the Green and Gold outfit.

It was the Manual team's initial appearance of the year and the Toilers look as if they will make it tough for all their remaining opponents. Line-ups:

Manual Arts (6)		Jefferson (6)
Raimondo	L.E.R.	Burdick
Mason	L.T.R.	Donahue
Schmidt	L.G.R.	Bergelin

Northern Net Star to Play in Tournament

Miss Marjorie Thorne, one of San Francisco's best woman tennis players is to participate in the Los Angeles county tennis championships which will be decided tomorrow and Sunday on the courts of the Los Angeles Tennis Club. Miss Thorne won the Pacific Northwest title in women's doubles this summer, paired with Miss Winifred Suhr and scored a victory over Mrs. W. M. Henry, the present county title holder, in the Washington State singles.

The Bay City star will probably face Mrs. Henry in the finals of the local tournament tomorrow. She is to be paired with Mrs. Henry in the women's doubles and with Ralph Sindord in the mixed doubles. There is a great deal of interest in the other events of the county tournament, particularly in the performance of Harvey Snodgrass, who is making his first appearance since his successful eastern trip.

Snodgrass and Westbrook are strong favorites to capture the doubles title and likewise to face each other for the singles although some dark horse may step in and upset one or the other of them.

FIGHT OFFICIAL JAILED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—James Griffin, prominent throughout the country as a prize-fight referee, was sentenced in the United States District Court today to three months in the County Jail after pleading guilty to a charge of violating the Volstead Act. It was the third time that Griffin had been arrested for such violation.

FLEET SPORTING NEWS

A sixty-six-game basketball schedule has been arranged for teams representing the twelve battleships of the United States Battle Fleet in this year's race for the fleet title, it was announced yesterday by Commander E. D. Washburn, fleet athletic officer. The first game will be at the fleet gymnasium on November 14, when the U.S.S. Nevada meets the U.S.S. Arizona five, the schedule running through until January, when the battleship champions play a San Diego base team for the all-fleet championship.

San Francisco will get its first taste of Navy football this season tomorrow afternoon, when the elevens from the U.S.S. New Mexico and U.S.S. Mississippi play on Ewing Field in the third round for the Battle Fleet gridiron championship. The New Mexico leaves for San Francisco this morning, together with the Maryland, Tennessee and Colorado, to participate in the Navy Day exercises. The Mississippi squad will make the trip to the Bay City aboard the Maryland.

On Sunday afternoon the teams from the U.S.S. Nevada and U.S.S. Arizona will meet on Trona Field, at the harbor, in their first clash of the season, it also being the Nevada's first championship game.

Commander Washburn announced yesterday that the game between the U.S.S. California and U.S.S. Idaho, originally scheduled for November 1, and which will decide the football championship of Battleship Division Four, will be played at Trona Field on the afternoon of the 31st inst. The California, fleet flagship, is scheduled to go to San Diego at midnight of the 31st inst. for a ten-day visit and the change has been made that the crew of the ship may see their eleven perform. Neither the California nor the Idaho squad has met defeat in fleet competition this year.

The engine-room crews of the various dreadnaughts in port are brushing up already for the annual engineers' whaleboat race, which will be pulled in the outer harbor here on November 1. The mile-and-a-half event will have entries from all twelve ships and the U.S.S. Mississippi, now undergoing overhaul at the Puget Sound Navy Yard, is sending her champion whaleboat and black-gang crew down on a destroyer.

Commander Washburn, fleet athletic officer, and Lieutenant-Commander Donald W. Hamilton, athletic officer of the battleship divisions, are working out the schedule for the annual series of fleet smokers at which the fleet boxing and wrestling championships are decided. The opening affair will probably be aboard the U.S.S. California within a month, while a number of smokers this season will be held in the new fleet gymnasium at Trona Field, instead of on the quarterdecks of the various ships.

The U.S.S. Tennessee-U.S.S. Maryland game has also been shoved up, Commander Washburn announced, and will probably be played on Ewing Field, San Francisco, on the 26th inst.

The spotlight of mat and ring attention this season seems to be on Tarzan Knight, All-Navy wrestling champion, who is now stationed aboard the U.S.S. Colorado. Last year, while serving aboard the U.S.S. Utah, Knight won his title from the Battle Fleet holder and this season he is expected to defend it against the onslaught of Bullet Heitzman, attached to the Aircraft Squadrons at San Diego.

FRANKLIN RUINS LINCOLN

Kiteflyer Lightweights Run All Over Railsplitters for 40-to-6 Victory

In their second City League contest yesterday afternoon on the Kiteflyers' gridiron, Franklin High's lightweights swamped Lincoln's 130-pounders in a one-sided affair, 40 to 6. Through the four periods of play the Kite Flyers completey outclassed the Railsplitters in every branch of the game, making large gains almost at will.

By making use of the old deadman passing stunt twice in succession, Franklin worked its way from the center of the field to Lincoln's 10-yard line, where Wilson bucked it over for the first touchdown of the game. Miller converted.

In the second quarter, Franklin opened up with an aerial attack that swept the visitors off their feet. Wilson bucked the pigskin over for two more touchdowns. But in the last minute to play of this period Cox of Lincoln shot a 30-yard pass to Kendo, who picked his way for 20 yards to Franklin's goal line, for the Railsplitters' only score.

Franklin chalked three more touchdowns in the final half.

The last period of play lost all semblance of straight football, as both teams persisted in throwing the ball away as soon as they could lay hands on it.

for the same reason that our small colleges in this vicinity are light. Notre Dame is light because the eleven best men out of the approximately 1800 men at Notre Dame, happen to be lighter than the average. If Rockne chose to do so he could pick out a team as big as the Trojans.

Accounts of the game last Saturday in which Harold Grange of Illinois ran wild over the supposedly invincible Michigan team are extremely illuminating. Apparently the Wheaton wonder is the fastest thing on wheels and Zuppke has built up a simply marvelous offensive around him. In reading the detail of play you are struck by the fact that Illinois without Grange was absolutely helpless and with anybody else carrying the ball was equally helpless, but when Grange—had it—wow.

In every case Grange ran around the Michigan end for his score, the Michigan line always holding the Illini forwards powerless. The Illinois halfback started all his plays from punt formation and was given marvelous interference. He swooped around the end and then reversed his field and shook off tackle after tackler. When Michigan spread her secondary defense to keep him from circling the ends, he threw bullet-like forward passes right over the center of the line. He must be a real wonder.

The prospect of a clash between Jimmy Delaney, the St. Paul light-heavyweight, and Tony Fuente, the red-hot heavyweight from Mexico, seems pretty fair with Mr. Delaney knocking the boys over up around San Francisco and no particular reason why he shouldn't continue to do so down here. It would be pretty tough on Fuente to ask him to battle a scrapper of Delaney's caliber at this stage of the game, but it would be worth seeing.

NEVADA GRIDDERS TO SEE 'THIEF OF BAGDAD'

The University of Nevada football team will be entertained at a theater party following the game with U.S.C. tomorrow at Grauman's Egyptian Theater, where they will witness the presentation of Douglas Fairbanks's "The Thief of Bagdad" and Sid Grauman's prologue, "The City of Dreams." Arrangements for this party was made by David D. Abel, president of the Alumni. Members of the Alumni will also be present.

HOLLYWOOD WINS OVER ROOSEVELT

Movie City Eleven Has Easy Time Walking on Green Teddies

Hollywood High overwhelmed the Roosevelt gridders by the one-sided score of 33 to 0 in a practice football tilt at Hollywood yesterday. Roosevelt was green and inexperienced and fumbled frequently.

Hollywood ran up a total of 20 digits in the first quarter. It did not take Moar, Hollywood quarter, long to find the weak spots in the Roosevelt line and hit them for long gains. Moar was able to discover a big hole through left tackle which seemed to be Roosevelt's weakest spot.

During the rest of the game the Rough Riders apparently found themselves and were able to withstand the terrific onslaughts of the Foothiller backs. Black, Hollywood fullback, furnished the fans with a thrill when he intercepted a pass and ran over seventy yards for a touchdown. The line-ups:

McNEELY HERE FOR CONTESTS

Famous Washington Star to Play in Three Games Beginning Tomorrow

Earl McNeely, star of the world series who made himself a hero by slamming out the $50,000 hit that scored Ruel in the deciding game and won the championship for Washington, arrived in the city last night for his three appearances in games here.

The star outfielder of the Senators will play tomorrow afternoon with the Glendale White Sox, occupying center field in a game against the St. Louis Colored Giants at Goodyear Park, Sixty-fourth and Central avenues.

On Sunday McNeely will cavort with the Glendale all-star professional club against the Hollywood Merchants at the Glendale White Sox Park on San Fernando Road. He will appear with Babe Ruth in the benefit contest at Washington Park on Monday.

More than 10,000 fans are expected to jam Goodyear Park for the game between the powerful St. Louis Colored Giants and the all-star Glendale professional line-up on which several big-timers will cavort.

Sunday will be declared McNeely Day in Glendale when the town will be turned over to the world-series hero. Fans from all parts of San Fernando Valley will be on hand while a host of Hollywood rooters will meet at Cahuenga and Hollywood boulevards on Sunday at 12:30 to accompany the Hollywood team to the scene of the game. Several moving-picture stars will also attend.

Dick Bonelly is slated to hurl Saturday's game for the Glendale club with "Smokey" Ross on the hillock for the colored boys. Ken Penner, Vernon pitching star, will hurl Sunday's game for McNeely's club with Elmer Reiger, veteran spit-ball artist, on the hillock for Hollywood.

MANUAL MIDGETS TIE JEFFERSON ELEVEN

The Manual and Jefferson lightweight football teams battled to a 6-to-6 tie on the former's field yesterday afternoon. Smull scored the Toilers' touchdown in the second quarter on a forward pass and Dade made the Democrats' touchdown via the same route in the fourth session. Manual was within a few feet of scoring again as the game ended.

BASEBALL THRILLS BRITISH

Liverpool Yodels Its Delight When White Sox Beat Giants; Spectators Like Jazz Stuff

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune.]

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 23.—Plenty of hits were made at Everton Field, Liverpool, this afternoon when the Chicago White Sox won their first exhibition game on their second foreign-game series from the New York Giants by 16 to 12. But the biggest hit of all was the hit which the grand old Yankee game made with the crowd of more than 10,000 English sport fans—young and old.

The Chicago Americans went to bat first against Manager John Mcgraw's battery, Nahf and Gowdy. Jonnard and then Bentley replaced Nehf in the box for the Giants after the fifth inning. The rest of the Giants in the line-up were McInnis; First base; Frisch, second; Groh, third; Jackson, shortstop; Young, center field; Stengel, right; Meusel, left.

The smallness of the ground added to the excitement of the crowd since almost every hit lined out by the sluggers popped like a shot into the unprotected stands. Fortunately there were no casualties, although there were many cries of "I say, naouw, this is getting a bit thick."

Before he left the field, Hughey Jennings taught one whole section of British youth to "attaboy" until Everton Field began to sound like the Polo Grounds. Hughey's continual line of comedy chatter made him a quick favorite. It was demonstrated that sporting crowds are much alike the world over and the Liverpool fans took Hughey off his feet once or twice with their snappy comebacks.

BIG DAY IN NORTHWEST

Stanford-Idaho and Washington-O.A.C. Games Hold Football Fandom Fascinated

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTLAND (Or.) Oct. 23.—Staged on a neutral field the battle between Stanford and Idaho in Portland next Saturday promises to be one of the greatest gridiron struggles of the Coast Conference season. Stanford, heralded as the likely winner of this year's championship, appears from reports reaching here to be less dangerous than had been expected. Idaho on the other hand is rated higher than she was before she trimmed Washington State.

Stanford doubtless was greatly weakened by the injury of Nevers but Idaho also has suffered some bad luck from injuries. Larry Quinn, star tackle, and Frank Kinnison, halfback, both regulars, were put out of the game, probably for the season, in the Montana contest. Quinn's shoulder was broken and Kinnison's foot crushed. Kinnison's loss was not serious as Mathews is well provided with back-field men, but the injury of Quinn, who was considered one of the best tackles on the Coast is a real blow.

It is believed that the game will be open and spectacular. Idaho is sure to bank strong on passes which were her chief dependence against the Cougars, while Stanford will probably outpunt the Gem Staters and will rely to some extent on kicking.

Washington State has less confidence for its game against California at Berkeley on Saturday. Exendine's men had been going well until they ran up against Idaho but that defeat was discouraging. It is likely Exendine will be satisfied if he can hold the score within reasonable limits. The Cougars have always played their best against the Bears and have given them several scares within the last few years, and their showing in the coming game may prove a surprise.

The Oregon Aggies, after their trouncing by Southern California, will have a chance to redeem themselves in their game with the University of Washington at Seattle. That chance, however, cannot be regarded as a very bright one. Their inexperience will count against them there as it did with the Trojans. Bagshaw has a team of veterans and the Aggies will have to keep their heads better than they did last Saturday if they are going to win.

As a matter of fact it looks like Washington will not be stopped this season unless it is by California on November 8. Every report that comes out of Seattle adds to the reputation that the Huskies are gaining as a wonder team. The general opinion here is that they will make quick work of the Aggies and that Oregon, two weeks later, will have no chance to stop them, even though Oregon showed vast improvement in the Stanford game.

The Washington team is in the best of condition. There have been a few costly injuries, particularly one that put out Wes Sherman, varsity quarterback. Guttormsen, Sherman's understudy, who has succeeded him, has been playing a whale of a game. In fact Bagshaw has so much reserve strength that injuries are not likely to bother him unless they would put out one of his three outstanding stars, Kuhn, tackle; Tesreau, fullback, and Wilson, tackle and halfback, whom Andy Smith called the hardest hitting halfback on the Coast.

While the three major games are in progress Oregon should have an easy time in its game with Whitman at Eugene. This game should prove a good work out for her contest the week following with Washington.

STANFORD GRIDDER LOSES HIS LIBERTY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PALO ALTO, Oct. 23.—Fred Swan, guard on Stanford University's varsity football team, created a mild riot on the campus today when he announced that he had been married since January. Swan stated that he had been wedded to Miss Sybil Bickerstaff of Hillsboro, Tex., in San Francisco nearly a year ago. The wedding was secret and was not suspected by friends of either the bride or bridegroom. Swan will finish his course at Stanford.

MARY PICKFORD NOT AT BASEBALL GAME

Mary Pickford, screen star, will not be at tomorrow's game between Joe Rirrone's All-Stars and the Eastern Colored Stars. Miss Pickford's name was used without her consent, according to Mark Larkin, her demon press agent.

AFTER WEISSMULLER

Although Jackie Burrud, shown below, has only been swimming four months, the high-powered instruction he has received from Clyde Swendsen of the Hollywood Athletic Club has given him a good start toward the world's championship. He swims the 880 in excellent time in spite of the fact that he is only 6 years old. Jackie is also an accomplished diver.

"ONE-DOLLAR"-GANG, REAL BULWARK OF BOXING GAME

BY BUD JONES

When Jack Doyle dubbed the gallery fan "the backbone of the boxing game" and refused to make of the gallery at his Vernon fist forum a reserved section, he unloaded a mouthful and demonstrated that he doesn't stop functioning at the ears.

Other men than Doyle have expressed like sentimenta, so the Vernon maestro cannot claim distinction by reason of the utterance, but the sentiment coming from Doyle at a time when he could undoubtedly get away with the reserved section suggestion, is sweet in the ears of the $1 gang.

And it's the lowdown on the situation—don't overlook that fact.

FIGHT FOR SEAT

A man who will stand in line for three hours to get his ticket; who will fight for his seat after he has finally procured the ducat; who will sit for two hours more on a hard board seat in an atmosphere heavy with smoke, and who will leave the arena well pleased with his bargain is a fan. He's the citizen who talks and thinks fight on and off the job, and he's the citizen who makes it possible for Doyle and his brother promoters to "hang 'em on the chandeliers" at their pugnch palaces.

The gallery line for the Tuesday night fights at Vernon began forming shortly before 3 o'clock in the afternoon. At 6:30, when the ticket sale was opened, there was a line blocks long. Forty minutes after the first ducat slipped across the counter and the first member of the $1 gang dashed up the incline, the doors were closed—the place was packed.

DOPE 'EM OUT

The gallery gang has been holding down its hard board seats for more than an hour before the first of the plutocrats—those fortunate citizens who can afford to reserve their seats on the main floor—saunter leisurely in. Neither this hour nor the hour that follows is lost, however; the gang has been buried in its sporting sections, absorbing dope and making dope of its own. There is a favorite in every bout on the card, and there is a reason behind the favoritism. The $1 gang knows its stuff.

"It would seem that men in the more or less sanguinary atmosphere of a fight arena, after having contended so earnestly for their places of vantage would resent intrusion of any kind. Not so. Any attempt to oust a holder from his seat would undoubtedly be met with a fistic salvo, but at the same time the gang goodnaturedly squeezes up to permit another member of the brotherhood to find parking-space. The vendors of peanuts and pop pass constantly to and fro in front of the gang, trodding upon its toes and obstructing the view, but there is little of even protest.

THROWS IT AWAY

When the boys who meet in the curtain-raiser climb through the ropes, the gang throws away its dope sheets, hunches forward on its seats and becomes totally oblivious to anything but the conflict before it.

The gang loves a game boy and hates a "dancer." The boxer who pleasure. There is not a blase member of the brotherhood, disgusted at a tame exhibition going on before him.

"What do you want—murder and suicide in there?" demands another voice angrily a dozen rows away.

OH, YOU BLONDIE!

"Three to two on the blond boy. Who wants to speculate?"

"Speculate is the word. Steve Brodie, ain't in the house."

"Can he take 'em, I ask you?"

"Cee-ment's breakfast food for that baby."

There is some female "backbone" present, attested by the shrill encouragement to one "Sammy."

If the "one-dollar" gang works harder for its punch pleasure, it is compensated in that it gets more member of the gang. There is as much "kick" in an old boy as in a new one. It knows its stuff, but the knowledge does not breed contempt—save only in the case of the "dancer."

DOYLE-FOR-PRESIDENT CLUB IS REPORTED TO BE ORGANIZING AT VERNON.

OXY WEAKENED BY LOSS OF THREE MEN

Occidental's freshman football team is considerably weakened by the loss of three star players in Benny Beckenstein, Edward Homer and Roscoe Daley. The first two named are both valuable backfield men and will be greatly missed by the team. Beckenstein has a great future ahead of him in the end position and it is hoped that later he may be able to finish his schooling. The serious illness of his mother is the cause of his leaving school.

Edward Homer was going like a million at halfback and is leaving because of financial straits. Daley, who was a dependable guard, is also leaving because of financial reasons.

WALT JOHNSON HERE TOMORROW

Famous Solon Star Pitches in Sunday Contest

Washington Park is Scene of Benefit Tussle

White Kings Have Classy Line-up for Battle

Walter Johnson, baseball's most famous pitcher, will arrive in Los Angeles over the Santa Fe tomorrow afternoon. The big Washington hurler, who twirled the Senators to a world's series championship over the Giants, is coming to this city to take part in a big benefit game, which is scheduled to take place Sunday afternoon at Washington Park.

Johnson was brought out here by Charles A. Meyer, vice-president of the Los Angeles Soap Company, and will hurl for the White Kings against Vernon. The proceeds of the big game, which is expected to draw a record throng to the local ball park, will go to the Home of the Good Shepherd.

Meyer announced that the White Kings will put an exceedingly strong outfit on the field, the outfield being recruited from three Coast League clubs. Wally Hood, Angel slugger, Dick Cox, Portland centerfielder, and Buzz Arlett, the Oakland home-run king, will cavort in the pastures for the Soapsters against the Tigers. On the infield, Meyer has signed Walter Golvin for first base, Wes Kingdon, International League star, for second, Jimmy McAuley for short, and Rod Murphy for third. Ray Falk will be used in the utility role. Chet Thomas and Joe Jenkins will do the backstopping for the White Kings, while Johnson, of course, will pitch the full nine innings. Doc Crandall, George Payne and Gordon Jones will be ready to step in should Johnson falter, which is hardly expected.

The Vernon club will present the same line-up it used all season. Wee Ludolph or Lefty Thomas will do the pitching for the Bengals.

Tickets are now on sale at Washington Park where reservations can also be made.

NIXON WILL USE SCRUBS IN CONTEST

Regulars to Sit on the Bench as Sagehens Face Redlands Eleven

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA COLLEGE, Claremont, Oct. 23.—Striving to regain the top form that left them after the California game, Coaches Nixon and Heath are running their men through a series of tough workouts for Saturday's game with the Redlands Bulldogs.

For some mysterious reason the Sagehens have been unable to come out from under a blanket of staleness. Yesterday afternoon the varsity scrimmaged with Coach Harriss's Sagechicks and bystanders made no bones about admitting that the team still looked tired and generally stale.

In scrimmage the Pomona mentor has kept his varsity line intact but he has used every backfield man he has. Today, line bucking and passes were the order of the day with Earl Merritt calling signals. Merritt at present looks as if he will be able to start the game against Redlands while Bell is still favoring his injured shoulder, and will probably not appear in the Saturday's starting line-up.

In the line Baynham and Robles have slight knee injuries while Leavitt, tackle, received a mean crack on his hip yesterday, which may prove serious. Line Coach Heath is hoping that his injury will be only temporary as Leavitt is regarded as one of the best varsity linemen out for the forward wall.

At least one thing is likely after viewing this week's practice and that is Coach Nixon plans to use every substitute he possibly can against Redlands. If some of the tried and true regulars fall down on the job fans expect to see Nixon jerk them without a moment's notice. In the meantime some twenty substitutes of varsity caliber are showing a world of speed and power in the hopes that a varsity letter may be theirs at the end of the season. Nearly fifteen members of last year's frosh class are vieing with each other, hoping they will be among the few second-year men to be awarded letters.

Georgie Marks Too Fast for Dixie La Hood

Georgie Marks made a big hit with the C. P. O. fans last night at the Los Angeles Harbor arena by defeating Dixie La Hood of Butte, Mont., in a sharp fast fight. In the semi-wind-up, Jimmy Hackley of Los Angeles Harbor got a draw with Sailor Reed of the U.S.S. Idaho in a real fight. In the special, Buster Brandon of Butte, Mont., won from Young Brown of Los Angeles in four rounds of slugging.

Pedro Villa of Los Angeles Harbor drew with Benny Marks of Los Angeles. Benny should have had the verdict. Sailor Sector of the U.S.S. Arizona won in four rounds from Sailor Sales of the U.S.S. Idaho. It was a slugging match for fair.

Herman Ritter of Los Angeles lost to Young Thomas of Los Angeles Harbor in four rounds. Thomas was down once for the count of nine in the first round. Kid Marion got a draw with Young Walker of Los Angeles. A capacity house witnessed a great night's sport.

WHITE FANG by Jack London

Synopsis: Returning out of the frozen North with their sled serving as a hearse, bearing the coffin of a rich victim of the snowy wastes, Henry and Bill, dog mushers, find themselves trailed by wolves, desperate with hunger. They particularly note is the wolf who proceeds to lure many of their dogs to the wolf pack to be killed. The she wolf approaches the camp. Henry and Bill comment upon her approach.

Its coat was the true wolf-coat. The dominant color was gray, and yet there was to it a faint reddish hue—a hue that was baffling, that appeared and disappeared, that was more like an illusion of the vision, now gray, distinctly gray, and again giving hints and glints of a vague redness of color not classifiable in terms of ordinary experience.

"Looks for all the world like a big husky sled-dog," Bill said. "I would not be s'prised to see it wag its tail.

"Hello, you husky!" he called. "Come here, you whatever your name is."

"Ain't a bit scairt of you," Henry laughed.

Bill waved his hand at it threateningly and shouted loudly; but the animal betrayed no fear. The only change in it that they could notice was an accession of alertness. It still regarded them with the merciless wistfulness of hunger. They were meat, and it was hungry, and it would like to go in and eat them if it dared.

"Look here, Henry," Bill said, unconsciously lowering his voice to a whisper because of what he meditated. "We've got three cartridges. But it's a dead shot. Could not miss it. It's got away with three of our dogs, an' we oughter put a stop to it. What d'ye say?"

Henry nodded his consent. Bill cautiously slipped the gun from under the sled-lashing. The gun was on the way to his shoulder, but it never got there. For in that instant the she-wolf leaped sidewise from the trail into the clump of spruce trees and disappeared.

The two men looked at each other. Henry whistled long and comprehendingly.

"I might have knowed it," Bill chided himself aloud, as he replaced the gun. "Of course a wolf that knows enough to come in with the dogs at feedin' time, 'd know all about shooting-irons. I tell you right now, Henry, that critter's the cause of all our trouble. We'd have six dogs at the present time, 'stead of three, if it was not for her. An' I tell you right now, Henry, I'm goin' to get her. She's too smart to be shot in the open. But I'm goin' to lay for her. I'll bushwhack her as sure as my name is Bill."

"You need not stray off too far in doin' it," his partner admonished. "If that pack ever starts to jump you, them three cartridges 'd be wuth no more'n three whoops in hell. Them animals is damn hungry, an' once they start in, they will sure get you, Bill."

They camped early that night. Three dogs could not drag the sled so fast nor for so long hours as could six, and they were showing unmistakable signs of playing out. And the men went early to bed, Bill first seeing to it that the dogs were tied out of gnawing reach of one another.

But the wolves were growing bolder, and the men were aroused more than once from their sleep. So near did the wolves approach, that the dogs became frantic with terror, and it was necessary to replenish the fire from time to time in order to keep the adventurous marauders at safer distance.

"I've hearn sailors talk of sharks followin' a ship," Bill remarked, as he crawled back into the blankets after one such replenishing of the fire. "Well, them wolves is land sharks. They know their business better'n we do, an' they ain't a-holdin' our trail this way for their health. They're goin' to get us, Henry. They're sure goin' to get us, Henry."

"They've half got you a'ready, a'talkin like that," Henry retorted sharply. "A man's half licked when he says he is. An' you're half eaten from the way you're goin' on about it."

"They've got away with better men than you an' me," Bill answered.

"Oh, shet up your croakin." You make me all-fired tired."

Henry rolled over angrily on his side, but was surprised that Bill made no similar display of temper. This was not Bill's way, for he was easily angered by sharp words. Henry thought long over it before he went to sleep, and as his eyelids fluttered down and he dozed off, the thought in his mind was: "There's no mistakin' it, Bill's almighty blue. I'll have to cheer him up tomorrow."

CHAPTER III

The Hunger Cry

The day began auspiciously. They had lost no dogs during the night, and they swung out upon the trail and into the silence, the darkness, and the cold with spirits that were fairly light. Bill seemed to have forgotten his forebodings of the previous night, and even waxed facetious with the dogs when, at midday, they overturned the sled on a bad piece of trail.

It was an awkward mix-up. The sled was upside down and jammed between a tree-trunk and a huge rock, and they were forced to unharness the dogs in order to straighten out the tangle. The two men were bent over the sled and trying to right it, when Henry observed One Ear sidling away.

"Here, you, One Ear!" he cried, straightening up and turning around on the dog.

But One Ear broke into a run across the snow, his traces trailing behind him. And there, out in the snow of their back-track, was the she-wolf waiting for him. As he neared her, he became suddenly cautious. He slowed down to an alert and mincing walk and then stopped. He regarded her carefully and dubiously, yet desirefully. She seemed to smile at him, showing her teeth in an ingratiating rather than a menacing way. She moved toward him a few steps, playfully, and then halted. One Ear drew near to her, still alert and cautious, his tail and ears in the air, his head held high.

He tried to sniff noses with her, but she retreated playfully and coyly. Every advance on his part was accompanied by a corresponding retreat on her part. Step by step she was luring him away from the security of his human companionship. Once, as though a warning had in vague ways flitted through his intelligence, he turned his head and looked back at the overturned sled, at his team-mates, and at the two men who were calling to him.

But whatever idea was forming in his mind was dissipated by the she-wolf, who advanced upon him, sniffed noses with him for a fleeting instant, and then resumed her coy retreat before his renewed advances.

In the meantime, Bill had bethought himself of the rifle. But it was jammed beneath the overturned sled, and by the time Henry had helped him to right the load, One Ear and the she-wolf were too close together and the distance too great to risk a shot.

Too late, One Ear learned his mistake. Before they saw the cause, the two men saw him turn and start to run back toward them. Then, approaching at right angles to the trail and cutting off his retreat, they saw a dozen wolves, lean and gray, bounding across the snow. On the instant, the she-wolf's coyness and playfulness disappeared. With a snarl she sprang upon One Ear. He thrust her off with his shoulder, and, his retreat cut off and still intent on regaining the sled, he altered his course in an attempt to circle around to it. More wolves were appearing every moment and joining in the chase. The she-wolf was one leap behind One Ear and holding her own.

Bill shook it off. "I won't stand it," he said. "They ain't a-goin' to get any more of our dogs if I can help it."

Gun in hand, he plunged into the underbrush that lined the side of the trail. His intention was apparent enough. Taking the sled as the center of the circle that One Ear was making, Bill planned to tap that circle at a point in advance of the pursuit. With his rifle, in the broad daylight, it might be possible for him to awe the wolves and save the dog.

"Say Bill!" Henry called after him. "Be careful! Don't take no chances!"

Henry sat down on the sled and watched. There was nothing else for him to do.

JAMIESON IS FAVORED

[Copyright, 1924, in United States and Great Britain by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.]

Editor's Note—This is the third of a series of articles analyzing a vote by the players of the two big leagues to pick all-league teams. The make-up of the All-American and All-National teams has been published. Never before have the players been given such an opportunity to ballot and they spring many surprises. The vote was taken for exclusive publication in this city by The Times, the ballots being secured by the North American Newspaper Alliance, of which this paper is a member. Daily articles on this page tell how and why the players voted.

Of the 116 ballots cast by American League players for the man they considered to be the best left fielder in their circuit, Jamieson of Clevenad received exactly 100.

In the National League, Wheat of Brooklyn had a decisive majority of the votes cast for the same position, receiving a total of 82 out of 111.

The players considered for all-American left fielder and the vote for them was as follows: Jamieson, Cleveland, 100; Ruth, New York, 9; Falk, Chicago, 3; Lamar, Philadelphia, 2; Williams, St. Louis, 1, and Meusel, New York, 1.

The nine votes given Babe Ruth were due to the anxiety of the players casting the votes to have him on an all-American team. The Babe is regularly a right fielder and was elected as such to the all-star aggregation. But, in nine cases, voters switched him to left field so as to place other right fielders, such as Heilman of Detroit and Rice of Washington on their team.

The real race for left-field honors was between Jamieson and Falk. Forty-two players, who gave their first choice to the Cleveland outfielder, wrote in the White Sox star as their second choice, a bigger percentage than was given to any other player.

Of the three experts picking all-American teams this season only one, Babe Ruth, places Jamieson in left field. Mathewson selects Falk for the place, stressing his ability to go back and get long fly balls, his throwing arm and his batting. The players of the American League rate Jamieson equal to Falk in all essentials except batting. In that he excels the Chicago man. Here are their records on the offense for the season:

	G	AB	R	BH	SB	Pct.
Falk	153	564	91	172	7	.305
Jamieson	151	584	74	183	4	.313
Cuyler	117	464	54	135	6	.291

(Tomorrow: The detailed vote for center field on the All-American League and All-National League teams and analysis of voting.)

Cuyler of Pittsburg was Wheat's chief rival for the left-field job on the All-National League team. The vote on the players considered for the position was: Wheat, Brooklyn, 63; Cuyler, Pittsburg, 36; Meusel, New York, 5; Carey, Pittsburg, 3; Roush, Cincinnati, 3; Wilson, New York, 2, and Grigsby, Chicago, 2. Of these men Roush is regularly a center fielder.

The esteem in which Wheat seems to be held by his comrades of the older major-league circuit is not reflected in the experts' make-up of All-American teams. Wheat is given no place on any of them, although Mathewson does pick him for his second team, giving as his reason the Brooklyn star's hitting, but declaring that his arm is not so good as it once was and his handling of ground balls not quite up to first-string qualifications.

Babe Ruth selected Cuyler as his All-American right fielder, not only excluding Young of New York (who was voted the best in the position in the National League, and who, unlike Cuyler, plays the position regularly,) but also Wheat, who, like Cuyler, is a left fielder.

National League players give the edge to Wheat not only because of fine defensive qualifications, but because he is a heavy hitter and one that delivers in the pinches—a real clean-up man. Cuyler is a faster base runner and has scored more runs this season. Their records:

	G	AB	R	BH	SB	Pct.
Wheat	151	594	71	178	7	.299

LOCAL LAUGHS

Each week The Times produces a film entitled "Local Laughs," consisting of the fifteen best jokes submitted by local people. Weekly prizes are paid of $5, $3, $2, and twelve of $1 each. A list of theaters showing the film, together with rules for submitting jokes are given daily in a coupon in The Times. Prize-winning jokes, and names and addresses of winners, appear only on the screen. Jokes receiving honorable mention will be given a place of honor on The Times comic page each week-day, and each of these contributors will receive a souvenir of acknowledgement.

COURT INVOKED IN RAIL MERGER

Deem Termed Contrary to Federal and State Laws

Hearing on Monday; Appeal to Supreme Court Likely

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) Oct. 23.—A petition for an injunction to prevent the merger of the El Paso and Southwestern and Southern Pacific railroads on November 1 was filed in the United States District Court here today.

The petition requested a temporary injunction to halt plans for consolidation of the two roads which are now being formed and later the granting of a permanent injunction against the merger.

Former Mayor J. U. Sweeney, acting as attorney for three El Paso firms, filed the petition.

The plaintiffs assert the merger will violate the Clayton Anti-Trust Act, the Constitution of the State of Texas and stifle competition, which is not in accordance with the Transportation Act of 1920.

Sweeney has been the most active person in leading the fight against the union of the two railroads, and in the petition he sets out that the doing away with competition will tend to hurt El Paso, which is the source of business for the three firms mentioned as plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs charge that the merger will destroy competition between lines now competing and thereby result in cutting down on the service as well as the treatment given them as shippers.

Judge Colin Neblett of Santa Fe, N. M., will arrive here Monday when a hearing on the application will be held.

Sweeney, as well as several other attorneys associated with him in the fight against the merger, is confident that it can be prevented if the fight is taken to the Supreme Court. Sufficient funds have been raised to carry the fight to the Supreme Court, if necessary, Sweeney announced today.

"Everything that's Musical"—Since 1880

...and His Teachers Said He Was Stupid

TRUE, he was slow in the "three Rs" but God had given him music. One day that talent was discovered and the "stupid" boy suddenly became brilliant. Fairly before manhood the world was at his feet. This is the story of many of the great artists of the age. Perhaps YOUR boy is a problem in school. Are you sure the genius of music is not within him? If so, a musical education is his God-given right. Give that boy a chance and it will come back to you a thousandfold. His instrument is here, whatever it may be.

Octogenarian Bobs Her Hair for Marriage

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCEBURG (Ky.) Oct. 23.—This mountain town claims the palm for unique weddings as a result of the union of Mrs. Mary Bane, 84 years of age, and Peter Stemm, 82. They were united at the bride's home, County Judge Thomas Stone performing the ceremony. About 150 guests from all parts of this section witnessed the ceremony.

The bride recently had her hair bobbed in preparation for the approaching nuptials. She was gowned in the latest fashion and carried a huge bouquet of bride's roses. She did not "look her years," according to the general verdict.

After the ceremony, to make the guests feel perfectly at home, the newly married couple served ice cream, cake and cigars. The bride's first marriage had resulted in the birth of one son; her second had a like result. The groom is the father of fourteen children. He too, had been married before.

SALVE FOR HIS INJURED INNOCENCE

Suspected Contraband Carrier Sues Dry Law Agents for Arrest

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LINCOLN (Neb.) Oct. 23.—A sharp trick played by an asserted bootlegger on a trio of law enforcement officers in Adams county is the basis of a suit to be argued this week in the Nebraska Supreme Court. It is an action for damages for false arrest and imprisonment brought by Clifford K. Martin of Hastings. The officers say he tricked them into arresting him, and then made this the reason for demanding damages.

Martin lost in the District Court, where the officers told this story: Martin had been three times arrested for carrying contraband liquor into the county. Twice he had pleaded guilty and once had served several months in jail. The plan they said he followed was to go to Kansas City or St. Joseph, fill up his suit cases, and six miles out of Hastings drop off the train when it slowed down. There his automobile was waiting for him, and he then proceeded to make his distribution. At one time he had 200 quarts in his possession.

The third time was where the officers got their feet caught. They got a telegram one day that Martin was on the train en route to Hastings, and suspecting that he would leave the train at the switch, the officers were there waiting for him. When he got off he was loaded down with two suit cases.

The officers drew guns on him, but he would not allow them to open the suit cases until after he had been several hours in custody. Then they found they contained nothing but automobile tools and other odds and ends cleverly contrived to give a tinkling sound when the valise was shaken. He was released, and then sued for false arrest. The officers say the telegram and all was a part of a "frame-up."

POOLING CONTRACT LEGALITY ATTACKED

OKLAHOMA SECEDERS ANSWER BREACH OF FAITH CHARGES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KINGFISHER (Okla.) Oct. 23.—That the five-year pooling contract entered into between the Oklahoma Wheat Growers' Association and its members is in violation of the Constitution of the United States in that it is unilateral and does not afford the member equal remedies at law as it affords the association, is charged in the answer of W. F. Cunningham and John Yost, Kingfisher county members, who recently were sued by association officials and restrained by the District Court from further selling of wheat outside the pool.

The answer is the most complete that has been filed in an Oklahoma court touching the pooling contract. It attacks the contract from a score of angles and attempts to uphold the Kingfisher county local of the State association in an act of secession from the association passed last summer. It charges breach of contract on the part of State association officials and denies the existence of an association at the time the original contracts were executed in 1921.

LOCOMOTIVE'S SONG TO BE INTERPRETED

BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA WILL TRANSLATE SOUND INTO MUSIC

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BOSTON, Oct. 23.—Modernism in music will play a part in the program of the Boston Symphony Orchestra this season under the direction of Serge Koussevitsky, former leader of the Russian State Orchestra. The first piece of novel music to be played will be a symphonic interpretation of the mechanics of a locomotive.

"Pacific 231," the piece is called, and in it, Arthur Honegger, its author, expresses by precussion and wind instruments, with occasional emphasis of tom-tom, drum, horns and trumpets against the counterpoint of a string choir, the locomotive at rest and in action.

In the words of Honegger, whose piece was first played at Koussevitsky, concerts in Paris last spring, "the music begins with the quiet breathing of the machine at rest. Then follow the straining start, the gathering speed, the progress from mood to mood, as a thirty ton train hurtles through the dark night racing 100 miles an hour."

DAY FOR MILITARY AT ARIZONA FAIR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Oct. 23.—One day at the State fair is to be turned over to the military. It is proposed to stage a parade and program that shall be joined in by a half-dozen companies of infantry from Phoenix and near-by towns, by the battery of field artillery from Mesa, a howitzer company from Flagstaff and cadet companies from the Normal School at Tempe, Phoenix Union High School and Phoenix Indian School, and possibly by a cavalry command from Fort Huachuca. Also expected is a polo game between the teams of the University of Arizona and Tenth Cavalry from Fort Huachuca. In the evening are to be a banquet and dance, under charge of officers of the Army Reserve Corps.

ESCAPE DEATH IN CRASH

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Oct. 23.—Capt. J. L. B. Alexander, former United States attorney for Arizona, had a narrow escape from death in the overturning of his heavy car on the main highway near Florence. His chauffeur, passing another car on a straight section of the road, failed to note that a bank of dirt had been left in the center of the highway. The top of the automobile was torn away but the occupants escaped serious injury.

ADOHR RATE NOT CUT

Milk Company's Name in Price Reduction List by Mistake.

Through a misunderstanding the Adohr Stock Farms was included in the list of milk distributors who had lowered their prices under date of the 18th inst.

The Adohr company produces only one grade of milk which is marketed under supervision and rules of the Milk Commission of the Los Angeles County Medical Association. There has been no change in their price, as their product is highly specialized for the use of infants and invalids.

News Item from L. A. Times.

ADOHR CERTIFIED GUERNSEY MILK

is produced, bottled and sealed at the Adohr Stock Farms on Ventura Boulevard, at the corner of Lindley Avenue, under the supervision and rigid inspection of the Milk Commission of the Los Angeles County Medical Association. Twelve hundred pure-bred and grade Guernsey cattle make up the herd from which comes this rich, creamy Guernsey milk, nationally known for its unequaled purity.

It is sold in Los Angeles County through various distributors whose names are listed below and who retail it to our customers on a commission basis.

ADOHR CERTIFIED GUERNSEY MILK

It is a raw milk, unprocessed in any way, from a herd surrounded by every precaution that science can give to insure its cleanliness and purity. Immediately after milking the milk is cooled and bottled. It contains all of the cream and all of the original life-sustaining qualities. For this reason, and because of its extreme cleanliness and purity under microscopic and chemical test, it is particularly adapted for infant feeding formulae, for health-building in growing children, and for invalid and convalescent diet.

For Whatever Purpose Milk Is Used, Certified Milk—Adohr Certified Guernsey Milk—is Best

Every bottle has the words "Certified Milk, Sealed at Adohr Stock Farms," molded in the glass, and the bottle is sealed with the Adohr metal crown imprinted with the name and the seal of the Los Angeles County Medical Milk Commission.

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Susan E. Butler Gentry, 73 years of age, widow of the late Richard Gentry, died at her home yesterday. She had been a resident of Kansas City since 1880, living in the same house for forty years.

Temporary alimony of $50 a week and $800 for expenses of her suit for divorce was granted Mrs. Gladys Sievers. Mrs. Sievers is petitioning divorce from Gustave A. Sievers, a vice-president of the Home Trust Company. The divorce plea has not yet been heard.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 23.—B. F. Seabaugh, cashier of the defunct Farmers' Bank of Daisy, Mo., missing for three weeks since a shortage amounting to $31,000 was found in his accounts, was captured at Perryville, Mo., and taken to Jackson, where he will be arraigned on a charge of embezzlement and bond set at $50,000.

A new annulment suit in which Jose Francisco Mariategui, said to be an attache of the Peruvian Legation at Rome, waives legal service was filed yesterday by Miss Janet Lee Collins. The suit filed is identical to one brought last week, which will be dismissed. The new suit was immediately assigned to the domestic relations division of the court. Attorneys for Miss Collins would make no disclosures relative to the whereabouts of Mariategui, refusing to discuss the case at all. Mariategui and Miss Collins became acquainted last summer and eloped October 14 to Clayton. The bridegroom left the city precipitately the same day.

LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 23.—Lexington and eastern capitalists are reported to be interested in the merger of several large coal mining properties in the Carr's Fork section of Perry and Knott counties, which if consummated will mean extensive development of the coal industry in that section.

Announcement of a gift of $25,000 by W. Hume Logan Sr., president of the Dow Company, Louisville, and chairman of the Transylvania College Board of Curators, to the financial campaign being held throughout the State by Transylvania and Hamilton colleges, was made by Dr. Allen Bisell, director of the campaign.

About fifteen years ago the city of Corbin decided to own a water system. To do this it was necessary to drill wells. About the time water was found the people made the discovery that all private wells had sunk, and now gas has been found in the wells. Some Corbin citizens have piped the wells and are cooking with gas.

INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—James H. Trimble, president of the Western Oil Refining Company, has given $25,000 to Butler College. Announcement of the gift was made by John W. Atherton, financial secretary of the college.

Word from Logansport says William S. Bushnell, 72 years of age, attorney of White county, was instantly killed yesterday when he fell from an apple tree. His neck was broken.

Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Gothlin will sail from Los Angeles Saturday for Honolulu where they will spend the winter with their son, Lieut. Oliver P. Gothlin, Jr., who is in the United States Air Service.

Rev. Clay Trusty, 47 years of age, who was pastor of the Seventh Christian Church, for sixteen years but who resigned several months ago, due to failing health, died at his home yesterday.

ANGELENOS' BIG GAME HUNT IS INTERRUPTED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLIFTON (Ariz.) Oct. 23.—A Los Angeles hunting party, here after the lion and bear of the wooded mountains to the northward, had the unusual experience of being hunted and of being driven back to this county seat for determination of the status of its members. The party consisted of Dr. Wendell White, Howard G. Thompson, a real-estate man, and Attorneys Marion P. Ratty and Louis J. Euler.

Here they joined Cleve Miller, a predatory-animal hunter and a Deputy State Game Warden. He assured them that the only license necessary to hunt predatory animals could be obtained from a game warden on the range, but that the killing of dangerous animals hardly could be considered under the same restrictions that the State places on deer hunters.

The fees were left at the cabin of the warden, but later the Coast men were arrested by a representative of the Forest Service, who compelled them to return to Clifton. Here the County Attorney, D. W. Ling, stated that he failed to find that any offense had been committed, and the case was dropped.

AGED WOMAN NEAR DEATH FROM BEES

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LEXINGTON (Ky.) Oct. 23.—Mrs. Susan Caden, 87 years of age, is improving slightly from the effects of being badly stung by bees. Mrs. Caden was gathering flowers in the garden at her home when she walked too near a beehive, from which the occupants poured upon the aged woman. She was terribly stung about the head and face before aid could reach her.

FEDERAL BOARD GUARDS HEALTH

Physicians' Meetings to Be Shown Results

Government's Discoveries to Be Made Public

Valuable Work in Prevention of Disease Under Way

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—When the American Congress on Internal Medicine and the American College of Physicians meet in Washington next April the government will give the doctors in attendance the thrill that comes once in a lifetime. Surgeon-General H. S. Cumming of the Public Health Service will open the doors of its big laboratory to the delegates and will show them some medical discoveries in the making.

Most people think that medical discoveries are accidental. That was true not so long ago; but in these days the job of finding out things about health and diseases is systematized. The government is putting system into its program of health research. With the object of carrying on medical research Uncle Sam has brought together a staff of over 100 men and women at the nation's capital, who give all their time to studying the cause and cure of diseases. These workers are housed in a group of laboratories on a five-acre tract overlooking the Potomac River. The problems that they work on cover a wide range geographically as well as medically.

THE UTAH DISEASE

For example, a few years ago the Federal health authorities were called on to fight a new disease that had appeared in certain parts of the West, particularly Utah. The disease first appeared among jack rabbits, spreading from these animals to man by the bite of a blood-sucking fly. It was known locally as "deer-fly fever." While the victims seldom died, they were laid up anywhere from three weeks to four months. The government sent an expert out to Utah to investigate and he had scarcely got started when he came down with the disease and was sent to the hospital. Another scientist took his place. He, too, got the fever. Sick as he was he gathered up his equipment and brought some infected animals back to Washington to study. Four other men contracted the disease while working with it in the laboratory and were sent to the hospital, one after another.

And Uncle Sam then woke up to the fact that tularemia, as the disease was named, is not confined to jack rabbits nor carried by flies alone, but that it is fairly widespread. It was even learned that the disease was known among market men and game dealers in the East as "rabbit fever." So that tularemia, at one time supposed to exist only in parts of the West, is a disease of general prevalence, often being mistaken for typhoid fever. Three years were spent in studying tularemia at the hygienic laboratory, where Dr. Edward Francis is now working on a curative serum. It is said that this is the only case in the history of a medicine where American doctors, unaided, have worked out a disease from beginning to end.

One section of the hygienic laboratory carries on nutritional experiments. Dr. Joseph Goldberger, the head of this work, has shown by feeding experiments on human beings and on dogs that pellagra is a disease due to faulty diet. By withholding certain foods he can produce pellagra in an individual at will. He has also found that a pellagrous person can be cured by giving him the proper kind of food without administering any medicine at all.

KEEPS EYE ON SERUM

Few people know that the government keeps a close oversight on the manufacture of serums, vaccines and similar products. Before a manufacturer of antitoxin can sell his product he must get a license from the government. At present nearly fifty concerns hold a license to deal in biologic products. A staff of experts is kept busy examining commercial samples so that doctors throughout the country may be reasonably sure of giving their patients pure and wholesome biologic remedies. Just now the laboratory is working on the standardization of pollen extracts for the treatment of hay fever. Another standard that the scientists are working on is for insulin, the remedy for diabetes.

A series of observations is now in progress on narcotic drug addiction. Drug addiction, it is said, is not nearly so extensive as has been reported. One of the important problems that the dope experts are now working on is a method of curing addicts.

One of the most important tests by far is that made on arsenical preparations used in the treatment of syphilis. The injection of such a powerful poison as arsenic into the blood is such a delicate undertaking that the government examines samples from every lot before the manufacturer is permitted to offer it for sale. The tests are made by injecting a measured amount into white rats. If the rats show no bad effects the manufacturer is permitted to sell his product.

The thousands of doctors attending the meetings in Washington next spring will have an opportunity of visiting Uncle Sam's medical laboratories, where actual demonstrations will be made for their benefit.

PORT OF MANZANILLO IS CLOSED BY STRIKE

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 23.—The closing of the Pacific port of Manzanillo, due to a strike of stevedores, is reported in special dispatches received here. The maritime companies, it is said, refused to sign a contract proposed by the stevedores' syndicate.

A Lamblike Lion

A modern parallel to the classic of the young man who won the everlasting gratitude of a lion by extracting a thorn from the suffering creature's foot is the story coming from Germany. At the Hamburg Zoological Garden a lion was suffering with a huge boil that developed between its eyes. The mighty beast instead of putting up a fight submitted quietly to having the sore lanched, cleansed and bandaged, after which it returned meekly to its cage.

MANDATE LANDS BEFORE LEAGUE

Germany Expected to Ask Return of Colonies

Japanese Are Questioned on Pacific Islands

Way Seen to Relieve Crowded Eastern Countries

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, Oct. 23.—Questions put to M. Sugimura, representative of the Japanese government, concerning the administration by Japan of the Pacific Ocean islands under mandate to Japan, were a feature of the opening session today of the permanent League of Nations mandate commission.

The commission will spend the next ten days in Geneva examining the reports presented by various governments which have under their mandate former German colonies and former Turkish territories, like Palestine and Syria.

The Marquis Theodoli of Italy, president of the mandate commission, in a statement tonight emphasized the commission's determination to obtain equitable and fair management of mandated lands. He declined to discuss the terms of the Versailles Treaty when a German correspondent raised the point that unless the mandate system was extended to all world colonies, the German people might get the impression that the mandate system was merely a disguised form of out-and-out annexation.

The Marquis said that the mandate system gave only a limited form of sovereignty to the controlling countries, and that the commission earnestly hoped that the good results achieved would be copied by the countries in their administration of territories and colonies.

The question of immigration was raised by an Italian, who thought the mandated lands might serve eventually as territories of immigration for countries which have surplus populations. The officials remarked that this would especially work out for certain Far Eastern countries.

The general impression of mandates has become especially interesting from the Geneva standpoint, because of the belief that Germany, when she enters the League of Nations, will ask for the restoration of one or more of her colonies in the form of a mandate.

REPUBLICAN LOVE FEAST IN REDLANDS

President's Radio Speech Features Old-Time Rally at Contemporary Club

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Oct. 23.—The Republicans of Redlands had an old-fashioned rally and love feast at the Contemporary clubhouse tonight when the flying squadron visited Redlands. To make the meeting more interesting a radio receiving set was installed in the clubhouse and several hundred gathered shortly after 6 o'clock and listened with awe to a speech made by President Calvin Coolidge and broadcasted by telephone and KHJ, The Times radio broadcasting station, to people here. It was one of the most impressive meetings ever held here and the expression of wonder on the faces of those who sat and listened to Mr. Coolidge speaking some 3000 miles away were but a reflection of the awe that was felt.

In the big meeting that followed presided over by J. J. Prendergast, there were talks by Judge David Rose, a Democrat who is stumping the State against Robert M. La Follette. He said that La Follette has for three years been supporting the radical movement in Wisconsin. Miss Belle McCord Roberts, Long Beach editor, also spoke as did Rolland G. Swaafield, a Long Beach attorney.

ONE KILLED, THREE LOST, IN FLAMES

Women, Children Fight to Save Miami, Ariz., in Fire; Miners Turn Tide

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MIAMI (Ariz.) Oct. 23.—Women and children became fire fighters here today to save the town from destruction from a blaze in which one man is dead, three others are missing, and three injured. The flames were brought under control with a loss estimated at $100,000. Most of the damage was in the business district. Several hundred miners from the Miami Copper Company turned the scale when they joined the firemen.

Carl Pierson, 35 years of age, was burned to death in the Aberdeen Hotel, and another man escaped from the same hotel by jumping from the second floor, suffering a broken leg. The sheds of the Arizona Eastern Railroad were destroyed.

The ruins, still hot, are being searched for the bodies of the missing, who, it is believed, may have perished. Miami is the largest copper camp in Arizona.

Tea for Tan

The French girls who journey to the seashore and get their arms and necks tanned do not relish the idea of exposing their partially sunburned flesh showing the outlines of the particular garments they happened to have on at the time, so they make use of a preparation of tea for the purpose of bringing the lighter parts of their shoulders down to the tone of the sun-kissed portion. The tea does the tanning very well and where the difference of shade is very great, several applications may be required, but with a little patience the two shades may be matched up quite satisfactorily.

SUICIDE OF BOY BARES ODD LIFE

Youth Had Rooms in Three Places in Denver

Swallows Poison After He Was on Rum Party

Companions Chided Him When He Speeded in Auto

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DENVER, Oct. 23. — Investigation into the death of A. L. Darke, Denver youth who died after taking poison on the Fourteenth-street viaduct while returning from the Moonlight Ranch with two companions, developed mysterious features when it was discovered that the 21-year-old boy had occupied three dwelling places, using an assumed name at one place since the departure of his father and mother for the East more than a month ago.

Another angle that mystified investigators was the finding, by Deputy Coroner George Bostwick, of a tiny cardboard box of a particularly deadly poison powder stuffed down Darke's right sock. His death, according to the Coroner, was caused by liquid poison.

IN DRINKING PARTY

Mrs. Marion Walter, 725 Twelfth street, and Fred Schwab, 31 West Thirteenth avenue, told police Saturday night that the trio had gone to the resort earlier in the evening, where Darke had taken several drinks. Returning, Darke is said by his companions to have become angry with them when they criticised his fast driving. On the viaduct, the pair declared, he suddenly stopped the car, got out, told them to drive on and then drained a small bottle of poison. Schwab and Mrs. Walter rushed him to the police station. From there he was taken to the General Hospital, where he died shortly afterward.

Bostwick said the case was one of suicide, and that no inquest will be held.

Before his parents left Denver in August, young Darke had been occupying a room at 1118 Downing street. At the address it was said he had not been staying there since early in September. He is also said to have stayed for awhile in his father's apartment at 1515 East Ninth avenue. But for nearly two weeks Darke had occupied a room at the Roslyn Hotel, where he had registered as "Albert L. Dunn, Salt Lake City." Indentification of Dunn as Darke came after the finding of his room key on the body.

But the fact that at 1118 Downing street or at the Roslyn, no clothing beyond two suits of pajamas, several soiled shirts and collars, and two or three ties were found, gives rise to the belief that Darke might have had still another room about the city.

With his parents absent from the city, no explanation has yet been obtained as to the reason for his double existence. He had not been working, and had been sleeping most of the day at the hotel. He spoke to employees there of having made several trips to Greeley. At no time had Darke given any indication that he contemplated suicide, acquaintances declare.

FIND GIRL'S NOTES

In the Roslyn, beside several empty envelopes addressed to A. L. Darke undated, written on yellow scratch paper and signed "Marion," it stated that the writer wished to see Darke that night and get an explanation of "something you said yesterday, and that I do not understand."

The youth's father, vice-president of the Armstrong-Turner Millinery Company, was injured in a railroad accident on the New York Central Road near Rochester, August 30, and has been in a hospital there since.

Schwab and Mrs. Walter were released after being questioned by police.

WOMAN WINS APPEAL IN CROP LOAN SUIT

SUPERIOR COURT ORDERED TO DENY NON-SUIT MOVE, CONTINUE TRIAL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The appeal of Minnie H. Setchel of Fresno, from a judgment of nonsuit rendered against her by the Superior Court of Fresno, was granted today by the District Court of Appeals, First Appellate District, Division Two. The Court of Appeals handed down a decision which reversed the judgment of the trial court with directions to that court to deny the motion for nonsuit and proceed with the trial of the case against the Fidelity Trust and Savings Bank of Fresno, which was named as defendant in the original litigation.

W. Flanders Setchel, husband of the plaintiff, is asserted to have entered into an agreement with the defendant trust company in which it received a mortgage of the crops of his fruit ranch for $100,000 and further agreed to reimburse from the proceeds of the sale of the fruit, any person any sum of money loaned to Setchel under $30,000.

Mrs. Setchel asserts that she advanced her husband $2500 and the company refused to reimburse her for the loan.

ELKS MEET ALL-STARS

Statues Receive Steam Bath

The beautiful statues in the Gardens of Versailles, which have been the pride of France for generations, naturally have suffered from dirt and the elements. So thickly encrusted with dirt and soot were they that experts were unable to get at the original marble or bronze to repair and restore the works of the sculptors' art until a steam outfit was installed in the gardens. A hose and flattened nozzle were used and the jets of steam were able to loosen the dirt in every nook and cranny without injury to the precious surface below.

Four Men on Board Ship; Coast Guard Cutter Tries to Effect Rescue

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

NOME (Alaska) Oct. 23.—The gasoline schooner Silver Wave of Nome, with four men aboard, has been carried off by the ice of the Arctic Ocean, it was learned here today.

The Silver Wave, fourth vessel to be seized this season in the destructive grasp of ice in the Alaskan Arctic, was caught in Kotzebue Sound, 180 miles north of Bering Strait, whither she was hurrying for safety on her last trip before winter.

The Silver Wave first stranded, according to reports reaching here. Her cargo and passengers were taken off near the end of a long peninsula running into Kotzebue Sound. While Capt. Hegness, master and owner, and the engineer were ashore, the Silver Wave was seen moving out to the ocean.

Slush and ice prevented the engineer from reaching the vessel and kept the four men, the remainder of the crew who had remained aboard, from coming ashore.

Efforts were to be made today by the cutter Mojave of the United States Coast Guard, which has been waiting here for the last vessel of the season to go out of Bering Sea, to rescue the men on the Silver Wave.

Progress in Dye Making

The manufacture of dyes is a comparatively new industry in America, the cutting off of the supply from Europe during the late war making it imperative for this country to produce its own coloring matter. The industry has grown so rapidly that America in a few years is likely to lead the world in the production of dyes. In 1914 seven American firms manufactured a total of 6,619,729 pounds, valued at a little over $2,000,000. Eighty-seven firms in this country in 1922 sold over 67,000,000 pounds at a value of $41,463,790.

The doughboy's memorial stadium at Fort Benning, Ga., being erected by infantrymen station there, is rapidly assuming form. The stadium will seat 6000. It will be the home of future soldiers and recreational center.

Armstrong's Linoleum
for Every Floor in the House

For the Reading Room

A Handsome Library with a Handsome Floor

This floor is also quiet, comfortable, and easy to keep clean and smart. It will last for years

MANY public buildings—libraries, hospitals, courthouses, and schools—have installed floors of Armstrong's Linoleum.

They use linoleum because it is quiet, durable, good-looking, and easy to keep clean and sanitary.

They select Armstrong's Linoleum because of the superior beauty of the Armstrong colors and patterns, because of the known quality of Armstrong's Linoleum, and because responsible merchants and contractors sell it and guarantee a satisfactory and permanent laying job.

The importance of good laying

The fine, modern linoleum floor should be laid for permanency—cemented down—not directly to the wood or concrete underfloor, but over a lining of builders' deadening felt, which is pasted to the underfloor. The linoleum is then pasted to the felt. Around edges and seams waterproof cement is used. Such a floor is always smooth and tight.

People who buy Armstrong's do more than just "put down linoleum." They expect a trained linoleum layer to put it down right, and after that they have it waxed and polished. Daily care consists in going over it with a hair broom to remove surface dust. Occasional rewaxing and polishing keeps it in perfect condition.

Linoleum floors are quiet, restful to standing and walking feet, yet in appearance they offer the feeling of stability and security which every floor should have.

Talk to a linoleum merchant

Consult your architect, contractor, or any merchant who sells Armstrong's Linoleum for information you need on laying and maintaining a fine linoleum floor. Look at the Armstrong patterns. There are rich plain colors for offices and buildings where a simple decorative plan is followed, two-tone Jaspés, tile and marble inlaids in different colors and designs are specially desirable for stores, shops, restaurants, banks, and offices where harmony between floors and furnishings is desirable.

Write for our free 48-page illustrated booklet, "Business Floors." You will find it valuable and instructive. It may also save you money if you are planning a home where floors are to be considered.

ECZEMA

You will be compelled to admit that the results of S.S.S. are really amazing!

MANY people imagine that eczema or tetter needs only some external application on the skin in order to get relief. This is because the attention of the sufferer is so violently directed to the intense burning and itching which accompanies this disease. Try as they may—permanent relief will never be theirs until the disease itself blood is thoroughly cleansed.

We know there is one thing that stops eczema and that is more red-blood-cells! S.S.S. builds them by the million! You can increase your red-blood-cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it. Skin eruptions, eczema, with all its fiery, skin digging torture, and its soul-tearing, unreachable itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting giants of Nature! S.S.S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1826.

S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body strengtheners known to us mortals! When you put these facts together,—then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. S.S.S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S.S.S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs eczema, clears the skin, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, and gives you that more up and going appearance.

MARRIAGE HITS GOULD INCOMES

Three Affected by Clause in Father's Will

His Consent Made Necessary During Lifetime

After That Trustees Must Sanction Nuptials

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Incomes of three members of the Gould family were held up out of respect to the marriage clause in the will of the father, Jay Gould, according to information obtained from Edwin Gould today in the hearing of the $82,000,000 accounting suit before Referee O'Gorman.

A codicil to the will declared that if any of the children married without his consent during his lifetime or after his death without the consent of a majority of the trustees, they would forfeit one-half their share of the estate.

Edwin Gould testified that the trustees had impounded the income of George, principal objector to the present accounting, although he did not think that the action was taken on account of the marriage clause. Half of Howard Gould's income was withheld, he said. It also developed that the Bankers' Trust Company had held up the income of Mrs. Helen Gould Shephard under the clause and her general liability as trustee. There never will be any question about Edwin's marriage, his counsel stated in answer to questions.

At the morning session Mr. Gould admitted that $7,500,000 of the estate's funds had been put into the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company to aid John D. Rockefeller in his efforts to rehabilitate the concern. Some of the estate's best bonds and securities had to be sold to make the purchase, he admitted.

All the estate has to show for it now are the bonds of the Colorado Industrial Company and the common stock of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, attorneys discovered by questioning.

HITS DECISION ON ESTATE TAX

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Atty-Gen. Stone's ruling respecting the rights of the Federal government to collect taxes under the California community property law, sent to the Treasury yesterday was limited to a ruling on estate tax phases of the question, it developed today upon the return to Washington of Secretary Mellon.

While the decision of Mr. Stone was kept secret, Mr. Mellon let it be known that the Attorney-General had not touched on the question of Federal income tax collection under the California act.

The Treasury Secretary said today that the Attorney-General had as yet been unable to arrive at a conclusion respecting the income tax phases of the law. At the same time he indicated that Mr. Stone's ruling on the estate tax clauses may not be conclusive, adding, however, that Treasury officials had not had an opportunity to give the matter thorough study.

Regardless of how Mr. Stone views the California law respecting estate taxes or what construction he places on the income tax phases, the Treasury, Mr. Mellon said, expects to test the question in the courts. He looks for action by taxpayers if the decisions are against them.

COLORADO RIVER RISE ENDS VALLEY'S WORRY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

YUMA (Ariz.) Oct. 23.—For the past week, the Colorado River has been flowing about 5000 second feet. This appears to be more than the present capacity of the Imperial Canal, which has silted somewhat during the period of low water, and so water is flowing in the river channel below the diversion dam for the first time since July 31, last. Since the arrival of more water, brought through the up-river rains of September 10 and 11, reaching the Imperial district about September 16, the valley water situation has not been considered serious, though for a while the river supply had dropped to 2300 second feet. The opportune September rains in Northern and Western Arizona, though not heavy, saved the growers from much larger losses.

SHENANDOAH OVER TEXAS

Moving Slowly Against Wind; Passes Breckenridge at 9 o'Clock; Nonstop Flight Abandoned

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FT. WORTH (Tex.) Oct. 23.—The Shenandoah skirted Breckenridge at 10 o'clock tonight according to radio messages received at the Hellum plant.

FT. WORTH (Tex.) Oct. 23.—All is in readiness here to receive the dirigible Shenandoah, which is expected to arrive around midnight. The big airship is encountering strong winds and its progress eastward is slow.

At 5:43 p.m., the Shenandoah passed over Midland, Tex., 280 miles west of here. She was flying at a speed of approximately forty miles an hour.

NONSTOP FLIGHT HOPES ARE ABANDONED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ABOARD U. S. AIRSHIP SHENANDOAH, Oct. 23.—Hopes of a nonstop flight diagonally across the continent from San Diego to Lakehurst, N. J., were abandoned when the Shenandoah passed El Paso, Tex., at 9 a.m., Central time today. The favorable winds necessary for such a long jump were lacking. Instead, a wind was blowing from fifteen to twenty miles an hour against the ship. In addition, almost a ton and a half of gasoline which would have been needed for fuel had been sacrificed to lighten the dirigible in the high altitudes of the Rockies.

The Shenandoah was making thirty miles an hour over El Paso and Juarez, but when Fabens was reached at 10 o'clock the trailing shadow on the ground registered a speed of thirty-eight miles an hour. The course was laid to follow the line of the Texas and Pacific Railroad to Ft. Worth which should be reached about midnight if the winds are favorable. It was cold at an altitude of 7000 feet over Ft. Hancock at 10:30. The men were wearing fur-lined flying suits and rubbing numbed fingers and ears. The last of the mountain passes on the dirigible's course was Pecos.

WORST PEAKS PASSED

Arizona and the worst of the Rockies were left behind when Rodeo, N. M., was reached at 2:30 o'clock. The big ship had groaned and strained as it drove into the eddies whirling over the peaks. The wind currents rushed through the mountain passes like mill races.

The shaft houses of the copper mines of Bisbee, Ariz., were illuminated like a summer amusement park when the dirigible unexpectedly found itself in a bowl of the mountains surrounding the city at 12:34 a.m. Peaks seemed to tower around it on all sides except the single pass through which it had entered the pocket in the Rockies. The moon had been a pale crescent and its feeble rays only faintly touched the bottoms of the mountain passes.

The ship sped at fifty miles an hour over the ranges of Arizona at an altitude of 6500 feet. Turning southward at Benson at 10:40 p.m. last night, the Shenandoah followed the railroad southeastward toward the Mexican border. The nose of the ship pointed upward until it was at the 6700-foot level and another 175-pound tank of gasoline was dropped through the silken bottom to lighten the load. The Shenandoah turned and was over Waco at 12:50 a.m. Another turn, with a broad swing over the Mexican border, and the dirigible was again speeding eastward. Douglas and its smelters were passed at 1:27 a.m.

TAKING WATER BALLAST

The return trip across the Rockies was almost as dramatic as the westward journey. Along the 650 feet of the Shenandoah's glistening body, on either side of the nine-inch cat walk, the big gas bags seemed ready to burst against the network of cord as the helium expanded in the rarefied altitude. In the navigating car, Lieutenant-Commander Lansdowne, captain of the Shenandoah; Lieutenant-Commander Hancock, the executive officer, and the officers on watch, were straining their eyes into the darkness, guiding the ship as it sped on its uncharted course.

In each of the motor gondolas, engines were roaring and men on duty were eager to respond like a flash to the signals which might mean the difference between destruction and safety. Weary men off duty were sleeping. The deafening roar of motors lulled the exhausted to sleep and drowned the voices of those awake. Lights flickered in the distance through the darkened tunnel as officers made hourly inspections of engines and keel and men silently and methodically sped along the little runway measuring gasoline, shifting water ballast or standing by to cut out a tank and throw it to the land.

While the ship sped along between the stars and the lights of the sleeping world below, its radio was talking with unseen ears in Fort Bliss, immediately below and others thousands of miles away. When New Mexico was reached, the officers who had been on duty over the mountains turned in and Lieuts. Lawrence and Rosenthal took the bridge. The mountain climbing was over and the engines started making water ballast. Hachita was passed at 3:13 p.m., and the course again was along the Mexican border over Columbus and El Paso.

MRS. REASON TO FACE TRIAL

Bail Fixed at $2500 for Woman Who Shot Dance Hall Friend; Charged With Intent to Kill

Louise M. Reason was held for trial in Superior Court yesterday by Justice Hanby under $2500 bail on charges of assault with intent to murder her dance-hall acquaintance, Lee Mantell.

Widely differing stories regarding the shooting in Mrs. Reason's apartment at 2288 West Twenty-sixth Place were told by the pretty feminine defendant and her male accuser. Both agreed that they met at a downtown dance hall on the night of the shooting, September 30, last, and both readily admitted that they went to Mrs. Reason's apartment early in the morning after leaving the dance hall.

From this point on, however, their testimony was entirely different. Mantell declared that he accompanied the woman home after agreeing to buy the dress for her if she would take him to her apartment. There, he declared, she demanded that he give her money. He refused, he said, and was about to walk out of the place when she drew a revolver and shot him.

Mrs. Reason, however, asserted that after entering her apartment Mantell choked her and then attempted to assault her. She declared she fought him off and succeeded in reaching her revolver and then shooting him as he launched himself at her again.

Mantell, after being shot, entered his automobile and drove home. He was carried into his house by motorists whose aid he had sought. At Receiving Hospital, where he was removed, he refused for many days to give circumstances of the shooting. After Mrs. Reason's arrest, however, he told the entire story.

Statistics show that about 80 per cent of crime committed in this country is perpetrated by men under 21 years of age.

BRITISH TORIES SHOW PANIC

Leading Conservative Papers Beg Candidates to Stress Economic Relief Program

BY JOHN STEELE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1924, by the Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Growing signs of panic among the Conservatives over the results of next Wednesday's election are seen at every hand. Today's Daily Express, one of the leading Conservative papers, prints on its first page in large type an appeal to the Conservative candidates to cease talking about the Campbell case and the Russian treaty, and concentrate on some constructive program, such as more work and cheaper food.

The Express says that the voters do not care about a lawyers' squabble over the Campbell case, and they are not interested in Russia, which is a long way off. They are interested in the prices of food and they want to know what the next Parliament is going to do about this. The same line is taken by the Evening Standard.

LIBERALS REGRET PACT

In the meantime the Liberal papers are making great play of the lack of a constructive domestic program. The Liberals in particular are attacking the protectionism of the Tories.

So unpopular has the pact with the Conservatives become among the Liberals that Sir John Simon, one of the most important Liberal leaders, who benefited by the withdrawal of the Conservative at Spen Valley, has been forced to write a letter contradicting Lord Derby's statement that the withdrawal was the result of the pact. It is said that he has lost a large proportion of the Liberal vote on account of this agreement.

CURZON ATTACKED

The Conservatives are complaining bitterly of the growing hooliganism at their meetings, which they say is organized by the Laborites. Many of the Labor hecklers are women, and it is becoming impossible for a Conservative candidate to obtain a hearing in a working class constituency. Two more Conservatives abandoned their attempt to hold meetings today.

J. H. Thomas, Colonial Secretary has made a sensational charge against Lord Curzon, former Foreign Minister, in a speech at Gravesend. Mr. Thomas declared that when the Labor government took charge it found that Lord Curzon, by his policy at Lausanna, had so strained the relations with Canada that the Canadian Parliament had actually discussed separation. Mr. Thomas said that the Labor government had been compelled to refuse to issue a white paper on this conference because of the possible bad effect of the relations with the Dominion.

AND THE GOAT BA-A-ED ON

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 23.—"Ba-a-a" went the little goat over in George Lane's yard, and "Ba-a-a" it went again.

The continual "Ba-a-a-ing" got A. E. Mabee's goat, so to speak, both men being neighbors, so Mabee complained to Mr. Lane. There was a little mix-up in which Mr. Mabee was struck in the eye by Mr. Lane, and this was followed by Mr. Mabee filing an affidavit before Judge Edward Miller in this city, charging him with battery.

The trial brought out the fact that Lane did not know just how his first landed in Mabee's eye. However, the judge fined the defendant $10 which he paid.

This did not stop the "Ba-a-ing" of the goat.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

En las Ciudades de Ontario Han Tenido los Húmedos Gran Mayoría

TORONTO (Ontario) Octubre 23. Hoy, a las 8:30 de la noche, el escrutinio de la votación en Ontario arrojaba 272,328 votos en favor de los licores, y 204,943 por la "sequía". Este resultado corresponde a 2964 casillas de votación distribuídas por toda la provincia. El total de ellas es 7323. La votación en el campo está reduciendo un poco la ventaja que llevan los húmedos, pero se duda de que pueda hacérsela perder.

Esta aplastante mayoría de votos "húmedos", que revelaban esta noche los primeros cómputos, depende de que en las ciudades domina el elemento hostil a la Ley de Temperancia de Ontario; pero, en el campo, la votación está claramente del lado de la prohibición.

Es casi seguro que Toronto va a arrojar muchos más votos "húmedos" que en 1919, pues ya en este momento, en que no se han computado más que la mitad de las cédulas de sus 1367 casillas, la mayoría del voto antiprohibicionista llega a 23,000. A este paso, y teniendo en cuenta que faltan todavía los resultados de algunos de los barrios mas húmedos de la ciudad, es seguro que será rebasada la predicción de los antiprohibicionistas, que dijeron se obtendría una mayoría de 25,000.

En el norte de Ontario, el auge de los húmedos llega a su máximo, según los resultados que ya se han recibido de algunos lugares. En la población de Iroquois Falls, manufacturera de pulpa y papel, no hubo sino tres votos "secos" en toda la comunidad, no obstante que ésta se enorgullece de sus tres iglesias.

Méjico Está Listo para los Revolucionarios

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Octubre 23.—El Ministerio de la Guerra anunció hoy que sería rechazada con "el frío acero" cualquiera tentativa que hicieran los elementos enemigos del gobierno central para impedir que el presidente electo Calles tome posesión de su cargo como Ejecutivo en Jefe de la Nación.

Esta declaración del Ministerio de la Guerra fue provocada por ciertos inquietantes rumores que corren de que los simpatizadores del general de la Huerta, que no tuvieron éxito en la revuelta organizada para derrocar el actual gobierno, tienen el propósito de impedir la pacífica entrega del poder ejecutivo al general Calles.

Los funcionarios de gobierno, sin embargo, no creen sean ciertas las noticias de que los antiguos partidarios de de la Huerta proyecten levantamiento alguno. A pesar de todo, los jefes militares de toda la república han recibido instrucciones de sofocar sin misericordia cualquier movimiento que se sospeche sea una intentona de impedir que el general Calles ocupe la presidencia.

Los que hablan a nombre del gobierno califican de absurdos los rumores de que las autoridades de los Estados de Sinaloa y de Nayarit se hayan negado a aceptar la declaratoria del Congreso sobre la elección presidencial. De idéntica manera calificaron los diceres de que los simpatizadores del general Angel Flores, candidato vencido en las últimas elecciones presidenciales, estén conspirando para lanzarse contra el gobierno de manera análoga.

Entre los rumores figura el de que Enrique Estrada, líder de las fuerzas revolucionarias huertistas en el Oeste, estaba congregando a sus partidarios en el Estado de Zacatecas, y se proponía encender otra insurrección cuya finalidad sería impedir que Calles suba a la Primera Magistratura del país.

También llegan noticias de que hay desórdenes en el Estado de Chiapas, y el gobierno ha librado ya órdenes de que se ejerza particular vigilancia a lo largo de las fronteras con los Estados Unidos y con Guatemala, para impedir que entren armas de contrabando en la república.

La declaración del Ministerio de la Guerra dice en parte lo que sigue: "Nunca, antes de ahora, había estado tan bien disciplinado y tan unido el ejército mejicano. Su bien lubricada maquinaria está hoy en aptitud de aplastar cualquier movimiento antigobiernista que pudiere estallar, aunque sea en la Baja California, o en Yucatán".

El Gobierno Ganó un Punto Importante en el Juicio Petrolero

El gobierno ganó ayer un punto importante en su lucha judicial contra la casa Doheny por los arrendamientos hechos en la Reserva Petrolera Naval de Elk Hills, pues el Juez McCormick permitió que se presentaran los testimonios prestados en Enero último ante la comisión investigadora del Senado. No admitió las excepciones puestas contra la presentación de dichos testimonios, y se cree que éstos serán leídos hoy ante el tribunal.

Consisten ellos, según se asegura, en ciertos asentimientos dados por E. L. Doheny y en declaraciones autorizadas por él, hechas durante la investigación senatorial. De gran importancia se considera este testimonio para justificar lo que el gobierno pretende; es a saber, la rescisión de los arrendamientos fundada en que éstos fueron obtenidos mediante conspiración y fraude.

Hubo en el día otras incidencias de importancia, entre las que figura la declaración de la señora Doheny de que había sido encontrado el pedazo que faltaba de un pagaré de $100,000 otorgado a su marido por el ex-Ministro de lo Interior, Albert B. Fall. Otro acontecimiento del día fue que Doheny y su hijo, Edward L. Doheny, Jr., se negaron a prestar testimonio ante el jurgado, y otro más, que Doheny, Sr., aseguró que el abogado del gobierno estaba tratando de procurarse pruebas para presentarlas en el juicio penal que hay pendiente en Washington contra el propio Doheny y su hijo, donde estos dos señores y Fall han sido acusados de conspiración y cohecho en las operaciones de los contratos y arrendamientos de reservas petroleras.

LIVERPOOL (Inglaterra) Octubre 23.—Muchos buenos puntos lograron esta tarde en el campo de Everton, en Liverpool, los "White Sox" de Chicago, al ganar su primer partido de exhibición en la segunda serie de juegos extranjeros, por 16 a 12, habiendo sido los vencidos los Gigantes de Nueva York. Pero el mejor punto de todos fue el notable éxito que tuvo, y la sensación que causó el gran juego yanqui entre la muchedumbre de más de 10,000 deportistas ingleses, jóvenes y viejos.

ONE KILLED, TWO HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Two Machines Wrecked in Collision at Corner in Long Beach

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 23. — One man was killed almost instantly and two others were injured when two automobiles collided tonight at the intersection of Cedar and Tenth streets.

C. M. Chadwell, 20 years of age, of 422 Cedar avenue, is the dead man. His head was crushed when he was caught under the overturned sedan in which he was riding and he died en route to Seaside Hospital in an ambulance.

The injured, both of whom are cut and bruised, are. James Farrell, 1164 Daisy avenue, driver of the car in which Chadwell was riding, and M. C. Moran, 436 Maine avenue, a passenger in the second car. The driver of the second car, Glenn A. Irwin, same address as Moran, was unhurt.

The impact of the cars was so great, witnesses said, that the heavier machine, driven by Irwin, carried the other car on the sidewalk and caused it to turn over. Both machines were badly wrecked.

GILMORE OILERS GO AGAINST LEAGUE STARS

With several professional stars including "Ferdie" Schupp of New York Giant fame, "Tub" Spencer of the Angels, Ernie Vache of the Boston Red Sox and several others on the line-up, Cliff McCarl's powerful Gilmore Oil ball club will battle the St. Louis Colored Giants, one of the strongest colored ball teams ever assembled, at Goodyear Park Sunday afternoon.

Under the management of McCarl, a former Coast leaguer, the Gilmore tossers have been working out during the week and are in perfect shape for the contest.

Permanent roads are a good investment —not an expense

The High Cost of Postponing Permanent Highway Building

Poor motor roads stifle industry and agriculture, waste huge sums annually in high maintenance costs, and greatly increase gasoline, tire and repair bills.

There is not a state, not a county, not a community, that isn't paying a heavy price for having too few permanent roads.

There are still many sections of the country—even whole states—that are trying to operate twentieth century traffic over nineteenth century roads.

This is costing millions of dollars every year, and will keep on costing millions until we have well developed permanent highway systems everywhere.

Even what we often call the more progressive communities are far behind the demands of modern highway traffic with its 16,000,000 motor vehicles.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from Canada to Mexico, we need more Concrete roads—the roads for twentieth century traffic.

Your highway officials want to be of the greatest possible service to you. Get behind them with ways and means that will provide more Concrete roads and streets. Such an investment will pay you big dividends year after year.

See How Quickly You Can Banish Gray Hair

This Clean, Colorless Liquid Will Restore the Former Color

Amazing results are reported by thousands of people who have seen their gray hair return to its original color under the touch of the remarkable preparation known as Kolor-Bak. Many report results in a week.

In this clean, colorless liquid we have a true substitute for the natural pigmentation, which the hair has lost because of age, illness, shock, scalp disease or some other cause. Remarkable as it may seem, Kolor-Bak not only banishes the grayness, but restores the actual former color to the hair, no matter what it was—black, brown, red, auburn. And the color is uniform throughout—the hair does not appear streaked, faded or dyed.

Kolor-Bak is not sticky or mussy. It is just as easy to use as clear water. It also cleanses the head of dandruff, scurf or scale, keeps the scalp in good condition, gives the hair a beautiful, silky appearance and prevents it from becoming brittle and falling out.

As long as your hair retains its youthful appearance, you get credit for being young—and to be young is always an asset both social and business. Kolor-Bak restores gray hair to its natural color, leaving it soft, lustrous and beautiful. Kolor-Bak is a clear liquid, entirely free from grease, dye, sediment or any other objectionable feature. It cannot be detected. No need to change the style of your hair or to tell anyone what you are using. No matter what the cause of your gray hair may be, if you don't have to do anything" or experiment. Kolor-Bak and see how the lost color returns. Kolor-Bak is sold on money-back guarantee.

adopted Transportation Company, to be used in hauling rock from Catalina Island to Los Angeles, Long Beach, and San Diego for the Gradys Brothers. Each will be 150 by 36 by 10 feet and each will cost approximately $20,000, according to David P. Fleming, secretary of the Wilmington Transportation Company. The first is to be completed in sixty days, and the second in ninety. Each will carry 700 to 800 tons of rock. Mr. Fleming also announced plans for construction of another flying fish boat for Catalina Island, to be patterned after the Black W., a 240,000 craft built last spring and which proved extremely profitable at the resort this summer. The craft makes fifteen knots and carried 100 passengers. Construction work already under way, Mr. Fleming said, would give his company twenty-eight units of floating equipment, and the company is contemplating several more, he added. The new million-dollar ferry liner Catalina will go to the Los Angeles Shipyards on the 27th inst., for repairs, Southern Pacific officials announced. The boat was built, in order to put her on the summer's run. She plies on the daily run to Catalina Island, and back will be taken by the Avalon, which has just been overhauled and refurbished. The Catalina is expected back on the run by the first of the year. The liner Cabrillo of the same type undoubtedly will inaugurate a new service to the islands next June by running to and from the municipal dock at Long Beach. Progress on that city's dredging of the channel directly out to sea assures a satisfactory roadstead for the Cabrillo, Mr. Fleming said.

All employees, excepting the ball players at the Los Angeles ball park, and including everyone from ticket sellers to peanut vendors, were guests of the Pacific Portland, president of the coast league, on a trip to Catalina Island on the liner Catalina. They returned last night after trips on motor boats from Avalon to the mainland. Mr. Patrick will sail November 7 on the liner M. F. Alexander for Seattle to attend the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast League, executive committee. H. M. Ramon, vice-president and general manager of the Catalina Island company, will leave Monday week to inspect the new Avalon. The National league ball parks to ideas on which to construct the Angels' park at Thirty-ninth and South Park, beginning next spring.

Complete list of warships now on the Atlantic Coast which will join vessels of this shore in maneuvers and cruises next month, just received, includes battleship Wyoming, scheduled to sail from Balboa for Los Angeles Harbor February 15; light cruisers, thirteen destroyers, nine submarines, four light cruisers, two mine layers, the hospital steamer Relief, two store ships, one repair ship, one seaplane tender, nine mine sweepers and the base force flagship Pocahontas.

The freighters Point Lobos and Point Judith, which have been chartered and operated by Swayne & Hoyt for Gulf points, have been released from their firm from the Pacific Mail Line and will be returned shortly, Swayne & Hoyt announced yesterday. The vessels are ships of 1644 net tons and were built in 1918 in Portland.

The West Calera, operated between here and South America, sailed for Seattle on the 11th from Punta Arenas, where she had been laid up several weeks repairing a broken crank shaft, advices coming through the office of Magellan, according to word received yesterday by Swayne & Hoyt, her operators. The vessel is owned by the Shipping Board.

LETTUCE CROP GAIN EXPECTED

First National Bank Men to Attend Arizona Meeting

Gas and Electric Bonds Are Oversubscribed

Pacific-Southwest Announces Appointments

Prospects for a larger early lettuce crop have improved greatly over a month ago, according to a report of the research department of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, and the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank. Early lettuce now is being shipped from Ventura county and Northern California, but heavy output is not expected until next month.

During the early part of September it was common belief that the early crop during November and December would be quite short owing to lack of water in the Imperial Valley, which would tend to cause lighter plantings than last year. It now appears, taking the bank's report as a guide, that early shipments during those months may equal the large shipments of last year at that time.

The report continues:

"The reversal in the outlook for this crop has resulted from developments of the last month. Water conditions in the Imperial Valley became practically normal with the result that plantings were greatly increased, which, together with the ideal growing weather of the month, would seem to assure a good crop for shipment during December.

IMPERIAL CROP

"The total lettuce acreage, both early and late, will probably exceed 21,000 acres as compared with 22,597 acres last year. The valley shipments during December are not expected, however, to equal the 616-carload shipments of last year. This difference is likely to be made up by the newer producing districts which have greatly increased acreage this year, principally because it was anticipated that Imperial Valley shipments would be considerably under those of last year.

"The San Luis Obispo district, including Guadalupe and neighboring communities, has increased plantings of about 133 per cent and will probably ship approximately 250 cars in November, as compared with 115 cars last November, and 120 cars in December as compared with fifty-two cars for that month last year.

"Arizona has increased plantings of early lettuce more than 50 per cent over last year and efforts are being made to get the crop onto the market earlier than usual. Last year the first shipments occurred during the last week in November. Arizona may increase her December shipments about one-third over last year or may ship 350 cars as compared with 285 last December. About 4000 acres are planted to early lettuce, which in Arizona is considered to include all lettuce for shipment prior to about the middle of March.

MARKETS FAVORABLE

"Market conditions at the present time are quite favorable to the growers and indications point to a continuation of good prices for some time to come. However, the lettuce shipments are in no way regulated through an association and frequently the market is oversupplied.

"The lettuce industry has developed rapidly in the Pacific-Southwest territory during the last four years. The California crop last year had a value to the growers of $7,896,000, and that of Arizona, $581,000. California produced 5483 crates of lettuce last season as compared with 13,270 crates for the entire United States, which had a value of $17,506,000. The California crop in 1920 had a value of $4,475,000.

"About 90 per cent of California's lettuce acreage has been in the Imperial Valley during the past several years. New districts are increasing their acreage considerably, particularly the San Luis Obispo district. Oxnard and San Fernando Valley have also increased plantings. The districts adjacent to Los Angeles are gradually diminishing their production because the land has been taken and continues to be taken for urban purposes."

ELLIOTT TO SPEAK

Three officers of the First National Bank of Los Angeles will attend the Arizona State bankers' convention in Prescott, the 24th and 25th insts. They are J. M. Elliott, chairman of the board of directors, W. H. Thomson and J. E. Barber, vice-presidents.

Mr. Elliott, who this month reached his eightieth year, and who is known as the dean of Southern California bankers, while not on the program, will be called upon by the president of the association to address the convention.

Mr. Barber, who was technical assistant to the United States members of the committee of experts appointed by the Reparation Commission, which evolved the Dawes plan now in effect, will speak before the convention on the 25th inst. His subject will be "American Investment Abroad."

Mr. Thomson came to the First National Bank from Arizona.

EXPANSION PLANNED

The issue of $6,000,000 general and refunding mortgage 5 1-2 per cent gold bonds, series I, of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, offered yesterday by a syndicate of bankers including Bond & Goodwin & Tucker, Inc., Mercantile Securities Company, E. H. Rollins & Sons, Harris Trust and Savings Bank, and Blyth, Witter & Co., has been substantially oversubscribed. It was announced yesterday by the syndicate managers.

The recent power shortage has caused the electrical department of the company to be operated at full capacity all summer. The output of this department will be largely increased with the completion of the Seal Beach plant the coming year. This will have an ultimate capacity of 255,000 horsepower.

The company has also acquired a 125-acre site in the Bandini tract on which it is proposed to build a complete gas plant. This is a part of the company's development plans.

The following appointments were announced yesterday by the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank officials, following a meeting of the board of directors:

A. H. Nieter and Charles B. Worsnop, assistant cashiers, head office, Los Angeles; Homer Simmons, assistant cashier, Community Branch, Whittier; L. D. Webster, First Branch, Santa Paula. Mr. Webster is also an assistant cashier; W. W. Smith, assistant manager, Calipatria Branch; H. S. Spencer, assistant cashier, Visalia Branch; A. J. Jessen, manager, savings department, Fidelity Branch, Fresno; Harry H. Culver, local vice-president and chairman of executive committee, Culver City Branch. This branch has not as yet been opened.

Harry M. Gentry, trust officer; Mark Bradley, escrow officer, and assistant cashier; Miss Brenda L. Moody, assistant escrow officer; R. C. Smitheram, assistant secretary, and assistant cashier; and Daniel Nugent, assistant cashier.

MARKET NEWS

Dividend announcements and ticker news received yesterday over the private wires of A. A. Housman & Co. follow:

Centrifugal Pipe Corporation declared an initial quarterly 37½-cent dividend, payable November 15 to stockholders of record November 7. This organization succeeded the Centrifugal Cast Iron Pipe Company of New Jersey.

The board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange has approved a revision in the schedule of commissions, which it is estimated, will advance commissions an average of about 10 per cent.

STREET CAR ILLS TOLD

Gates of Customer-Ownership Field Apparently Barred; Peculiar Problems in Los Angeles

BY EARLE E. CROWE

George J. Kuhrts, vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation, readily explains why his company has not entered the list of public utilities which finance extensions and improvements through sale of stock to the public and employees. It is not because the company is ignorant of the value of the good will such a wide-flung financial interest brings, or would rather tread its path unaided by anyone else's money. His succinct answer is, "We can't make the public an attractive proposition."

This is the reaction of the Los Angeles Railway to a recommendation made by a special committee at the annual convention of the American Electric Railway Association concluded recently in Atlanta, Ga. This committee expressed the hope that new financing on the part of street railway companies would take the form of customer and employee-ownership campaigns.

Where public utilities, especially the hydroelectric and gas companies, have been able to earn a return on their property valuation corresponding to the rates fixed by the State Railroad Commission, the customer-ownership campaigns have been pushed vigorously and with commendable success. These plans are dependent entirely on the ability of the companies to earn returns fair enough to invite the public to share profits as stockholders.

POPULAR APPEAL ABSENT

But, as Mr. Kuhrts points out, the extension of this system to transportation companies is not warranted. The steam railroads, because of the continuous rain of legislative attacks inspired by the radical group, and an inability to earn the 5½ per cent on property valuation set by the Interstate Commerce Commission, have not ventured into this field. Their capital stocks are not popular, and consequently the customer-ownership field remains closed to the railroads. The street railways are in a similar situation.

The Los Angeles Railway Corporation is permitted to earn 8 per cent on its valuation, but is not able to pay dividends on its common stock, and hasn't since 1914. Why this is so is outlined expertly by Mr. Kuhrts, who has made an exhaustive study of street railway operations in the leading cities of the country.

The crux of the trouble from a transportation standpoint is that Los Angeles is scattered from the mountains to the sea. To adequately serve the population the railway company has been compelled to build costly trackage extensions and construct a large number of new and modern cars to handle the enormous increase in population. Rates have not risen in correspondence with these expenditures and the company is left to labor under a growing burden.

If Los Angeles would grow in one spot, or in one definite area the railway officials would be immensely satisfied. Under present conditions of development they hesitatingly thrust their tracks in one direction to handle a seeming expansion of business, and then find they have guessed wrong. And when these new tracks are installed, the average ride is so long that the profit is illusory. Nothing has pleased Mr. Kuhrts more than the decisive expansion here in apartment-house construction. The dwellers in these buildings are profitable customers for the street car because they add to the density of the population.

Co-ordination of bus service with the street car has been carried farther in Los Angeles than in most cities. This development was emphasized in one of the resolutions adopted by the conference in Atlanta, and advocated as a salutory improvement. The local company has over $2,000,000 in motor busses from which a profit is yet to be realized. The theory held by the local company is that the bus service is a valuable adjunct to the street car in the outlying districts, even though the return may be inadequate.

BARRIERS TO GOAL

Another one of the street-railway troubles receiving the attention of the Atlanta conference was the moot question of free rides. This body pointed out that if costs the profit of four average rides to carry one person free and recommended that the free rides to policemen, firemen and other city employees be abolished. The Los Angeles Railway officials fully agree with this expression, but are unable to offer a solution. A similar burden is the cost of paving borne by the railways, which, in their opinion, is inequitably distributed.

These, and a multitudinous list of other ills, are cited by Mr. Kuhrts as reasons to effectually bar the Los Angeles Railway from the Elysium of good will obtainable through customer ownership. Their existence has not, however, deprived this company and others from persistent efforts to gain public favor. A Texas company has emblazoned its cars with the happy slogan of "Howdy, glad to see you," which won it a host of friends and the Coffin prize for the best-conducted railway in 1924.

BAD CHECKS

A number of reports have been made to the police forgery detail regarding the activities of an Ivah Goen, alias Ivah Goen Carlton, alias Ivah Geen Kelsey, wanted for passing bad checks. This woman is said by the police to travel with a man named Kelsey and sometimes issues checks on a bank in Indianapolis, where she formerly made her home. She is described as follows: American; age, 30; height, 5 feet 4 inches; weight, 120 pounds; has very dark red hair; brown eyes; small features and medium complexion.

Kelsey is described as an American, 34 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches in height, weight 160 pounds; has scar on side of face, small moustache, dark hair and dark complexion; when last seen was wearing a dark green suit.

FARMERS URGED TO ENTER TRADE

Liquid Assets Essential for Financial Safety

Rail and Industrial Bonds Held Best Buy

Community Application of New Thought Advised

Advice for farmers to invest in liquid reserves instead of accumulating more land and materials pertaining to cultivation of the soil and the growing of crops is offered by Benjamin M. Anderson, Jr., economist of the Chase National Bank of New York, as a cure for the perennial financial difficulties in which the American tiller is involved.

In short, Mr. Anderson says to the farmer:

"Go into business!"

The economist seizes upon good railroad and industrial bonds as the safest and most dependable means for an outlet for the surplus cash of the crop grower, available, of course, when prices for farm commodities are at a peak period.

The pith of his comment is contained in the following paragraphs:

TECHNIQUE LACKING

Agriculture has much to learn from industry and commerce in the matter of financial technique. Liquid investments and the importance of liquidity are little understood in agricultural regions.

The farmer is liquidating this year. His larger income, very much better than for several years, is being used very generally in paying off bank loans, arrearages on interest, and debts to merchants, fertilizer companies, farm machinery companies and others. In some sections, however, he has surprlus funds after these creditors are cared for, and with another good year this would be true in many sections.

The country banker, supplementing his information by consulting his city correspondent, will be the farmer's best adviser on the problem of: In what should he invest his surplus funds?

HAPPY MEDIUM

Another translation of Mr. Anderson's message lies in the maxim, itself of the farm, "Don't put your eggs in one basket." In endeavoring to strike a happy medium of financial operation for the agriculturist, Mr. Anderson has the following to say:

"Twenty-five cent sugar was financially disastrous in Cuba. The high prices of grain and live stock, through 1915-19, left our farmers in a most vulnerable financial position. Obviously, if they had used the profits of 1915-19 to pay off debts and to pile up liquid reserves in the form of marketable investments, they would be better off today than they were in 1913. A great many businesses did precisely that thing, examples being the United States Steel Corporation and the Utah Copper Company.

"As intelligent men, our farmers invest in the things they know and understand, namely, land and mortgages on land. The farmer with surplus funds thinks first of land.

"In individual cases, it often is wise to buy land or to lend on farm mortgages. But when an agricultural community as a whole receives a large volume of new funds through a sharp rise in prices of farm products, a sharp rise in land prices is almost inevitable. Mortgages are not paid off. Rather, active and successful farmers use their profits as margins and buy more land, partly on borrowed money. The more prudent elements of the community distrust the higher values at first, but as actual sales at higher prices take place in sufficient number, new standards are created and the community comes to believe in the permanence of the new values. New loan standards are also created. Perspective is lost.

REACTION IS FEARED

"It is easy to go into debt for the purchase of land and finally a boom psychology is created in which the whole structure, both of land values and of loans on land, may become very unreasonably high. When reaction comes, such communities are very ill prepared to meet it.

"The farmer can learn to take account of the fact that there are alternations in business, that sharp booms are usually followed by sharp reactions, and that when reactions come liquid cash and marketable securities are very useful.

"He has often been the victim of enthusiastic salesmen of speculative stocks, and the banking fraternity should be alert to guard him against this in the future. The short-term Liberty Bonds and local school district warrants, in well-managed districts, are excellent. Both are acceptable as collateral at the country bank in time of financial pressure, since both are very acceptable as collateral when the country banker wishes to borrow from his city correspondent. Every country banker can have a list of good railroad and industrial bonds (of fairly short maturity so as to avoid the risk of wide market fluctuations with changing interest rates,) which he can recommend to his customers as suitable for a liquid reserve.

MORTGAGES FAIL

"Local mortgages, however good, do not meet the requirement of liquidity, and while excellent as a source of income for retired farmers, do not constitute a suitable emergency reserve for the active farmer. Savings and time deposits with the country bank constitute a satisfactory reserve for the individual farmer, and also for the community as a whole, if the country banker uses them to buy outside commercial paper, bank acceptances, and marketable securities. They should not be tied up unduly in local mortgages.

"The present artificially cheap money, which has so greatly reduced the yield on securities, acceptances, and commercial paper, is a very severe handicap to the country banker who wishes to keep the savings and time deposits of his community in liquid investments. Mortgages now yield so much more than do liquid investments, that the temptation to buy mortgages is very great. There is special need to be on guard lest the present artificial excess of short-time funds in the financial centers overflow into real estate mortgages and generate an unsound boom in farm lands."

The Last Great Stand

The Pacific Northwest is commanding the attention of lumbermen throughout the United States because it is here that the last remaining extensive bodies of timber exist.

The Pacific Spruce Corporation owns several large tracts of timber in Lincoln County, Oregon, of which approximately thirty per cent is spruce.

All tracts of the company are well above the average in stand per acre and in portions exceed any known world supply in both amounts and quality.

For milling purposes the former plant of the Spruce Productions Division of the U. S. Government at Toledo, Oregon, has been acquired and greatly improved.

The present maximum capacity of the mill is 1,000,000 feet per day.

POST-POLL REVIVAL OF TRADE SEEN

Bradstreet's Review of Week Has Pronounced Note of Optimism

Bradstreet's weekly review of business conditions in Los Angeles has a more optimistic tone. It is as follows:

"While business appears more favorable than during the summer season, caution is displayed in buying. Wholesalers report this is due to nearness of the national elections after which considerable activity can be expected. Christmas orders now placed compare favorably with a year ago. Plumbing supply houses still find sales 35 and 50 per cent less than the same period a year ago, with collections but fair. Lumber sales are one-third off in volume, with collections improved. Women's wear sales have increased, the weather helping. Collections are below normal. Department stores report the sales volume better than a year ago, due to bargains and continual sales. Wholesale shoes show a small increase. Prices are a little lower and collections satisfactory.

"Real estate is moving with better market expectations after election, when railroads predict an influx of winter residents. The horticultural Commissioner of Kern county estimates the crop of fall navel oranges will total 400 carloads. Banks report increased deposits. Loans are in good shape. This report is confirmed by the recent showing of national banks on call of the Comptroller of the Currency. The weather remains good. Apple and pear receipts good. The demand is fair. Prices are steady."

Sluggish Market

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Bond prices drifted aimlessly in today's quiet trading session. Railroad issues worked moderately higher and sugar company bonds were conspicuously weak but prices in other departments of the list fluctuated within narrow limits.

Reports of heavy freight traffic for the week ended the 11th inst., during which car loadings reached a new peak for the year, provided the incentive for fresh buying of railroad obligations. Maximum gains were limited to a point.

Weakness of the sugar issues was attributed to reports of heavy stocks of the commodity held by Germany and other European countries. Several bonds dropped to new 1924 levels. Punta Alegre 7s, Manati 7 1-2s and Camaguey 7s declined from fractions to 2 points.

German bonds were fairly active above 94 and other foreign obligations held firm.

Tomorrow's bond offerings include $5,000,000 American Power and Light ninety-two-year 6s, priced at 94 1-2 to yield 6.35 per cent, and $4,735,000 City of Chicago 4 per cent bonds maturing from 1927 to 1943, priced to yield 3.50 to 4 per cent.

Following are yesterdays' high, low and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange, and the total sales of each bond. This market is over Associated Press wires and to expedite transmission the closing is omitted when it is the same as the low, and both low and close are omitted when they are the same as the high.

NEW YORK CURB

Oils Gain Favor

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Further accumulation of the oil shares, based on the publication of statistics showing a decrease in crude production for the fifth consecutive week was the outstanding development in today's curb market. Several pipe line shares, such as Northern, Southern and New York Transit, Illinois Pipe Line and Buckeye advanced 1¾ to 5 points, while Imperial of Canada, South Penn and Standard Oil of Nebraska gained 1 point or so. Many other active shares improved fractionally.

Radio shares, with a few exceptions, lost ground on profit taking, Radiolac was the exception, about a point back. United Bakeries continued its advance, selling at 121 and then slipping back to 120, up 1 on the day. Dun, Goodyear Tire and Swift International were heavy. Middle West Utilities forfeited 2¾ points of yesterday's 3-point gain, most of the other public utilities moving within narrow and irregular limits.

Following are the closing quotations on the New York Curb Market, furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 634 South Spring street:

IRON TRADE LAGS UNTIL VOTE OVER

New Pricing Bases Are Deterrent Factors; Rails Bought Actively

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND (O.) Oct. 23.—"More and more the influence of the approaching Presidential election upon the immediate action of buyers and sellers of iron and steel is apparent," Iron Trade Review states. "While in a large measure this is sentimental in character, for the moment it is a positive factor in the further development of the market. Added to the continuing unsettlement due to readjustments caused by new pricing methods, it is causing final decisions to be held in abeyance on important requirements and some reservations to be attached to orders for delivery in the near future.

"Although its recent expansion seems halted, going business seems well maintained on the scale of the past few weeks. Sellers of steel do not regard unfavorably the conservative attitude of buyers in ordering steel for the future. Some automobile companies desiring to place accessories for 1925 have found makers of steel will not go beyond the first quarter and want at least an advance of $2 a ton for that period.

"Some eastern steel consumers are complaining to the Federal Trade Commission that certain steel companies in the East still are using the Pittsburg base under other forms. Mills in the Chicago district are beginning to fill up so that it is less easy to give immediate delivery. This raises the interesting possibility that western buyers may be forced shortly to go east for their remaining supplies, as far east as Pittsburg and pay prices equal to or higher than those recently quoted under Pittsburg plus. Agitation for lower freight rates on steel by independent producers and various consumers is taking definite form through the calling of a conference at Pittsburg the 30th inst., of iron and steel traffic men in the Pittsburg, Wheeling and Youngstown districts.

"The outstanding exception to any evidence of hesitation is offered by the railroads. The past week saw an unusually large tonnage of rails placed totaling over 250,000 tons. This brings rail sales in the past thirty days well over 500,000 tons. The Chicago and Northwestern is figuring on 3200 cars and it is again reported that the Baltimore and Ohio is considering 8000. More car material has been placed at Chicago, where 175,000 to 185,000 tons have been placed since September 1 for this purpose. Building steel awards in September totaled 174,200 tons, or 67 per cent of shop capacity, the best month in six months excepting July Independent sheet and mill sales in September totaled 227,520 tons, or 79 per cent of capacity, the best month since March."

The Iron Trade Review, composite of fourteen leading iron and steel products this week is $38.65, identical with last week and comparing with $42.84 last October.

FLAXSEED MARKET

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DULUTH (Minn.) Oct. 23.—There was a large increase in the amount of flaxseed offered on the market here today and the trade backed away, awaiting an anticipated drop in prices, but the decline was less than expected, ranging from 1¼c to 1¾c, not enough to induce any liberal buying movement. Close: October, 2.47; November, 2.47½; December, 2.45¾; May, 2.46¾; track, 2.47@2.49; arrive, 2.47.

Minneapolis fairseed demand fair to good; No. 1 seed, quot. 2.44@2.48½; to arrive, 2.43@2.44½; receipts, 65 cars; last year, 43 cars.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Holly Development struck a snag yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange in the form of profit-taking and ended the day 5 cents lower than the final price of the previous session. Opening at 1.18, the gathering of selling orders quickly broke through the buying support, and final quotation declined to 1.13.

Henderson Petroleum, a new listing, started at 60 and in a few jumps attained a price of 75. Standard of California finished ½ higher at 58⅝, and Union of California sold unchanged at 131⅝. Union Oil Associates advanced ¼ to 58⅝, while United Oil was unchanged at 39¾.

Merchants' National Bank climbed 2 points to 205. Globe Grain and Milling common sold at 54½, and Oatman United lost ½ cent at 14½. Gold dust was quoted at 3 cents.

Bond sales reached a total volume of $134,000. San Joaquin "B" 6s of 1952 sold up ¼ to 99¾ and the series "C" 6s of 1950 advanced the same amount to 101¼. Union of California 5s of 1931 were unchanged at 99¾. Associated Oil 6s of 1935 moved up ¼ to 101¼.

PRODUCE MARKET

Trading yesterday was moderate. Supplies continued liberal and the market steady. Most fruits were unchanged in price. The first of the Arizona grapefruit were on the market but were selling slowly as the trade prefers local seedless fruit of the old crop to seed-bearing varieties. Seedless grapefruit from Arizona are expected by the first of the month. Pears and potatoes were slightly lower. Other vegetables were about steady.

Actual prices obtained yesterday by Los Angeles jobbers from their sales to retailers, peddlers, restaurants, as compiled by the United States Bureau of Markets, were:

Oil Output Falls for Fifth Weekly Period

Rich Move in Rails; Wool Driven Lower

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The upward movement of stock prices was impeded today by the short selling of sugars and certain specialties and profit-taking in some of the mills, oils and other recent market leaders, with the result that the general list presented a highly irregular aspect. With the buying support of certain groups temporarily having spent its force, the closing of business naturally fell off, the day's sales aggregating 2,000,000 shares.

The news was largely favorable, it included the publication of figures showing a decrease in coal production for the fifth consecutive week and the establishment of a new high record for this year in the freight car loadings for the week in October. The outstanding feature of the freight car movement was the fact that the volume of general merchandise loaded in these carload freight were the largest of any week in history. Bethlehem Steel common closed today at 39 1-4, as against a record low of 37 3-4 established yesterday. United States Steel common yielded fractionally at times.

NEW HIGHS HIT

A public demonstration in Maxwell motor issues sent the "A" stock up nearly 5 points to 66¾ and the "B" up 1¾ to 21 1-4, each new 1924 highs. Some of the normally inactive specialties to go through their previous maximum were Brown Shoe preferred, Orpheum Circuit, International Nickel and Remington Arms first preferred.

Control of the Southern assumed a new dignity of the railroad group, moving up nearly 2 points to a record high at 34 3-4, and then receding slightly.

Rubber, oil and merchandising issues were fairly good exhibitions of strength.

Sugar Trust Woolen was hammered down more than 3 points to 41 on unconfirmed rumors that the company would have to write down its loss on inventory adjustments, selling a point from the low set by the close. Sugars continued to point to predictions of a cut in the American Sugar Refining quarterly and making another new low at 44 and then rallying above 33 with a small fractional gain on the day.

Sterling money ruled unchanged at 4.84 for cable cent. The time money and commercial paper rates were quiet, with rates holding steady.

Foreign exchange rates turned irregular and reactionary in dull trading. French sterling dropping about a point to the record around 5.33 cents, off 2 points. South American exchanges were firm.

PREPARE FOR APPLE SHOW

THREE RIVERS, Oct. 23.—Last preparations for the annual apple festival to be staged at Kaweah Park, near here, by growers of Three Rivers, the Three Rivers Chamber of Commerce and Three Rivers Woman's Club, are rapidly being made. This event opens Friday, the 24th inst., continuing until Sunday evening.

Near-by towns are aiding in its success and hundreds of people are expected from all parts of the valley.

Exeter Chamber of Commerce will have charge of entertainment features Friday evening, while the Visalia organization will act on Saturday evening. Music for dancing on both evenings will be furnished by the harmonizers of Visalia. On Sunday evening the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce will direct entertainment.

Numerous individual and community booths have been prepared, and while apples of all varieties will occupy chief attention, many other products of the section will also be displayed. A special feature this year will be apple products, including cider, apple butter, apple pie, jelly, etc. Free booklets containing appetizing apple recipes will be distributed to visitors. Home-cooked food will be served, with apples a prominent part in the menu.

ASSOCIATION MEETS

VISALIA, Oct. 23.—The annual meeting of the Tulare County Tuberculosis Association was held this evening at Motley's in Visalia. Reports of work of the organization throughout the year were given, the financial statement was read and plans discussed for the new year's campaign.

TAKE STOCK HOME

CALIFORNIA HOT SPRINGS Oct. 23.—Forest reserves in Tulare county are practically free of all stock, according to reports of the Forest Service office still in summer quarters here. Under forest regulations all stock is supposed to be off of the forest reserves by the 15th inst., when the season closes, and any scattering herds now there are believed to be en route to home pastures.

Stockmen kept their herds on the reserves a month longer than usual this season on account of poor grazing conditions, but violations of the rule have been of little consequence, according to reports.

BAG BIG GAME

LINDSAY, Oct. 23.—Close of the deer season was marked with return here of a party of hunters from the Modoc country with five deer, consisting of one five-point, two four-point, one three-point and one corked horn. The party included Howard Main, Kyle Buckmaster, Robert Witmar, William Owen and Barry Chambers. Buckmaster reported that they saw no signs of any sick deer in the region.

STUDY FRUIT PACKING

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 23.—Anticipating the opening of the citrus packing season here on November 1, officials of the Tule River Citrus Association have gone to Los Angeles to study conditions in packinghouses there. The party includes: Hobart Webster, president; Frank Wilson, manager; Clayton Schmittou, field superintendent; W. H. Ferguson, house foreman.

SUCCESSFUL HUNTERS

TERRA BELLA, Oct. 23.—At the close of the deer season a number of local nimrods succeeded in bagging bucks in the High Sierras. John J. Gerdes got two bucks at Frog Meadows; Carl E. Gerdes got one, Henry H. Rickles one, and Edward Wolfram one. At Parson's Mill, Leslie W. Cuckolls bagged two. In the Huntington Lake region Arthur L. Brooks bagged one buck. Brooks sighted a band of five bucks but succeeded in getting only one.

PHYSICIAN STRICKEN

DINUBA, Oct. 23.—Dr. C. A. Tillottson, who has been very ill ever since returning from the Masonic Grand Lodge in Los Angeles, has been taken to San Francisco for special treatment. He was escorted by his associate, Dr. L. L. Seligman. Dr. Tillotson had just recovered from a former illness sufficiently to be active when he took the trip south.

SAN JOAQUIN TO BE TRADE AREA

Merchants to Get Even Break With San Francisco

Truck Company to Cut Rate by 20 Per Cent

Schedule to Rich Valley to be Speeded Up, Also

Calculated to attract an increased volume of San Joaquin Valley business to Los Angeles that will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for local jobbers and manufacturers, highway transportation rates between the two points will be lowered approximately 20 per cent, effective November 7, it was announced last night by the Hodge Transportation System.

It will mark the first time in the history of local industrial activities that Los Angeles will be able to get into the San Joaquin Valley on an equality with San Francisco in truck transportation, according to W. S. Wheaton, a director of the Hodge concern. In fact, Los Angeles jobbers and manufacturers will have the "edge" on the northern city, because, in addition to the freight-rate reduction, the time schedule is to be speeded up to that of San Francisco service, with store-door deliveries. San Francisco wholesalers make rail depot deliveries.

The volume of San Joaquin Valley purchases in Los Angeles will increase about 40 per cent, it is estimated, mainly in hardware, drygoods and general merchandise.

NEW TERRITORY

"From a business standpoint," said Mr. Wheaton, "this rate reduction is tantamount to the opening of a new territory for Los Angeles. We noticed that motor trains left Los Angeles for Fresno, Tulare and Bakersfield with 20 per cent loads and returned with 100 per cent loads. That meant that Los Angeles was the San Joaquin Valley's best market, while the valley was buying in San Francisco.

"There were various factors that mitigated against Los Angeles merchants and manufacturers in favor of San Francisco. San Francisco had a downhill low grade to the valley. Los Angeles has a steep pull over the mountains. So San Francisco could load motor trains this afternoon and deliver at Fresno or Tulare tomorrow morning, while if Los Angeles loaded this afternoon the delivery would not be until the following morning. San Francisco also had a lower transportation rate.

"We asked Los Angeles shippers what kind of service they wanted. They said to put them on an equality with San Francisco on rates. We went that request one better by speeding up schedules to a par with San Francisco and making store-door deliveries, thereby putting Los Angeles in a position to get its share of San Joaquin Valley business. That business should be good, too, as the valley has the most prosperity in three years with good cotton and a good figure for green grapes.

"The valley buyers were willing to patronize Los Angeles. Modernizing the highway system has permitted the rate reduction. San Joaquin Valley's prosperity will unquestionably reflect on Los Angeles henceforward."

INDICTED IN ASSAULT

Two Bills Returned by Grand Jury Against Men Accused by Girl

Indictments were returned by the grand jury yesterday against M. E. Scouwyler and Al Lloyd, charging them with a criminal attack on Jeannie Diane, a motion-picture extra. The indictments were returned in Judge Avery's department of the Superior Court. Shortly thereafter Scouwyler was rearrested on a warrant based on the indictment and furnished $5000 cash bail to insure his presence in court for arraignment.

Lloyd was arrested in Salt Lake City, but Utah authorities have refused to have him extradited. Miss Diane charges that the two men took her to a Washington Boulevard roadhouse and there attacked her.

THEFT SUSPECT HELD AT SALT LAKE CITY

Arrest of Denny Murphy in Salt Lake City was reported yesterday in a telegram from the Chief of Police of that city to Acting Captain Cato and Detective Lieutenant Curtis. Curtis declared Murphy is one of three men who robbed Benjamin Boyd, 529 Douglas Building, last August, getting a diamond ring worth $8000. George Sang is awaiting trial here for the offense. The third man, said to be Jimmy Bates, is still at large, Curtis said.

GRAUMAN TO ARRIVE TODAY

Sid Grauman, Los Angeles theater owner, and his mother, Mrs. D. J. Grauman, are expected to arrive on the Union Pacific today at 2:30 p.m. from New York. Grauman and his mother recently returned to the United States after three months spent in Europe.

GEM ROBBER IS CAPTURED; ROPE CLEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Oct. 23.—Capture of Paul Latimer, alias Alfred Mosquera, was effected by Undersheriff Clifton Taylor today just as the hunted man was about to leave a garage. Tuesday night Latimer entered Marshall's jewelry store by the roof and used a rope to let himself down into the place, where he took $5000 in diamonds and escaped.

Just after the proprietor had left for supper he went in and took the gems from the show window in sight of passers-by. The rope led to his capture. It was traced to a hardware store at Arroyo Grande where a clerk furnished a description and then Sheriff Taylor and his deputies began to run down every clew. Latimer was found to be staying at a leading hotel where he posed as an eastern student. He lives in Hollywood, although he gives Pasadena as his home address.

After the theft Latimer returned to his hotel, put the gems in a small cloth bag and went to the skylight and threw them onto the roof where they were found today after he had made a complete confession.

Latimer is the son of a prominent New York City family, and it is claimed his father is connected with the R. G. Dun Company there. He attended college two years in New York and appears to be unusually bright.

COLUMBARIUM FOR CINERARY URNS

California Mausoleum Company Provides Fitting Arrangements in Its Beautiful Hollywood Building for the Permanent Disposition of Ashes

The practice of cremation is growing in America. Grave burial, with its many disadvantages, and unpleasant implications, as well as its menace to the living is appearing less and less desirable to thoughtful people. Although it is widely conceded that crypt interment, under proper conditions, provides the best and most respectful disposition of the bodies of the beloved dead, there are some people to whom cremation seems preferable. The difficulty arising from this practice is found in the reverent preservation or fitting disposition of the ashes.

At the stately Mausoleum in Hollywood Cemetery a Columbarium has been erected. The materials used are chaste white marble, beveled plate glass and solid bronze. Here niches may be purchased for the reception of cinerary urns, providing a dignified and permanent resting-place for the ashes. Surroundings are quiet, peaceful, beautiful—all that could be desired. The temple-like building is itself under perpetual and responsible care.

A special booklet has been issued picturing the Columbarium, the many designs in bronze urns available, and giving details of arrangements, costs, etc. Those interested are invited to ask for a copy. Address, California Mausoleum Co., 206 Harris Bldg., 110 West 11th St. Phone MAin 1534.—[Advertisement.

THE WEATHER
[Official Report]

LOCAL OFFICE, U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, Los Angeles, Oct. 23.—[Reported by H. B. Hersey, Meteorologist.] At 5 o'clock a.m. the barometer registered 30.04; at 5 p.m., 29.97. Thermometer for the corresponding hours showed 51 deg. and 64 deg. Relative humidity, 5 a.m., 96 per cent; 5 p.m., 64 per cent. Wind, 5 a.m., northeast, velocity 5 miles; 5 p.m., west, velocity 6 miles. Temperatures, highest, 71 deg.; lowest, 49 deg. Rainfall for season, .21 of an inch; last season to date, .58 of an inch. Barometer reduced to sea level.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.—With the exception of light showers at some stations in Florida and on the North Pacific Coast, fair weather prevailed generally over the whole country yesterday. A strong field of high pressure remained nearly stationary over the great central valleys Tuesday and Wednesday, giving cool weather in that region, with frost in many localities in the northern portion. In Southern California clear weather prevailed Wednesday, with moderate temperature. It was clear yesterday morning, except near the coast, where fog or clouds were reported generally. Fair weather may be expected in this vicinity today, with moderate temperatures.

SUN, MOON AND TIDES.—Los Angeles, Oct. 24: Sun rises 6:06 a.m., sets 5:09 p.m. Moon rises 2:09 a.m., sets 3:15 p.m. Los Angeles Harbor, Oct. 24: High tides, 6:35 a.m. and 6:44 p.m.; low tides, 12:39 a.m. and 12:34 p.m.

GENIAL HOST IS GIVEN BAD JOLT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—There were at least 200 patrons, men and women, at luncheon in the Hotel town Restaurant at 56 East Forty-first street, which is a fashionable rendezvous for those of the Park avenue and Murray Hill regions, at midday, when Prohibition Agent Karl Rosen, John Fitzpatrick and Charles Leap entered the place. They were "all dressed up" with canes and everything.
Rosen went to John Hine, the manager, who was behind the bar, gave him a hearty handshake and announced himself and his friends as "Canadian buyers," to whom the restaurant had been very highly recommended.
GET REAL SERVICE
Hine, delighted, showed them to a table and enjoined them to order to give them exceptional service. Rosen at once ordered three dollar highballs at $1.50 apiece, and then two more rounds were ordered. With luncheon they had Canadian ale at $1.50 the bottle.
Not long after that Rosen went to Hine, saying that he must close up his office, adding, after the telephone call, that he must get "right down to Wall street" to look after some of his investments.
Instead of going to Wall street he went to United States Commissioner Boyle and obtained a warrant to search the restaurant. His fellow-agents awaited his return, which was in about half an hour. He then went up to Hine and asked him how he had made out.
"Fine," Rosen replied, and slapped the search warrant on the manager's desk. Hine almost fainted.
Instructions were given by Rosen that the patrons in the place should be notified of the presence of the prohibition officers and asked to leave as soon as they could. All were out in about twenty minutes, and then Rosen and his brother officers went through the restaurant.
FIND $50,000 STOCK
In the cellar were found three cases of Scotch, seventy-five barrels of Canadian ale and 150 cases of beer. In a room upstairs labeled "Paint Supplies"—suggestive of the rosy conviviality of prohibition days—they came upon twenty-five cases marked "Maids Lunch"—another suggestion of Prohibition—which contained Scotch whiskey. There were also fifteen cases of rye whisky and a number of boxes of wines and liquors.
It was estimated that the goods were worth about $50,000. They were taken into custody for safekeeping pending action by Commissioner Hitchcock. The spirits were put in trucks and taken to the Knickerbocker warehouse.

WIFE, TIED TO BED BY MATE, GETS ALIMONY

Gordon Maxwell Christine, whose wife, Lucille Gertrude Christine, wants a divorce, because, she said in her complaint, he once tied her to a bedpost, was ordered to pay her $40 a month pending trial of her suit after a hearing in the court of Judge Guerin yesterday. In his answer Christine said he tied her to the bed to keep her from committing suicide, which she had threatened. In a cross-complaint he charged his wife with entertaining too much affection for another man.

HOTEL'S HALLOWEEN TO LAST WHOLE WEEK

Halloween will be celebrated for a whole week at the Cocoanut Grove of the Ambassador Hotel. A special party to introduce the elaborate decorations evolved for the holiday week has been arranged for next Tuesday night. College night, as usual, will be staged next Friday night. Election returns will be received at the grove on November 4, and on November 11, Armistice Day, a night pageant and masquerade show will be presented.

INCOME TAX RETURNS OF ANGELENOS ARE DISCLOSED

With the receipt of dispatches from Washington announcing that income-tax returns can be made public, the taxes paid by persons high and low in Los Angeles were disclosed at the internal revenue collector's office yesterday.
A hasty perusal of the list on file at the Federal Building resulted in not a few adjustments of popular belief on the income made by prominent persons locally as shown by their income-tax payments. Figures in all cases represent tax paid and not income received. Some of the taxes paid were as follows:

Douglas Fairbanks, $225,769.04.
Pola Negri, $14,681.39.
Jackie Coogan, $505.95.
Mrs. Lillian Coogan, mother of Jackie, $1458.45.

MRS. LESLIE HUNTINGTON TO WED

Engagement to J. R. Brehm Announced

Mrs. Leslie Green Huntington

Mrs. Leslie Green Huntington, widow of Howard Huntington, only son of Henry E. Huntington, is to remarry soon. She will wed James R. Brehm, manager of the Hollywood office of Hunter, Dulin & Co., brokers. The announcement made at Mrs. Huntington's home at Oak Knoll, Pasadena, last night, was worded simply. It read:
"Mrs. Adam T. Green announces the engagement of her daughter, Mrs. Leslie Green Huntington, to Mr. James R. Brehm. The wedding will take place in the near future."
Mr. Brehm lives at 1265 Hayworth avenue, Hollywood. He is at present in the northern part of the State on a business trip, but is expected back in a day or so.
Howard Huntington died at his Oak Knoll home March 23, 1922. Mrs. Huntington was a Berkeley girl. They were married at Berkeley in 1905, and had six children, Elizabeth, now 17 years of age; Margaret, 16; Harriet, 14; Howard, Jr., 10; Lelie Alice, 7, and Henry Edward II, 3. Mr. Huntington was vice-president and general manager of the Los Angeles Railway Corporation from 1905 to the time of his death. He had ten years of railroad experience before that with the Southern Pacific Railway Corporation of Mexico.

Huntington Park Trustee Head is Suing for Libel

Milton A. Blanchard, president of the Board of Trustees of Huntington Park, yesterday filed suit in Superior Court for $25,000 damages for asserted slander against J. A. Bowen of the suburban city.
The defendant was asserted to have falsely stated the 20th inst., that Blanchard "stole an auto and perjured himself in regard to it," also that the plaintiff had paid $1500 to "clear the matter up" and that Blanchard had gone under the assumed name of Bowen and had been indicted for embezzlement.
Blanchard asserted the alleged statements were untrue and made by the defendant, according to the complaint, to damage the plaintiff in his political and social standing.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO EFORT TO KILL GIRL

Louis Dozal pleaded not guilty yesterday to a charge of attempted murder of his sweetheart, Catalina Valdez, and Judge Hardy set the trial for November 19. In a quarrel in a taxicab September 2, last, it is charged, Dozal struck Miss Valdez on the head with a pair of pliers, so violently that the handles of the tool penetrated into her brain. In a statement to police, he said she angered him by accusing him of being unfaithful. It is asserted. Dozal knocked out the taxi driver when he attempted to interfere and ran, but was pursued and captured by workmen who heard the woman's screams.

SCHOOL PLANS PARTIES

A children's party, to which boys and girls of the ballroom dancing department are invited, will be given by Miss Elisa Ryan at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Egan School. Parents and friends of pupils of the entire school are invited to a dance and social to be given by the faculty of the institution on the evening of November 7.

SCREEN AID BODY GIVEN THOUSANDS

Unknown Donor of $10,000 Credits Assistance League Publicity to "Times"

Ten new $1000 bills floated into the treasury of the Assistance League yesterday from an unknown and anonymous donor.
The only request made by the donor was that The Times be given credit for the publicity extended to the new day nursery of the league, which plans to care for the young children of film extras and others at a cost of 10 cents to 25 cents a day, thereby permitting the mothers to find employment.
Mrs. E. P. Werner, chairman of the Day Nursery board, and recipient of the envelope containing the $10,000 gift, said yesterday:
"Everyone at the Assistance League is so grateful to The Times. On Sunday, the 12th inst., the paper carried an illustrated story about the new nursery, which caught the attention of the giver, who at once began to verify the statements that there are hundreds of motion-picture mothers in Los Angeles, fine intelligent women, anxious to make good as extras, to whom the problem of caring for the baby is uppermost. Many of these mothers have been deserted. Close investigation and the support of many leading directors confirmed a real charity that will accomplish much good in helping others to help themselves."
Alice Latimer George, secretary and sister-in-law of William De Mille, film director, has been instrumental in interesting the motion-picture forces, whereby every opportunity will be extended to these mothers for first calls.

STABBING IS EXPLAINED

W. S. Ward, former Watts newspaper publisher, who was released Wednesday by the Sheriff and the charge of stabbing Thomas J. Stevens dropped when no one appeared to swear out a complaint against him, stated last night that the altercation between himself and Stevens took place Tuesday night inside the Cole Battery Shop. The argument was the result of a disagreement between Ward and Stevens over the payment of a $250 note on which they were both liable and which is held by the bank of which Stevens is an officer, Ward said.

GOVERNMENT SCORES POINT IN NAVAL OIL LEASE SUIT

Defense Loses Hard Fight to Bar Senate Quiz Testimony; Fall Note Signature Produced

The government won an important point yesterday in the legal battle with the Doheny interests over the leases in the Elk Hills naval oil reserve when Judge McCormick cleared the way for the admission of testimony taken before the Senate investigating committee last January. Objections to the introduction of this evidence were overruled, and it is expected to be placed before the court today.
The testimony, consisting, it was said, of admissions by E. L. Doheny and of statements authorized by him at the Senate investigation, is regarded as of the highest value in establishing the government case to cancel the leases on the ground they were entered into through conspiracy and fraud.

CLIMAX TO EVENTFUL DAY

The overruling of the objections over which a battle of technicalities was fought by government and Doheny counsel during the whole of the afternoon and a part of the forenoon came as a climax to a day of important developments in the case.
Those developments included the testimony of Mrs. Doheny that a lost part of a $100,000 note given to her husband by former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall had been found, they included the refusal of Doheny and his son, Edward L. Doheny, Jr., to testify in the court, and the assertion by Doheny, Sr., that government counsel was trying to procure evidence for use in the criminal suit pending against him and his son in Washington, D. C., where the two, with Fall, have been indicted for conspiracy and bribery in connection with the negotiation of the contracts and leases.

MAY SHED LIGHT ON LOAN

The evidence, which now may go into the record unless some effective objection today be raised, is understood to contain also information that may shed more light on whether Doheny's loaning of $100,000 to Fall had anything to do with the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company and the Pan-American Petroleum Company, defendants in this suit, winning from Fall's United States department the contracts and leases which gave them virtual control of the vast quantities of oil under the Kern county naval fields.
Owen J. Roberts, government counsel, argued that the evidence was admissable because Doheny was in practical control of the companies, here defendants, because the evidence had to do with the contracts and leases, here at stake, and because Doheny was acting for the companies and in connection with the contracts and leases in the matter which precipitated the evidence sought to be introduced.

DEFENSE ARGUMENT

Frank J. Hogan, defense counsel, argued that it had not been shown in the record to date that Doheny was actually in control of the defendant companies at the time, that the evidence may have had more to do with the personal views of Mr. Doheny than with what might have been the views of the defendant companies and that for many technical reasons the evidence was not admissable in this case.
The two attorneys battled for some time and once Roberts declared that "bandying among attorneys isn't going to get us anywhere." In the end Judge McCormick ruled at once after making clear that he believed Doheny in control of the companies and acting for them in the matters at issue.
The court will adjourn this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and the trial will not be resumed until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, according to a tentative arrangement yesterday. The trial began nominally last Monday and actually on the day following.

DEFENSE SENSATION

The defense sprung a sensation in the forenoon session when it produced a bit of paper bearing Fall's signature and asserted that the paper was that part that had been torn off the $100,000 note that Fall gave Doheny for the $100,000, which Doheny loaned Fall.
Government counsel did not know the bit of paper was in existence. Doheny could not produce it before the Senate committee which early this year investigated the naval oil reserve contracts and leases between the Doheny interests and the government. In his opening statement Owen J. Roberts, government counsel in this case, asserted that the $100,000 note was unenforceable and exhibited a copy of the note showing the signature had

BOY, JOLTED FROM AUTO, IS CLAIMED

Uncle, Motorist, Did Not Know Lad Was Riding Upon Running Board

A little boy fell from an automobile yesterday at Sixteenth street and Western avenue, apparently without attracting the attention of a man who was driving the car. He was unhurt, but efforts of a passerby, Mrs. M. Black, to stop the machine failed.
Mrs. Black took the boy to Wilshire Police Station. All the officers could coax from him with candy was: "My name is Robert and I am 3 years old."
"Where is Bobby?" his sister-in-law asked.
Bomas was dumbfounded to know that the little boy had been missing since morning and that his mother thought he had gone to the beach with his uncle.
"I told him he couldn't go with me," Bomas told the distracted mother. Calls to the Police Station followed.
"Sure, we have a boy here," the police told Mrs. Bomas. Thus ended Robert's first adventure with big blue-coated men with lots of nice candy.
Robert, it was learned, decided to go to the beach anyway and sneaked behind the car and got on the running board. He was jolted off unnoticed by his uncle when the car started.

Police Supply for Crossings is Exhausted

The police department is now furnishing so many officers to guard school crossings that the traffic force is crippled and no more can be spared for such duty until the police force is increased, Capt. Cleveland Heath, head of traffic bureau, wrote the Board of Education in a letter read yesterday. The board had asked for the assignment of more officers to school crossings.
Chief Counsel Faries of the Automobile Club of Southern California asked permission to distribute through schools literature favoring the proposed bond issue to eliminate grade crossings. The board said it favored grade-crossing elimination, but would have to get the opinion of the County Counsel as to the legality of the distribution asked.

Salesman Sues Publisher on Sale of Stock

C. H. Leitch, San Diego securities salesman, yesterday brought suit in Superior Court against the Vanderbilt Newspapers, Inc., and James O. Allen, Inc., for $3280. Leitch asserted is due him as commission for the sale of stock in the Vanderbilt newspapers.
Leitch stated he enterd a contract with the defendants March 1, last, whereby he was to act as salesman for the newspaper company's stock in San Diego and was to receive 12 per cent commission as compensation.
The amount sued for, according to the complaint, is due the plaintiff as his commission on the sale the 13th inst. of $19,000 worth of stock in the newspapers corporation to Mrs. Alice C. Myers. The suit was prepared by Attorneys McCurdy and Forester.

HEROINE IN CAR FALL MAY LIVE

Chance is Seen for Woman in San Bernardino Tragedy

Mrs. Kelty Kept Niece Alive by Giving Her Own Blood

Husband Killed in Plunge of Automobile 600 Feet

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 23.—A change for the better was noted by physicians tonight in the condition of Mrs. T. G. Kelty, aged heroic woman who lay in a rugged, timber-covered canyon for three days beside her dead husband and whose blood from her slashed breasts saved her little niece, Meredith Waterbury, from death by thirst.

Although it was feared earlier today that death was near, Mrs. Kelty rallied tonight and she has an even chance for recovery, it was stated.

Suffering from shock, exposure and lack of food and water, Mrs. Kelty is said not to have received as serious internal injuries as was first thought.

Mrs. Kelty experienced a restless night. She slept under stimulants for hours after her rescue Wednesday from the canyon, but at midnight she awakened with the horrible fear that she was back in the canyon, a prisoner of its steep slopes with her dead husband and little niece. For hours she was hysterical calling for aid and imploring her relatives to come to her assistance.

Another nurse was called and a physician is continually at her bedside. The city, shocked by the terrible tragedy of the mountains, is praying that Mrs. Kelty will recover. Sympathy and grief grip the city.

Little Meredith sat up today. Her broken arm was set by physicians this morning and after a long night's sleep she was strong. In another room of her home is Mrs. Kelty, whose dramatic acts while she, herself, faced death, saved the girl. In the freezing nights in the canyon, Mrs. Kelty partly disrobed to wrap the child in her clothing. She wrapped her heavy coat about the girl and used an extra coat in the automobile that plunged down into the canyon as a shroud over the dead body of her husband, a retired business man.

In a rational moment Mrs. Kelty today said she was unconscious for hours after the car rolled backward from the grade into the canyon, a sheer drop of almost 600 feet. She was awakened, she said, by little Meredith rubbing her forehead and the barking of the little fox terrier "Jip." The dog, although half-starved and nearly mad from thirst, never left the lost party, faithful to the last. He is back at the Kelty home sleeping in his kennel.

HUNDREDS IN SEARCH

The blood from the wounds Mrs. Kelty inflicted on her breasts and arms alone saved the girl from death by thirst. Mrs. Kelty's body is too bruised to permit a close examination to determine the extent of her internal injuries, there being scarcely a spot on her body that is not black and blue.

A Coroner's inquest this morning over the body of T. G. Kelty returned a verdict of accidental death. Mrs. Kelty, the girl and the dead body of Kelty were found early yesterday morning by Harray Heap and T. E. Kelty, her oldest son, after a three-day search in which hundreds of citizens of the city participated.

The accident occurred early Sunday morning as the Keltys were en route to the crest of the mountains for an outing.

TRAFFIC DEATH TOLL FOUR

One Man Killed Instantly in Collision; Others Die at Hospitals as Result of Injuries

Four dead were the traffic toll in and near Los Angeles yesterday, according to police reports. One man was killed almost instantly. The others died at hospitals as the result of injuries received in the past few days.

The dead are:

E. Moran, 826 Spruce street.

Mrs. Y. Escovita, 1505 West Fifty-eighth Place.

Mrs. Mary Rasor, 77 years of age, 3254 Verdugo Road.

Brocks, an organist for a Pasadena theater, was killed and his companion, Miss Helen Eager, 26, suffered broken ribs and bruises, when a car in which they were riding collided with a machine early yesterday at Main street and Santa Barbara avenue. The driver of the other car, according to police, was E. Weber, 3727 Wall street. Weber was not hurt nor was his car damaged seriously. Brocks was thrown out head foremost. Miss Eager was taken to Receiving Hospital. Brocks leaves his mother, Mrs. Gladys Brocks of Hood River, Or. His body is at the J. H. Reideman undertaking rooms.

Moran died at General Hospital of injuries received on the 17th inst. when he was struck by a car driven, the police say, by Sylvester Stuart, negro, of San Diego. Moran's body is at the J. D. Button undertaking rooms.

Mrs. Escovita died at the Clara Barton Hospital. She was struck on the 19th inst. by a car said to have been driven by Clarence Bell, negro. Detective Lieutenants Schubert and Holloway placed Bell under arrest on suspicion of manslaughter.

Mrs. Rasor died at the California Lutheran Hospital of injuries received on the 18th inst. when she was hit by a car said to have been driven by J. F. Woodsun, 519 Eureka avenue. Her body is at the George B. Remington undertaking rooms.

WIFE TELLS ABOUT NOTE; GETS DIVORCE

A letter filled with endearing terms and signed "your own Anna," which came addressed to Max L. Glickman, made Mrs. Fannie Glickman suspicious, she told Judge Hollizer yesterday. So when Glickman left her she deduced that he had gone to the other woman, Mrs. Glickman said. Judge Hollizer granted her plea for a divorce.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY ATTACKED

Christensen's motion yesterday that if it is sustained all those defendants not yet tried might claim the same exemptions asked by the mail robbery suspect, and that the statute of limitations would preclude another trial in many cases.

While he enumerates a number of asserted irregularities in the forming of the grand jury, Atty. Christensen evidently mainly based his motion to quash the indictment on the assertions that instead of following the instructions of the court that the jury box be refilled with 600 names of qualified persons after the close of the January jury session, the clerk of the court drew the next jury from names remaining uncalled for during the foregoing session. The attorney also declares that A. B. Cass, jury commissioner at that time, took no part in selecting the names, as prescribed by law, and that the foreman of the jury was not appointed by the court pursuant to law.

Accompanying the petition was an affidavit by Atty. Christensen in which he asserts he conducted an exhaustive examination of the records of the July term of the Federal grand jury and questioned various court attaches and attendants in the United States Marshal's office before filing his petition, and that he was convinced that the irregularities outlined in the motion provided sufficient legal grounds to quash the indictments.

POINT SCORED BY GOVERNMENT

been torn off. It generally was supposed that the bit of paper bearing the signature had been torn off and either lost or destroyed.

The revelation came when the government placed Mrs. Doheny on the witness stand. Although Doheny, Sr., and Doheny, Jr., when they were placed on the stand just after Mrs. Doheny testified, were advised by Frank J. Hogan, their counsel, to stand on their constitutional rights and not testify, Mrs. Doheny not only testified freely, but Mr. Doheny waived the right that he had to prevent her from testifying because she was his wife. When this was done she was questioned by the government and it was on cross-examination that Mr. Hogan then produced the torn-off signature.

MRS. DOHENY EXPLAINS

Atlee Pomerene of government counsel, questioned Mrs. Doheny and she related that she and her husband were, about December 20, 1921, on a train en route to Los Angeles from New York. She said her husband showed her the $100,000 note given to him by Fall and that if anything happened to them while they were on the train—if they should be killed—executors would come into possession of the note and Fall would be even more embarrassed financially than he was when the loan was made to him.

Mrs. Doheny testified that her husband tore off the signature, retained the note and requested her to retain the signature and explained that then if anything occurred to them the note would come into possession of their son in two parts and he would understand. She said she kept the signautre with her jewels and later put it in a safety-deposit box. When it was the subject of Senate discussion early this year it was not produced. Later Mrs. Doheny found it, and somewhat astounded when she told of the finding, Pomerene asked her where it was. She said it was in Mr. Hogan's pocket.

Later Mr. Hogan exhibited it in court. Mrs. Doheny testified that the signature had been found among papers in her safety-deposit box in the presence of Charles Wellborn, one of the defense attorneys in the case. The discovery that the signature was in the box that once had been searched in vain occurred in April, this year, she testified. The senate investigation took place earlier. The fact that Doheny had made the $100,000 loan to Fall was asserted in opening statements.

The government called next for Doheny, Jr., and when he refused to testify, called for Doheny, Sr., who similarly refused to testify. In somewhat the same phrases the father and son then addressed the court.

TWO INDICTMENTS

"Since this case was filed two indictments have been filed against me personally in the District of Columbia charging offenses based on the exact transactions which are involved in this suit," said the elder Doheny, addressing the court and ignoring a question put to him by government counsel.

"Those indictments are now pending. I desired to meet the charges at Washington before this case was tried but counsel for the government objected and it was decided otherwise. In view of the pendency of those indictments, and although I assert that I am not conscious of having violated any law or transgressed any moral principle and that I am confident of being vindicated when I get my day in court in Washington, upon the advice of counsel I decline to testify in this case on the ground that any evidence I may give as to the transactions here involved may be used against me at Washington and might tend to incriminate me.

"I have been advised by my counsel that the Constitution of the United States would prohibit the attorneys for the government from doing in the trials at Washington what has been done here today, namely, caling me to the witness stand, and that my being called here by the attorneys for the government is an attempt to violate my constitutional rights and to do by indirection what the highest law of this country would not permit to be done directly."

OFFERS COPIES

Roberts offered in evidence copies of statements made by Doheny, Sr., which Doheny made voluntarily before the Senate committee regarding the contracts and leases which his companies, the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company and the Pan-American Petroleum Company, procured from the Interior and Navy Departments of which Fall and Edwin Denby, respectively, were secretaries. To those statements Hogan at once objected. There followed arguments over whether the statements should be admitted and the attorneys were arguing this question when the noon adjournment came.

Having brought out previously that Doheny, Jr., drew $100,000 from his New York bank, that Doheny, Sr., had on a demand note without interest and from which note the signature had been detached loaned $100,000 to Fall and that this took place about the time Fall and Denby closed the naval oil reserve contracts and leases with the Doheny companies, the government yesterday introduced considerable evidence having to do with personal transactions by Fall and involving a total of approximately $100,000. Previously the government introduced evidence showing that Doheny, Sr., had turned over to Doheny, Jr., approximately $100,000 some time after Doheny, Jr., had drawn the $100,000 from the bank and some time after Secretary Fall borrowed $100,000 from Doheny, Jr.

SHORTRIDGE TALKS ON TARIFF AT POMONA

POMONA, Oct. 23.—Calling on the Republicans of Pomona to do their part in sustaining Republican principles and perpetuating Republican policies by retaining President Coolidge as the Chief Executive of the United States, Senator Shortridge delivered an address to an audience of some 1500 persons composed for the most part of Republicans with a scattering of Democrats and La Follette advocates, in the Y.M.C.A. Auditorium last evening. The tariff was the main topic of the Senator's discussion.

HOTEL WORKERS TO PICNIC

A large picnic party at Brent's Mountain crags is being planned for next Sunday by the employees of the executive offices of the Ambassador and the employees have extended an invitation to their coworkers at the Alexandria. It is expected that about fifty employees and their friends will attend. Abe Lyman and his orchestra are planning to go along to furnish music.

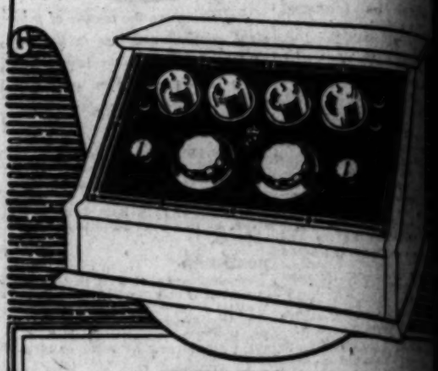
KENNEDY



A musical instrument—not a mechanical novelty

THE greatest appeal of the Kennedy is to those who love good music. For purity of tone it is peerless. Correctly tuned, it is sweet and natural—free from rasp, blare and squeals. And it is so simple to tune correctly.

When the dial setting for a certain station is once determined, that station always comes in on its same setting.

MODEL VI

shown above, has four tubes for tuning in most town stations with loud speaker volume.

Model V has three tubes. The wonderful new five-tube Model XV is ultra-selective, and is especially designed for localities where local interference is extremely serious. It will operate on an indoor aerial or loop.

Every authorized Kennedy dealer is reliable.

HE COULDN'T TELL WHAT HE'S WORTH

Difference of Mere Half Million Holds Up Wife's Suit for Alimony

Elfego Riveroll didn't know whether he was worth $1,000,000 or only $50,000 when he appeared before Judge Guerin yesterday upon the motion of Mrs. Rachel Youngblood Riveroll for alimony pending trial of her suit for divorce.

After counsel for both sides had disputed the matter for nearly an hour Judge Guerin decided that an inquiry into the value of the community estate would take half a day, and continued the hearing until today.

Riveroll, who is a well-known paving and grading contractor, declared he did not object to reasonable alimony and allowance for support of his children, but he protested against a restraining order Mrs. Riveroll obtained a few days ago, tying up all of the assets of the community estate. He declared that as a result of her action he was unable to finance his contracts and that he had been compelled to abandon, at least temporarily, negotiations for the work on the new Culver Speedway.

Mrs. Riveroll's suit, in which she named another woman and asked for a division of the community estate, is expected to develop into a bitter contest. It will not go to trial for several months, the present proceedings being only temporary.

Unpaid Alimony Cases May Fill City's New Jail

Judge Guerin yesterday promised to become one of the best contributors to the new jail in the Hall of Justice, which rapidly is nearing completion.

"It looks as if we may have to make a rule in this department that a second appearance for contempt on an alimony order will mean commitment to jail. The trouble is we would soon have the place full," he remarked, glancing out of his window at the old jail.

"But we are soon going to have a much larger one," he continued hopefully.

The case of William C. Jacquay was being heard. Jacquay was before the court on his third citation for failure to pay alimony to Mrs. Millie Jacquay, pending trial of her suit for divorce. He had a job but no money, he told Judge Guerin, whereat the court delivered his remarks about a new rule.

Jacquay was not sent to jail, however. He was given until next Wednesday to clear up his arrears.

NEEDS REPAIRS

THE WRECKING CREW

An Ohio lawyer prints on his business card: "Misfit marriages a specialty." Yes, he's a divorce lawyer. In fact, he seems to gloat over it.

RUNNING STRONG

There were nearly 100,000 visitors at the county fair in Pomona last week—thus showing that the people still have a wholesome interest in time-honored pastimes.

JUST THE SAME

The experts say that on the face of the records the best team did not win the world's pennant. Possibly the Senators carried off the flag because they were kind to dumb animals.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

In Minnesota a minister's son is running for the Senate and the father is fighting him on the billboards and in the pulpit because he is aligned with the wets. There will be no prodigal sons in that family.

THE SHELL GAME

In an English tournament a Rhode Island hen is credited with laying 312 eggs in 308 days, but we'll bet there is a catch in it somewhere. A union-labor government wouldn't stand for a hen like that.

KEEPING UP THE QUIZ

Secretary Mellon is actually assisting Senator Couzens' probing party. If the committeemen spend much time in investigating the scope and extent of the enforcement of the Volstead Act they may discover that certain members of Congress, under suspicion of having booze in the cellar, have not yet been investigated.

THE TAX BILL

Folks who have been getting valentines from the tax collector should be in position to appreciate the worth of a statesman like Calvin Coolidge, who is one of the few citizens in office who is actually achieving results in the matter of reducing taxation. With every other office-holder it seems to be a matter of soaking the taxpayer for all he will stand and then hypnotizing him into voting bonds for his grandchildren to pay.

HOLE IN THE GROUND

Even our mighty hills are shrinking. Mt. McKinley, the tallest of American peaks, is said to be collapsing at the maddening pace of two feet a year. At this rate another 10,000 years will find the mountain only useful for cellars and post holes. It will be a gash instead of a peak. Won't somebody organize a society for the preservation or conservation of Mt. McKinley? If 1000 able-bodied men would each volunteer to push a wheelbarrow load of dirt to the top of the mountain its present noble stature could be maintained indefinitely.

A DERBY WINNER

A New York man was hurled ten feet in a motor collision and lit on his head against a stone wall. He picked himself up and walked off unhurt—thanks to a shock-absorbing derby he was wearing on his dome at the time of the accident. As a beanguard the derby was always a wonder and it would seem that in a fast and furious world there is still much warrant for its use. The only trouble is that in a great many traffic accidents a man loses his hat almost as quickly as he does his head. If a man would wear his derby anchored to his roof with a chin strap it would make for the longevity of the human race.

BOOKS FOR FARMERS

Georgia now has a form of library supply system by which farmers and citizens in rural districts can secure almost any desired volume by dropping a line to headquarters. They are expected to pay the postage one way, but the service is made as nearly free of cost as is possible. It seems in the tryout that more people want books on poultry and diversified farming than on any other theme. This is a good sign and indicates a spread of the agricultural possibilities of the State. Almost anything can be raised in Georgia from a boll weevil to a race riot. When it comes to fiction the native Georgian is learning to find consolation in the simple tales of Harold Bell Wright—at least, such is the confession of the State librarian.

MELODRAMA AND MARRIAGE

The Pittsburg professor who surrendered his wife to her soulmate is not wholly original in his self-effacement. Other husbands and other wives have broken the triangle in like manner. In this case, however, it looks as if the sacrifice was a bit tawdry. The professor had had the wife for seventeen years and the man who is now described as her "perfect passionate love" is a sedate and retiring little bookkeeper who has never been sporty enough to learn checkers. Instead of claiming publicity as a hero for magnanimously passing his wife on to her new love the husband rather invites shame for being so cheaply supplanted. If the wife had been spanked early in the game a couple of demoralized homes might still be intact.

THE ROAD TO FREEDOM

While little given to didactic utterances, President Coolidge in his public speeches often presents to his auditors a pearl of thought to carry home and treasure up. In a recent inspirational address, abounding in fine passages, he said:

"The road to freedom lies through a knowledge of the truth."

This fine, strong sentiment, with others accompanying it, could have come only from a man with a habit of high thought and with such a moral background as that of the true philosopher. It shows that its author is well grounded in ethical lore, particularly as it touches the supreme good and that he has reflected deeply upon it, with the wise conclusion that to be free in a large sense one must know the top and the bottom of things, the lights and shades, the husk and the kernel, the worthy and the worthless and to be able to distinguish readily the one from the other. For it is in this wise perception that a real knowledge of the truth resides.

There are many who think they have such knowledge, yet who, because of their restricted mentality and fixed prejudices, still remain in slavery to ideas that are far from truth; and these, from the very nature of their limitations, never can be free.

The chief value of the President's splendid aphorism lies in the amplitude of its suggestion as to what constitutes freedom. One is reminded, among other things, that to be free from physical ills one must have a knowledge of how to live conformably to nature and that to be free in a mental sense one must know how to cast out fear, worry and other forms of perturbation.

Epictetus says that "he is free who lives as he wishes to live; who is neither subject to compulsion nor hindrance, nor to force, whose movements are not impeded, whose desires attain their purpose and who does not fall into that which he would avoid. . . . We do not find any bad man free." It is obvious that only in that "knowledge of the truth" insisted upon by President Coolidge can such liberty ever be attained and that the lawless or vicious never can attain it.

In elucidating his pregnant idea as it touches national government the President has shown that true freedom embraces not only the right to act as one reasonably pleases, but also includes the right to be protected from those who desire to do what they unreasonably please. He has stressed the thought that no such knowledge of the truth as will make men free can be gained save by the rational mind. Only a studiously reasoning mind, for example, could deduce from human experience, as Burke did, the vital fact that "every benefit and enjoyment is founded on compromise," or that could evolve, as Emerson did, the illuminating and eminently practical theory of universal compensation, or that the natural world is a system of circles. What Marcus Aurelius calls "the properties of the rational soul" are that "it sees itself, analyzes itself and makes itself such as it chooses." To which are added "love of one's neighbor and truth and modesty."

And yet to be rational and philosophical one need not be so very learned, but one must be able to perceive the simple truth in things—to recognize reality as well as illusion and to have logical ideas as to cause and effect. A criminal enslaved by the illusion that he is gaining something by his lawless acts may laugh at what he deems the ignorance or stupidity of the man that lives by honest toil, and yet of the two who is the more ignorant? The criminal has no logical perception of his false place in society or if he has he fails to apply it in such a way as to be able to maintain his personal freedom, for, even though he never may be arrested for his crime, to be continually dodging the law is the antithesis of freedom.

Ignorance of the truth, as the President implies by his stout insistence upon a knowledge of it, leads not to freedom, but to slavery—a phase of the subject which requires no further exemplification than that of the important one involving true citizenship. It is evident that what the President had chiefly in mind while uttering his flaming words was that when a citizen so far disregards his obvious duties to his government and to society as to seek by his ballot to destroy the basic principles of the one and to jeopardize the other; that when in the full enjoyment of the protection of fundamental laws which represent the collective civic wisdom of leading minds seeking only to insure his liberty, to safeguard his welfare and to promote his happiness as well as that of his fellow-citizens; that when he exerts his elective franchise to place in a ruling position those who would abridge or amend or annul those laws in order to carry out a scheme of class vengeance—he may fittingly be characterized as one devoid of the understanding which would enable him to realize the luminous fact that "the road to freedom lies through a knowledge of the truth."

THE POLICE RELIEF BALL

Our police officers at the call of duty seldom hesitate to risk life and limb for the protection of the public. Many have been injured, some have been killed in keeping the ceaseless vigil over the homes and families of the people of Los Angeles. The least our people can do in return is to help take care of the homes and families of those who have fallen in our defense.

For this purpose the police themselves have organized a relief association. This association provides funerals for police officers and pays a benefit of $1000 to their closest dependent. It also maintains a revolving fund, approximating 5 per cent of its revenues, to meet the emergency needs of police officers in cases of sickness, disability or death.

To raise the necessary money to keep the good work going the Los Angeles Police Relief Association is giving a ball on October 28 at the Goldberg-Bosley Hall to which it cordially invites the public, the proceeds to be devoted to caring for the widows and orphans of policemen who die or are killed in service. Except for the rent of the hall and to provide the musicians no overhead expenses will be incurred, all the work in connection with the event being done voluntarily by members of the police force.

The Times believes this police relief ball will have a universal appeal to the good people of Los Angeles. The object is to help those who have been left helpless in the service of the city; the cause should draw on the gratitude of all who acknowledge their debt to the gallant police officer; and the occasion will be one of good clean amusement and a round of honest merry-making.

"LOVE'S LABOR LOST"

Granting that all Gandhi stands for is right and that he is a 100-per-cent patriot, England a 100-per-cent villain, give him all the credit that his own brother would claim for him or he would claim for himself; the fact that he deprives himself of food in order to advance his cause can mean only that he is a simpleton because to hurt a leader is to hurt the cause. Credit him and his fellows in India for sincerity in starving themselves for the sake of publicity. Credit Gandhi with unselfishness and the martyr spirit to make publicity for the cause he represents and not for himself. Publicity still does not make a poor cause good or a good cause better. The world is tired of whirling dervishes who have transplanted themselves into business and politics. They belong in an amusement park. Their ballyhoo is worn out for practical purposes.

The influence of Gandhi was quick to die out and the former leader is now an ill and broken man. It was folly of Gandhi to say that he had the people of India back of him. There are any number of reasons why this could not be so. Few realize that the 230,000,000 of people in India are largely made up of villagers and farmers. This is a factor contributing to their inaccessibility and lack of organization.

Then again the caste system, another obstacle that prevents national cohesion, is the difference in temperament between the northwestern part and those of the south.

All these different factors helped to nullify Gandhi's influence upon his followers. Then, too, India is in a comparatively prosperous condition at the present time. Crops have been good and there has been no famine for several years.

It is India's younger element that composes the radical group; and it will be a long time before it is ready for the doctrines of Gandhi.

INTANGIBLE BARRIERS

Since the modification of the school-stop traffic rule for Los Angeles streets, limiting the stops to the times when pedestrians actually are on the crossings, those headlong motorists who never saw any good in the idea of coming to a dead stop at the cross lines are now asking why such a stop ever was required.

"With not a child or a school in sight, what was the use of the police department ever making us stop at those lines?" they inquire. "It was all nonsense in the first place. Why wasn't the present rule, which is so easy to comply with, in force all along?"

The answer to this argument is that children were being killed or crippled at the school crossings and that some radical and effective step had to be taken to safeguard those who were in deadly danger every time they stepped into the street. To act in the radical way adopted to curb this great evil was not nonsense, but the best of sense. Something had to be done to impress very deeply upon the minds of motorists that they should keep a careful eye upon the school crossings, so they were required to stop. And now that that impression has been made upon the great majority of them it will remain for a long time.

Even though there is not a child in sight, every time a local driver approaches a school crossing there is still in the back of his mind the idea of an imaginary stop, though not a real one, and, as a rule, he proceeds with due caution. Of course, he is presumed to be cautious under the new rule, but the chances are that in most cases he would not be had there never been a compulsory stop under all conditions during certain hours. It has been his habit to stop and this habit still has a dominant effect. He still sees the dead line as a dead line.

In this example of mental phenomena is witnessed the demonstration of one of those observed facts of human consciousness that often has been presented by psychologists along with more complex ones. Given such a cause as has been stated and the effect, in a general way, always will be the same.

Probably a still better example of the enduring effect of an intangible barrier is to be found in New York. Years ago, when Thomas F. Byrnes was superintendent of New York police, he drew a hypothetical line from river to river across the city at Fulton street and established it as the mark below which no crook must wander. All those who did so were arrested on sight. This order, which was the result of the many lawless acts in Lower Manhattan, declined toward obsolescence with the advent of the subway, which made its enforcement almost impossible. But the fear put into the underworld fifty years ago by Byrnes serves as a strong deterrent to crime in the district named. The dead line still exists for many of them as an intangible barrier.

Of course, this analogy is applicable only in its effects and not as between automobile drivers and crooks, though, so far as the lawless motorist is concerned, it may be permitted to stand in its entirety.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

When Luther Was Flogged

Rumanian schools are to be reformed. With the advent of peace and restoration the ablest minds of the nation are concentrating to make the educational system of the country "one of the most progressive and cultural in the world," we are told. The reforms include the abolishment of the rod and strap. Nothing is gained by corporal punishment, the Rumanian Minister of Education declares. So discovered also good Dr. Martin Luther, who relates in that most interesting human document, "Table Talks," that he "still shuddered" at the punishment he had to bear when a boy. "My mother beat me about some nuts once till the blood came. I had a terrible time of it, but she meant well." The learned doctor goes on: "Never be hard with children. Many a fine character has been ruined by the stupid brutality of pedagogues. I remember I was flogged fifteen times in one afternoon over the conjugation of a verb." That is going some! And yet perhaps that flogging benefited humanity, for Luther's literary and scholarly attainments were instrumental in creating the language of Goethe and Schiller. Previous to his Bible translation there were a hundred dialects. Luther standardized them all into the great and marvelous German language.

Voltaire and the Jesuits

Prelates and church dignitaries in Canada will journey to the north of Ontario to be present at the sanctification of a shrine erected to the heroic memory of Fathers De Brebeouf and Lalement, the pioneers of civilization in the Dominion, who were cruelly put to death by the Iroquois in the seventeenth century. Brebeouf and Lalement were Jesuits from France and, though priests of different orders go now to join in the touching respects to be paid to their memory, history records that the other Catholic orders at one time opposed the landing of these missionaries from France. This spirit of opposition was wholly in keeping with the times. The Bishop of Sens even went so far as to assert that the Jesuits obtained their doctrines from the Koran. Interesting is it to read that Voltaire, whom no one will accuse of great favoritism to the Catholic church, had this to say anent the Jesuits and accusations that were leveled against their orders: "Theirs is the most laborious, frugal and austere manner of life. To this end I call to witness thousands of men and boys who were brought up under their care like I was. I make bold to say that there is nothing more contradictory, nothing more iniquitous, nothing more shameful in human nature than to accuse of lax morality the men who lead the austerest kind of life in Europe and go to face death at the ends of America and Asia."

A riotous Democratic convention was held in Tammany Hall, New York, in the year 1835. A reform faction got control of the convention and held it against the physical force of the Tammany faction. The Tammany faction thereupon withdrew and turned off the gas so that the convention had to be carried on by the reformers by the light of sulphur or "loco foco" matches. The term "Loco Focos" for many years after was used to stigmatize the Democratic party.

THE REAL LA FOLLETTE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Some years since I happened to be in Wisconsin on business and while there had an opportunity to hear the best that could be said for La Follette and to know the worst.

He was represented to all comers as a heroic tribune of the people. He had done great things for Wisconsin. He was honest, heroic, courageous. He alone could save the people from that large abstraction known as "the interests." I was young and sympathetic—and—credulous.

I was induced to hang his picture in my home as one who is devout hangs the picture of his patron saint.

I had never heard the man nor seen him. At last this opportunity came to me when he was announced to make a speech in Milwaukee. The hall was packed. A son of one of the justices of the Supreme Court, who was also himself a lawyer, was speaking, being one of the preliminaries to the main event. I heard from the audience, and saw, from the back of the stage, a commotion. A little man, with wild, upstanding hair, held back from his divine mission by two sturdy supporters, one each side of him, looking as though they were trying to hold back this human volcano from saving the people right then and there. It was scarcely courteous to the preliminary speaker to spoil his act by bringing in the star before he was "called." But he was snuffed out ignominiously.

However, in came La Follette, chewing his lower lip and evidently in a passion of desire to reach the footlights. His whole speech was obscured by the personal egoistic magnifier, just as in the radio, a beautiful tone is lost in the mechanical noise of the amplifier. I listened to the hero—the fabulous hero—that I had heard so much of. Now I knew the man. For here he was in the flesh absorbed and transfigured in the recital of his personal achievements.

For that was what the speech amounted to. La Follette was its theme. La Follette was its bourne. La Follette was its sum. La Follette was its aim. A supreme egotist if ever I heard one. A statesman? Certainly not. A scholar? Not the beginning of one! A patriot? Yes—for votes only! A German to the Germans. An Irishman to the Irish. All things to all men—for votes only. A Socialist to the Socialists. A Republican in a Pickwickian sense.

And with longer and fuller knowledge, not of La Follette himself only, but of his followers and his clients, my first impressions were strengthened—if that were possible—and confirmed. And I can affirm, with former Gov. Hoard, that La Follette is a self-seeker and a poser pure and simple and would sacrifice his [illegible] to his political ambition.

I must, however, [illegible] one statement generally accepted by those who [illegible] the crafty texture of [illegible] lette mind and that [illegible] lette is either honestly [illegible] Socialist.

He is neither, any more [illegible] is German when he [illegible] Germany against America; [illegible] he swaps the votes of [illegible] followers with Berger, [illegible] ist Congressman, and [illegible] votes elects Berger [illegible] exchange for the votes of [illegible] automatons on State and [illegible] sues.

But Socialism, what is [illegible] (If there is any good in it [illegible] into being through both [illegible] parties, when the time is [illegible] it, and not from the [illegible] quacks with their [illegible] and nostrums. But [illegible] and Berger are simply [illegible] Vicars of Bray, players [illegible] lowers for suckers. [illegible] honestly mistaken people [illegible] not know La Follette, [illegible] faith, just as the [illegible] ing or ignorant passers-by [illegible] medical street-corner quack.

La Follette is given [illegible] such papers as the [illegible] New Republic, both of [illegible] good papers and most [illegible] this one matter, for all [illegible] claims. They think [illegible] him a hero because, [illegible] ing the great war he [illegible] the German cause and [illegible] American cause.

But this was not [illegible] consistency with the [illegible] pediency which is [illegible] Bearing in mind that he [illegible] ency is preponderantly true [illegible] was inspired by no more [illegible] tue or purpose than [illegible] American Senator for [illegible] This he did by means of [illegible] man vote.

Then, by posing as the [illegible] savior, the Germans made him [illegible] ator.

Now, by posing as the [illegible] savior, La Follette [illegible] Americans will make him [illegible] ican President.

That is to say, he takes [illegible] fools. Though we have [illegible] what he is, a common [illegible] who utilizes the German [illegible] Wisconsin and the disposition [illegible] everywhere. He has a [illegible] for all occasions and for [illegible] It is his stock in trade.

FLYING CHIPS

BY ALMA WHITAKER

NEW YORK, Oct. 15, 1924.

The real raison d'etre of New York?

Those mighty banks—to handle money made through and spent on clothes. That amazing transportation system, railroads, subways, busses, street cars, taxicabs—all to get clothing workers to and from their work or to take people to places where they exhibit clothes, view clothes or trade in clothes.

Those countless lofty buildings—factories, offices, wholesale houses, department stores—all dedicated to the clothing trade in some way or another. Gorgeous theaters galore—places to see clothes, show off clothes, get pointers on clothes.

The very ships that come into New York Harbor—most important of passengers, eagerly interviewed by reporters, are the buyers back from Europe with palpitating news of clothes, with trunks full of models and designs for clothes. Most precious of freight—clothes, clothing materials, accessories and adornments.

• • •

Going through New York with a genuine dyed-in-the-wool New Yorker, you are told where you are.

"This is the shirt-waist district." "This is the fur district." "This is the suit-and-cloak district." "This is the corset-and-underwear district." These are New York's geographical divisions — trimmings, buttons, ribbons, feathers, laces, shoes, neckwear, children's wear, these represent New York's boroughs, parishes, precincts. The whole city is parceled off like that.

• • •

Men dominate this clothing trade. This male in the foppish attire and with the ostentatious courtesy who has the best suite in your hotel—a famous man milliner. His type is vital to New York. His entire life, thought and hopes of salvation are centered in women's hats. He talks of the correct adjustment of a feather, of the newest thing in brims, of color schemes and crown shapes with the concern due to a national problem. He rages with fury if a competitor steals an idea for a metal bow arrangement. He beams with triumph when his mighty brain conceives a new millinery conceit and he is worth $25,000 a year for it.

• • •

The brainiest man you meet at luncheon runs a clothing trade journal. Dozens of daily and weekly journals are devoted to clothes, clothes, clothes, exclusively, while every sort of publication must have a style section.

And quite naturally, much as other men would discuss your books or your taste in drama or your dancing or your travels, these men will dispassionately discuss your underwear, inquire as to what type you favor, consider its merits from the experts' point of view, inform you of the latest devices for enhancing the underwear world. Their wives, children, homes and automobiles are supported [illegible] ing news, clothing [illegible]

• • •

Critics in the theater, [illegible] making notes, reviewing [illegible] erd dramas for [illegible] ing's paper; two-thirds [illegible] fashion writers, style [illegible] them all that matters [illegible] play is dressed. The [illegible] grams are filled with [illegible] clothes, pointing out [illegible] points of the clothes [illegible] are wearing.

The best writers, the [illegible] tists, who draw the [illegible] cial rewards for their [illegible] themselves to the [illegible] most of them in the [illegible] partment.

Those ardent students [illegible] York's fine library [illegible] are studying old styles, [illegible] new adaptations and [illegible] styles for clothes; or [illegible] literary quotations, new [illegible] phrases for adaptation [illegible] ing clothes. It doesn't matter [illegible] or how they do it, these [illegible] ers are chiefly, mainly [illegible] in the clothing of it. [illegible] mere fashion shows.

And to the New Yorker [illegible] of the fashion is to be [illegible] world. Your peacock [illegible] worked stenographer [illegible] tively have the latest thing [illegible] row morning. The new [illegible] exclusive conceit is copied [illegible] cheaper trade before it [illegible] launched on Fifth [illegible] flesh-colored stockings [illegible] vogue, the colored [illegible] Harlem has them the same [illegible] noon. To be dowdy is to be [illegible] with New York's manner.

The only possible way to be [illegible] tinguished in New York [illegible] possible way to be [illegible] scorn the fashions, [illegible] styles. And that is [illegible] the very small circle of [illegible] ple" do. When they are [illegible] social elect, when they [illegible] any other interests in [illegible] they have any [illegible] ments, they shun the [illegible] would shun the plague. It is [illegible] only chance of preserving [illegible] sonality.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Miss Emily Wardman, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Wardman of Alhambra, has chosen Friday, November 14, as the date for her marriage to Samuel J. Bell of Whittier. The ceremony will take place at St. James Church, South Pasadena, and Mr. Wardman will give his daughter in marriage. Mrs. Owen Thornton Reeves, (Marquita Wardman,) a bride of last month, will assist her sister as matron of honor, while Miss Margaret Richardson will be the maid of honor. Other attendants of the bride will include Miss Katherine Woodside and Mrs. William Rheel. Henry Hoey of San Francisco will serve Mr. Bell as best man and the ushers will be William Rheel, Owen Thornton Reeves and Frank Millard. A number of charmingly arranged affairs are being given in honor of Miss Wardman, among them being a bridge luncheon with which Mrs. William Rheel is entertaining, and many other courtesies, which have not yet been fully decided on as to dates. Miss Wardman was graduated from Stanford and is a Delta Gamma Sorority member.

Naval Ball

One of the outstanding events of the coming season will be the Naval Ball, scheduled for Thursday evening the 30th inst., at Arrowhead Lodge, the famous resort at Arrowhead Lake, at which Admiral Coontz and his official staff of ten officers are to be the special guests of honor. Invitations are being issued and it promises to be one of the brilliant social events of the month as leaders of society from Los Angeles, Pasadena and other Southern California cities are being bidden. Although there has been a considerable fall of snow this season at Lake Arrowhead, the roads leading to the resort are in splendid condition.

In Gotham

Mr. and Mrs. Clay White and their niece, Miss Mae Obrian of the Sovereign apartments, Long Beach, have arrived in New York and are at the Hotel Waldorf for a brief stay, after a delightful trip of four months abroad.

Visiting Here

Mrs. Telfair Creighton, formerly of Los Angeles, but who is now making her home in La Jolla, is visiting in the city and is the guest of Mrs. Anna Shaw Lowe at her home, 617 North Larchmont Boulevard, for several days.

Armistice Ball

Mrs. Rodman Robeson and Mrs. P. B. Moulton, the later the wife of Capt. Moulton of the United States Aviation Service, will act as hostesses to 400 aviation officers at the "Night of All Nations" benefit ball to be given at the Ambassador, Armistice Night, November 11, by the International Artists' Club. There will be many smart dinner parties preceding the carnival and Mrs. Robeson and Mrs. Moulton will arrange many of the tables at which the officers in uniform will appear. Capt. Moulton and other officers of the flying corps are landing their aid and advice in arranging an interesting program for the ball. Bevies of pretty young society girls and college "co-eds" will sell the programs and flowers at the ball. Twenty-one different nationalities will exhibit the arts of their races, and beautiful women of all races will be guests at the ball.

Afternoon Tea

Mrs. George H. Mosher and her charming daughter, Mrs. Mark Davids of West First street, are entertaining this afternoon with a tea at the home of the former, the Rampart, to which several hundred guests have been bidden. The affair is in the nature of a welcome home to Mrs. Mosher, who has been traveling for the past six months abroad. The ballroom of the Rampart has been transformed into an autumnal garden, with chrysanthemums, asters, zinnias and foliage being effectively combined in the decorations of tea tables and great baskets of the flowers with ferns are being used in the hall and ballroom. The hours are from 4 to 6 o'clock, and assisting the hostesses at coffee and tea urns will be Mrs. George A. Brock, Mrs. Elmer West Clark, Mrs. Allison Barlow, Mrs. Frederick Orsen Johnson, Mrs. O. O. Witherbee, Mrs. J. F. Wetherby, Mrs. E. A. Talbot, Mrs. Frederick Williamson, Mrs. Paul V. Hammond, Mrs. George Ralph Martin, Miss Constance Chandler, Miss Heloise Lysle, Miss Marjorie Lysle, Miss Gladys Wetherby and Miss Helen Cowell.

For Bride

Honoring Mrs. Nichols Milbank, Jr., one of the brides of the fall, Mrs. Nichols Milbank and Mrs. Morris Milbank are entertaining at their home in Wilshire Place tomorrow afternoon, the hours being from 4 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. Nichols Milbank, Jr., was formerly Miss Dorothy Finney, daughter of the George Irving Finneys of Berkeley, and her wedding with the son of the Nichols Milbanks of Los Angeles was one of the brilliant events in the northern city September 27. Mrs. Morris Milbank is also a bride of the summer, formerly Miss Margaret Willey of Santa Cruz. The house will be adorned with autumn decorations and assisting the hostesses will be Mrs. Judson C. Rives, who returned Thursday from several weeks' visit in Kansas City, Mrs. Charles H. Dick, Mrs. Isaac Milbank, Mrs. Joseph M. Hixon, Mrs. Lawrence Burck, Mrs. Leslie Webb, Mrs. Lyman Rose McFie, Mrs. Borden Johnson, Mrs. Harry Morse, Miss Celia Davidson, Miss Orville Thomas, Mrs. Harold Peyton, Mrs. Thomas Edward Gibbon, Mrs. John Cass, Miss Ruby Hay, Miss Eleanor Johnson, Miss Ruth Burns and Miss Florence Clark. In the evening Morris Milbank, Nichols Milbank, Jr., Thomas Edward Gibbon, Harold Peyton, John Cass, Kendall Thurston, Adrien Head, Ernest Simpson, Dan White and Arthur Shirley Wiley will join the younger women, assisting the hostesses, for supper and dancing.

Gone East

Mme. Pearl V. Metzelthin, widow of the late Theodore Metzelthin, diplomat, who for the past fortnight has been the house guest of Miss Elly Wisbar at her home in Mayberry street, left yesterday for the East and will visit in Denver. Tuesday evening Miss Wisbar entertained with a farewell tea in honor of her visitor, among the guests being Baron Harro von Zeppelin, nephew of Count Zeppelin, and Mrs. Haskell and Miss Haskell, who knew Mme. Metzelthin and her husband during his stay in China.

Barrel-Kett

The marriage of Miss Jane Barrel, daughter of Mrs. Waller Morton of Pasadena, to Lawrence T. T. Kett of Berkeley will be solemnized tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Church of the Angels, Rev. Leslie Learned officiating. Miss Lura Hodge of Los Angeles will assist Miss Barrel as maid of honor, other attendants including Mrs. Charles Burton Scoville, Jr., (Suzanne Jefferson) and Miss Dolly Doane. Andrew Brown will serve Mr. Kett as best man and the ushers will be Delta Upsilon fraternity brothers, Frank Burland, Miles Hubbard, Charles Burton Scoville, Jr., and Leonard Harbach.

Benefit Tea

The beautiful home of Mrs. John Treanor, 347 Muirfield Road, will be the scene of an interesting affair tomorrow afternoon when from 3 to 6 o'clock a bevy of enthusiastic society women are giving a tea for the benefit of the school for Russian children, refugees at Varna in Bulgaria, and dependent for their existence upon the charity of their more fortunate sisters. Mrs. Willoughby Rodman is chairman of the committee which plans to raise the $1000 necessary to feed and keep the children and hold the school intact. Mrs. Treanor will be assisted by Mrs. Rodman, Mrs. Alice Lynch, Mrs. Charles Volney Craig, Mrs. Virginia Rice, Mrs. Spoor Mackey. Mrs. I. J. Muma is in charge of the program, Mrs. J. W. Darling of cards, Mrs. Arthur Heineman, punch, Mrs. J. W. Rhodes, candies, and the Misses Stella and Maud Tannehill of the cooked foods. Mrs. Stephen S. Raymond and Mme. Constance Prudhons Peters will tell fortunes and a number of surprises will be featured during the afternoon. Patronesses for the afternoon include Mmes. Godfrey Holterhoff, Hancock Banning, Allen C. Balch, Wesley Clark, Horace B. Wing, Lynn Helm, Torrey Everett, Samuel Travers Clover, Miss Mary Russell, Miss Caroline Van Dyke and Miss Emily Wing.

Youth's Suicide Laid to Inability to Obtain Work

Inability to obtain work was given by deputy sheriffs as the cause for the suicide Wednesday night of J. F. Cooper, 20 years of age, 633 North Gage street, Belvedere, whose body was found yesterday in his room. According to the report of Deputy Sheriffs Carlin and Hunter, the youth placed a rubber tube in his mouth after attaching it to a gas jet. After death, apparently, his teeth had closed on the tube and shut off the gas, no odor of gas being in the room. The young man has a sister, Esther, living in Pasadena, and a brother in Los Angeles. The body was discovered by a neighbor, Nathan Hoffman. The youth came here about three weeks ago from New York.

Following the report of the deputies, Abraham Cooper, brother of the dead youth, asked the Sheriff's and Coroner's offices to make another investigation. He said he could not imagine any motive that would cause his brother to take his life and hesitated to believe he had done so.

WOMEN'S WORK; WOMEN'S CLUBS

Half a decade of work that has aided thousands of boys and girls to find the right path again and that has helped innumerable families to keep together will be marked by the City Mothers' Bureau at a banquet Monday night at the Biltmore when 150 men and women, interested in its activities, will meet to discuss the bureau's past work and plan for future progress. The bureau, the first department of its kind in the United States, was created in 1914 with Mrs. Adelia Gilbert as its official head. She has continued to work for a rapidly-growing clientele ever since then.

Speakers on the banquet program will include representatives of the Federal and district courts, the police department and the board of Education. The Community Chest, with which the bureau is co-operating actively, will be given its representative, Joseph Scott, who will discuss the chest plan for financing social welfare work in Los Angeles.

Members of the bureau are: Mrs. Ida M. Healey, chairman; Mmes. Sarah Korbel, Kate B. Francisco, A. Champitt, D. J. Graubois, Mines Mitchell, J. H. Robertson Falconer, Lillian Grandstaff, T. Coleman, J. E. Brown and Carter.

Members of the Junior Auxiliary of the Echo Park Mothers' Club will be entertained by the hostess, Mrs. Edward Gadden, 1237 Echo Park Drive. This is the first auxiliary in the city with boys as officers. Edward Van Fleet is president. With the names of these mentioned the officers are young women.

Remunerous Apparel

But for her work, familiarity with her medium and a sense of humor were the notable features of Miss Alice M. Bromley's discussion of "Art and Advertising" at the Woman's University Club, Tuesday. Mrs. Bromley gave full value to the three phases of the subject —technique, its commercial and artistic aspects.

To bring models, every one of whom was a member of the club, beyond the charm of harmonious apparel rather than the extreme mode, Mrs. Bromley depressed fashion shows. The pageant took through a woman's day, with suitable raiment for every hour and duties. There were negligees, tailor coats, morning dresses, afternoon smocks, sports suits, the country-club luncheon outfit, the ensemble for afternoon calls, and so through 5 o'clock tea, dinner and the opera. The models were Mmes. Seward, Cook, Copeland, Champlin, Waldron, Hines, Mines, Marie Cronin, Charlotte and Margaret McGrath, Elizabeth Cook, Westbrook, Shaw.

"Hyphen Race"

Mrs. Charles H. Toll, president of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, will return next Saturday from the north where she is attending the conventions of Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties. Several of the best clubs in the district have provided Mrs. Toll with complimentary guest cards which she will gladly issue to members of federated clubs of other states who are visiting in California. She may be reached at 415 Cedar Road, Glendale.

"Fourth United is Stronger," the federation motto, is exemplified by the department conferences of the district, nearly 200 chairmen from individual clubs coming together at least once each month to solve the problems of every phase of club activity. To the Federation secretary of each club has been given the task, this year, of obtaining 100-per-cent attendance of her club at these conferences, and Mrs. J. B. Carter, vice-president of the district, who presides at the conferences of the Federation extension department, has dubbed them the "100" that join the "co" of the regional clubs with the "operation" of the Federation and has made the contest a "Hyphen Race."

The Cosmos Club

Monday, the 27th inst., the first bridge and card party of the club year will be given at the clubhouse. At 1 o'clock the hostess, Mrs. Lelland Atherton Gay, will call a short business meeting.

Mrs. W. W. Sherer will be in charge of the afternoon. She has as her committee Mmes. J. Wells, J. C. Miles, Robert Fields, Thos. Warner, E. F. Aherns, Ralph Dickson, George H. Winsett, A. L. Holt, Helen B. Dansforth, Ford V. Bowden, H. D. Hasbrouck, Frank Mitchell, T. A. Wilson, W. H. Jahns, H. H. Babcock, E. Randall, E. M. Buckius, C. F. Lee, William Behm, C. A. Duffus and Miss Celia Katze.

Saroptimists Only

On Tuesday, the 28th inst., the Los Angeles Soroptimist Club will hold its monthly business meeting in the banquet room of the Biltmore. This meeting will be for members only. At this time the club will plan work for the coming year.

University Book Club

Mrs. Annie F. Fulton will preside at the meeting of the University Book Club at the University Branch Library, Tuesday, 28th inst., from 10 a.m. to noon. Mrs. M. F. Bradley of the Ebell Aid will address the club on the work of that society at 11:30 o'clock, and later a speaker from the Community Chest headquarters will present the plans of that organization.

Highland Park Ebell

"The American Woman Citizen, Her Duties and Privileges" was the subject of an inspiring address on public affairs day of the Highland Park Ebell, Tuesday, by Mrs. E. Goodsell. He argued the necessity of education along lines of citizenship and nationality and questions. He outlined the ideals of the Constitution.

"Bob's Chillun Got Wings," by Ethel O'Neil, was read by Mrs. Snowden, director of the Community Players at the afternoon session, with Mrs. Ruth Hendricks section Judge Graves gave a review of the early days of California missions, Mrs. Gideon presiding.

In the one-piece Sunway frock pleats make a modest debut, flowing themselves to conform to each side in deference to straight-line silhouette.

A BLACK ribbon tie which adjusts itself after the manner of the scarf, a motif embroidered in black, and black bone buttons make a smart trust on a dress of white silk crepe as by a New York woman. Or one dresses the ribbon or scarf to the effect of the untrimmed necktie, and in strawberry, brown, yellow and green is used for some of these frocks. If one is in the city most of the time, perhaps makes a very good choice, does not soil as quickly and can be dyed easily.

PRESSURE TOO HIGH

Salesman Given Jail Term for Using Profanity in Home

Paul Vavrick's high-pressure methods of selling household articles won him a fifty-day jail sentence or the alternative of a $50 fine yesterday in Police Judge Richardson's court. Vavrick, who is a house-to-house salesman, entered the home of Mrs. Fred Schuster at 406 North Main street and in his best manner began explaining the quality of the wares he was offering for sale.

Mrs. Schuster became tired of listening and ordered him from the house. He continued to explain and she threatened to call police. The court heard the case yesterday and imposed the sentence for profanity.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

MATCHMAKING

"If I were to address you as I feel toward you, it would be, 'Dearest, Duckiest Dr. Lou,' but how dare I address such a dignified (?) person as yourself in that way?

"Here's the reason for all the exuberant hilarity: For a number of years, I weighed—well, I'm ashamed to say it—but it was between 195 and 200, and most of the time nearer 200. One day, while I was making myself a dress, I became disgusted with the looks of yours truly in the glass and decided that no girl of 33, 5 feet 7½ inches tall, had any right to be such a clown.

"When I started to reduce, I weighed 197 pounds and eight ounces. Today, three and one-half months later, I tip the scales at 161 pounds and ten ounces, which isn't so worse, as you must admit.

"Now, my friends think I'm quite thin enough. As a matter of fact, on the day I started dieting, I told mother I was going to get so thin that I could walk into every dress shop in which I have been told so often, 'That will make you look too kiddish,' or 'we'll have to order your size especially, Miss,' and stick my tongue out at the clerks. (Did you say reversion to type?) Last week I walked into a store, put on a size 38 dress that I liked and walked out of the shop with it. Now, what do you think of that? From 44 to 38 in three months and one-half! Some one ought to write a story about it.

"However, what I want to do is to bless you for the good work you have done in taking ten years off my looks and adding fifty to my life. Also, listen, doctor: The boys are now asking me out! They must have been afraid I'd eat them out of their week's salaries before, but I'm really quite popular with the masculine sex now. You never knew before that you were a matchmaker, did you? You're liable to be, judging from the number of invitations I've received from the time I was 170 avoirdupois down to the present.

"Will it harm me to keep on reducing until I get down to about 145? I'd like to get a couple of pounds underweight, because I think there will be less inclination to stoutness then. What thinkest thou?

"Please don't mind my nonsense, but I've just come off the scale and am so happy that I must write you while I feel this way. Good-by, and may your joys increase as your girths decrease.

ETHEL."

Anything I can do to help the F.F.F.'s realize they must reduce, I do with alacrity. Your letter will start a million or so! That's why I give nearly all of it. (You send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in stamps for the instructions.)

Yes, I have known all along that I am a matchmaker, Ethel. The saying, "Nobody loves a fat man," should be extended to include "or woman." Somehow, fatness and tender sentiment don't seem running mates. When you get down to normal weight, you won't have an inclination to stoutness, for you will have conquered your habit of overeating, and your craving for concentrated and rich foods.

Thank you so much for writing.

INGROWING TOE AND FINGER NAILS

Your baby is too fat, Mrs. F., which is undoubtedly the cause of his ingrowing toe and fingernails. Stop feeding him so much or he'll have something worse. Too fat babies are not resistant to disease. Feed him less often and in lessened amounts. Cut the nails square.

Ms. E.: There is no need of your being so "darn" thin. Send for our gaining instructions. See information above.

(Tomorrow — Answers to Correspondents)

My Dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must inclose 10 cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Sidewalk Shield at De Mille Lot Brings Complaint

A complaint charging Cecil B. De Mille with failing to tear down a temporary structure over a sidewalk when notified to do so by the Board of Public Works, was issued yesterday by Deputy City Prosecutor Gilbert. The offending structure, the complaint says, is at 1622-1626 North Vine street, where Joseph Weinblatt started to build a theater a year ago and stopped after getting in the foundation. De Mille bought the property later, it was said, and was notified to take down the sidewalk shield but did not do so.

The ordinance requires the removal of such structures thirty days after construction is stopped. The building department of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce objected to its remaining, according to Mr. Gilbert.

SUIT FOR SINKING OF FISHING BOAT FILED

Action to recover $5000 was filed in United States District Court yesterday by Frank Nakamaura and the Van Camp Sea Food Company from S. Nakagawa. The defendant is the asserted owner of the fishing boat La Belle, which the defendants declare rammed and sank their fishing boat, the Ricomer No. 1, forty miles northwest of Corros Island off the coast of Mexico last February.

INDIAN SALAD

Mix two cupfuls of pineapple cubes with one peeled and dried apple; two cold boiled potatoes, peeled and cut in dice and half a cupful of lemon mayonnaise. Mound on lettuce-covered plates and garnish with strips of white celery and pimentos.

DEVIL CAKE

Mix in the top of a double boiler six tablespoonfuls of ground chocolate, one cupful of brown sugar and seven tablespoonfuls of milk; stir and cook over boiling water until smooth; add the slightly beaten yolks of two eggs and stir and cook three minutes; add one teaspoonful of vanilla and beat until cool.

Beat half a cupful of butter to a cream; add two-thirds of a cupful of brown sugar and beat smooth and creamy; beat the yolks of two eggs until thick and beat into them one-third of a cupful of brown sugar; beat two minutes and add to the butter mixture; beat two minutes, continue beating and beat in the cooled custard mixture three cupfuls of sifted flour, with half a teaspoonful of salt and half a teaspoonful of soda and half a cupful of sour milk. Beat two minutes and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs. Bake in buttered and floured layer-cake tins, cool on a wire rack and spread between the layers and over the top and sides a marshmallow filling.

MARSHMALLOW FILLING

Place in a saucepan one and one-third cupfuls of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of water and two drops of lemon juice; bring to a boil and boil until it will spin a thread when a little is dropped from the tip of a spoon; add one dozen marshmallows cut in small pieces and stir until they are melted and the mixture is boiling. Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth with a pinch of salt and beat in slowly the boiling mixture; beat until lukewarm and spread on the cake.

CALF'S LIVER AU GRATIN

Mix three-quarters of a cupful of very finely chopped salt pork with one cupful of soaked bread crumbs that have been pressed dry, two tablespoonfuls of finely chopped onion, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, one teaspoonful of chopped chives and one tablespoonful of chopped capers; season with salt, paprika and mace. Cover one-quarter inch thick slices of calf's liver with boiling water, let stand five minutes, drain and dry between towels. Cover the bottom of a gratin dish with a layer of the dressing, cover the dressing with a layer of sliced liver and repeat the layers until the dish is full. Cover with buttered bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes.

ORANGE CREAM SAUCE

Beat four tablespoonfuls of butter to a cream and beat into it gradually one cupful of sifted powdered sugar; beat smooth and add slowly, beating constantly half a cupful of cream, one teaspoonful of orange extract and one tablespoonful of grated orange rind.

C. H. LEE TO AID ON OWENS PLAN

Northern Expert is Named Consulting Engineer

Will Work With Committee on Water Agreement

Appointee in Recent Survey of Valley's Resources

Charles H. Lee of San Francisco and Berkeley, an authority on the water resources of the West, yesterday was appointed by the Public Service Commission as a consulting engineer to work with a special committee recently named to draw up a permanent water agreement between the Owens River Valley and the city of Los Angeles. Announcement of Mr. Lee's appointment was made by President R. F. Del Valle of the commission.

In appointing Mr. Lee as consulting engineer to act with the Owens Valley committee, Del Valle explained, the commission had been guided by a desire to secure an engineer both eminently qualified for the work and at the same time absolutely detached from the city of Los Angeles and its water department.

WIDE EXPERIENCE

For a number of years Lee was connected as a consulting engineer with the United States Reclamation Service and later was appointed president of the California State Water Commission. During the past year he has devoted considerable time to survey of the water resources in Owens Valley and is recognized as an outstanding authority on conditions prevailing in that region.

Several days ago President Del Valle announced the formation of a special committee vested with authority by the Public Service Commission to work out a permanent water policy between the city of Los Angeles and the people of Owens Valley. This policy, the commission directed, should be shaped along lines that will provide for the adequate irrigation of a large and definitely defined area in Owens Valley, as well as for a safe supply of water for the Los Angeles aqueduct.

Members of the special committee which are to take up negotiations with Owens Valley representatives at an early date are W. B. Mathews, special counsel for the public service department, City Engineer H. A. Van Norman and Louis C. Hill of the engineering firm of Quinton, Code and Hill.

Mr. Lee, it was stated by Del Valle, will act as a consulting engineer with this committee and will assist in working out the details of a water agreement between Owens Valley and Los Angeles, which, it is believed, will be beneficial to both.

PURCHASES END OWENS VALLEY SUITS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

INDEPENDENCE, Oct. 23.—Four suits brought by Owens Valley ranchers against the city of Los Angeles, involving the city's right to pump underground waters of this section into its aqueduct, were brought to a quick conclusion late today when the city compromised by buying out the holdings of the four rancher-litigants.

Within a few days other cases of the same kind will go to trial in Superior Court, involving the same challenge of the city's right to underground waters in the valley.

The suits are part of a feud of twenty years' standing between valley ranchers, irrigation interests and business men, and the city of Los Angeles, which the valley interests accuse of transforming a fruitful farming section into desert to satisfy the thirst of its 250-mile aqueduct.

What the valley people have especially condemned is what they call the "dilatory tactics" of the city in buying water-bearing lands piecemeal, here and there, and removing them from cultivation, thus striking a blow at all agriculture in the valley and making it "impossible to sell agricultural lands or persuade banks to lend money on them."

Townspeople, too, have protested that the city's policy of allowing fertile lands to revert to desert depopulates the section on which they depend for trade, and thus results in destroying town property values and making all business uncertain.

The feud flared up to new heights last May when a section of the Los Angeles aqueduct south of here was dynamited, and flamed up again a few months later with the kidnaping of a Los Angeles attorney by a band of unidentified men at Bishop, north of here.

Valley spokesmen have repeatedly contended that the fair way out of the feud would be for the city of Los Angeles to buy all remaining water-bearing lands in the valley in one block, including in the price a sum [illegible] the towns for their [illegible] and property values.

DETECTIVES ON TRIAL IN LIQUOR CASE

Private Officers Accused of Having Stuff Seized by Raiding Party

The trial of S. G. Scott and L. E. Curtis, private detectives of Los Angeles Harbor charged with possession and transportation of liquor, began yesterday in Police Judge McConnell's court at the harbor.

The arrest of the two men was the outgrowth of a raid by Police Lieutenant Hollowell of Harbor division and several patrolmen last August. As a result of the raid twenty-six cases of high-grade liquor were confiscated by the officers in a garage near the landing of the California Yacht Club in the outer harbor.

In some manner two of the twenty-six cases disappeared while being taken to the harbor police station. Lieut. Hollowell declared he found the two missing cases of liquor in Scott's car and arrested Scott and Curtis. The presence of the liquor at the garage was revealed to the officers by Scott and Curtis and the latter accompanied the police on the raid.

The trial yesterday developed several heated clashes between Lieut. Hollowell and Patrolman Starr, who took the stand as a witness for the defense. Starr, vigorously cross-examined by Deputy City Prosecutor Reames, became badly entangled and was finally dismissed from the stand.

The trial will be resumed today.

BANDIT IN RESTAURANT HOLD-UP IS SENTENCED

Joe La Crosse, who pleaded guilty to one of three counts of robbery, yesterday was sentenced by Judge Keetch to from five years to life in San Quentin penitentiary. The accused man admitted holding up G. A. Nerby of Club Lunch No. 9, July 15, last, taking $61.05. The remaining two counts were ordered off calendar.

LIQUOR AND DRUGS STOLEN

Alcohol and whisky worth $50, morphine and other drugs worth $100 and $20 in cash were taken by burglars at a drug store at 1109 West Eleventh street, R. S. Cheney, the proprietor, reported yesterday to the police.

BREAKS PAROLE; GETS CELL

Father of Indiana Youth Offers to Pay Expenses Home But Law Takes Its Course

Russell F. Elbel, 20 years of age, whose story of a youthful romance that culminated in a marriage bringing the disapproval of his father won him probation in Judge Keetch's court several weeks ago on a charge of issuing checks without sufficient funds, yesterday was sentenced to serve from one to five years in San Quentin penitentiary for having violated his probation.

Elbel, a salesman and former student at Notre Dame University, is the son of Herman D. Elbel, a music dealer of South Bend, Ind. At the hearing on his application for probation, it was stated Elbel incurred the dissatisfaction of his father when he married his childhood sweetheart, Ruth Lorraine Dunlap.

CHECKS FOR HONEYMOON

When Elbel and his bride started west on their honeymoon, the young husband, it was stated, paid the expenses with checks issued on his father's bank. The elder Elbel was said to have refused to make the checks good and when Elbel arrived in Los Angeles he was placed under arrest.

Elbel was taken before Judge Keetch yesterday for violation of his probation, it being asserted that less than two weeks after he was given his liberty he unlawfully took a gun and camera belonging to a woman who had befriended his wife and pawned them.

CONFESSION OBTAINED

Deputy sheriffs stated they obtained a confession from the youth admitting he had taken the articles. Mrs. Elbel, according to the officers, attempted to keep his confession out of the court records by concealing it in her mouth.

Telegrams were received yesterday afternoon by Judge Keetch from the youth's father and brother, Stuart Elbel, of Chicago, asking that they be allowed to defray his expenses home. The court, however, said it would not tolerate such an abrupt violation of probation and imposed the penitentiary sentence.

NEW WILSON JURY BARRED

Judge Finds Many in Fresh Panel Had Read Article Published About Defendant

Another entire jury panel had to be dismissed from service yesterday at the trial of Carey Wilson and Cliff McCormack on an indictment charging robbery, when Superior Judge Arthur Keetch discovered that many of its members had access to a magazine containing an article asserted by the prosecution to be favorable to defendant Wilson.

The panel relieved from duty in Judge Keetch's department yesterday had been called in for service from the department presided over by Judge Crail. They were to replace Judge Keetch's regular jury panel, who had been sent home when nearly a dozen of them admitted having received and read copies of the magazine containing the article discussing Wilson's former trial, at which the jury disagreed.

Just before it was disclosed that the new jury panel was also familiar with the magazine, Wilson announced the dismissal of his attorney, Patrick Kirby, stating that he would conduct his own defense. Wilson acted as his own attorney at his former trial. Kirby was granted permission by Judge Keetch to withdraw from the case.

Wilson and McCormack are on trial for the robbery of the Sultan Baths and a Los Angeles Railway Company motor bus. McCormack claims to be a private detective and was the principal witness against Godfrey Cowrey, convicted of the murder of Joseph Langley, manager of the Alvarado Theater, during a hold-up.

Following Wilson's former trial he was released on $5000 cash bail, and secured employment with Miss Minnie Oliphant, publisher of a magazine. She was a member of the jury that disagreed on a verdict in Wilson's case, and later wrote an article published in her magazine which the prosecution claims was favorable to Wilson. Miss Oliphant admitted to Judge Keetch that she sent copies of the magazine containing the article to every Superior Court Judge, but denied that she had knowingly sent them to any prospective jurors.

The entire court session yesterday was devoted to questioning prospective jurors, in which Wilson took an active part. A jury was expected to be selected today.

McCormack is represented by Charles Barnhardt and Rowan Irwin, while Dep. Dist.-Attys. Fricke and Orme are conducting the prosecution.

CHAMBER FOR FISH PRESERVE

"Yes" Vote is Urged on Klamath River Measure No. 11 on Ballot

Indorsing the action of the State Fish and Game Commission, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce directorate yesterday unanimously recommended a "yes" vote on Klamath River Fish and Game District Initiative Measure No. 11.

Action followed extended investigation, the chamber hearing both promoters of the private power project and the Fish and Game Commission, "Attorneys for the Fish." Measure No. 11, placed on the ballot by volunteer wild-life conservationists last summer, called forth the record initiative petition with least expenditure. It establishes a fish-protective district of lower Klamath River from the Shasta to the sea, prohibiting dams or other obstructions to present free passage of spawn-laden fish upon which depends restocking of the State.

The initiative originated in Siskiyou county, started by the California Conservation League, now a State-wide organization of sportsmen, near sites of proposed high dams which residents of Klamath Valley protested.

Yesterday's resolution reads: "Whereas the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce always has stood for conservation of all California's natural resources and believes that our last great wilderness river should be saved for fish propagation—until necessary to sacrifice fish to power—we recommend a "yes" vote on Klamath River Initiative Measure No. 11."

Previously, the Automobile Club of Southern California unanimously passed a motion "indorsing the creation of the Klamath River Fish and Game District as advocated by the California Fish and Game Commission," thereby establishing a precedent now being followed by every conservation organization in the south.

RATIONALIST TO SPEAK

Dr. James A. Graham, during the war a volunteer physician with the American Expeditionary Forces, will speak before the Rationalist Society of America at its meeting Sunday evening at the Walker Building, 730 South Grand avenue. His subject will be "Lessons I Learned in France, Austria and England."

STUDENTS TO DANCE

Loyola College's first student-body dance of the year will be given on the evening of November 7, at the Friday Morning Club, 940 South Figueroa street, it was yesterday announced at the college. The dance will be informal. A large number of invitations are being sent out for the affair.

CHARGES IN TOT'S DEATH DISMISSED

Insufficient Evidence on Which to Prosecute Two Chiropractors is Reason

Charges of manslaughter preferred against J. J. Reynolds and his wife, Anna F. Reynolds, chiropractors, were dismissed yesterday by Judge Avery in Superior Court on motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Joos, who stated there was insufficient evidence to obtain a conviction.

The charges were placed against Reynolds and his wife following the death May 16, last, of Lester Hullett, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hullett, 7562 Sunset Boulevard. The defendants were asserted to have failed to call in medical aid to treat the child, who was said to have died of diphtheria.

Joos asked that the charges be dismissed on the ground the State had recognized the practice of chiropractors as legitimate treatment of human ills and the prosecution therefore could not prove negligence in the death of the child by introducing testimony of physicians and others engaged in other lines of medical practice.

The species-name of cocoa is "cacao" but it has been universally superseded by the former word which is much easier of pronunciation.

How it is truly effected in E. R. Parker System Dental service.

IN Dentistry, low cost alone does not necessarily mean economy. The quality and character of the service rendered is of such vital importance that unless first class work is delivered low cost means little.

Under the E. R. Parker System, modern business methods and economies are employed which not only bring dental costs within the reach of everyone but also insures work of the highest order; work which is rigidly guaranteed.

Last year more than 150,000 patients received the benefits of E. R. Parker System service and today this service is available in twenty-seven cities of America. In all Parker offices, dental work is performed in a painless manner and examinations are made without cost or obligation.

This service is rendered in Los Angeles by two groups of registered dentists and qualified nurses using the

ANOTHER ALASKAN

PRODUCER WRITES FROM NORTH OF ADVENTURES

By Grace Kingsley

Alaska will soon be as well known to our populace as Seventh and Broadway, the Biltmore or the Venice merry-go-round, if our intrepid picture producers continue to brave the North to make pictures.

A most interesting letter is just received from George Edward Lewis, president and general manager of the Great Northern Film Company, with headquarters in Portland, Or., who informs us that he is for the second time taking a company to Alaska, and this, too, in the winter time. Lewis is an old-time Alaskan, who has made a score of trips up there. His sailing date was September 19, so doubtless he is now on his way. His former picture was "Chechakos."

"I have a fine story written by Harvey Gates," writes Mr. Lewis. "I have contracted with Robert McKim to play the heavy roles, Robert North Bradbury to play the male lead, and Gladys Johnston, the girl you liked so well in 'Chechakos,' for the feminine lead; Billy Dills, the character actor in 'Chechakos,' and Howard Webster to play second heavy. Webster played in Norman Dawn's picture, 'The Lure of the Yukon.'

"I have Raymond Johnson to direct this picture. He has been six times through Alaska with me, and is well fitted to do this work. My entire staff are brave, candid, industrious and efficient, capable of aiding me in every way.

"We shall establish headquarters at Skagway, Alaska, and work out to the Yukon, amid the crags of the saw-teeth range, where over 30,000 sickened and turned back during the years of 1896, 1897 and 1898 in the crazy search for gold.

"Gladys Johnston is the queen of the huskies—without exception the most daring and expert dog driver of all the women, native or white, in the North. She has made many trips to the northern country, as you know, and she can handle vicious dogs, half brothers to the wilderness wolves. They are big, strong, wild and unruly, whipped to a frazzle, pushed over icy wastes, with bleeding feet, galled shoulders, starved almost to the point of insanity.

"The name of the story is 'The Eternal Frontier.' The theme is based on my verse which I wrote twenty years ago on the Kuskokwym River, when I made a trip with Carl Thiele, now the Secretary of State of Alaska at Juneau.

"I think American red-blooded sportsmen, and in fact all classes, will find an appeal in this subject. It is sad to know the West is no more, but wholesome to learn that God has a wild, untrodden and uncivilized realm which He controls against the mortal madness which we call civilization."

ALFRED GREEN TO DIRECT "SALLY"

Alfred E. Green, director of two of First National's most notable productions of the current year, has been given his third big assignment, that of directing Colleen Moore in her adaptation of the widely popular musical comedy, "Sally."

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday by John McCormick, western representative of First National, who brought the script of the play here on his return from the East last Sunday.

Rivalry for the choice of director was expected to be keen, the abrupt termination of competition coming as something of a surprise. McCormick explained this away by saying that Green's exceptional success with his other First National ventures, Samuel Goldwyn's "In Hollywood With Potash and Perlmutter" and Sam Rork's "Ines From Hollywood," was the determining factor.

"Sally" will be Colleen Moore's vehicle to follow her first starring picture, "So Big," just completed. Plans for putting it into immediate production are under way. "Sally" is the musical play produced by Ziegfeld which made Marilynn Miller the idol of the New York stage in a single bound from obscurity.

Louise Glaum Comes Back

Louise Glaum, long-absent screen star, who has just announced her return to the films, is going to be a free lance.

Miss Glaum has come to this decision after maintaining probably longer contractual relations than any star in the motion-picture profession.

For five years Miss Glaum swore fealty to the oligarchy of Thomas H. Ince. Engaged by the famous producer-director when he formed his early K.-B. Bronco two-reel outfit in the now hazy days of picture enterprise, she remained with him steadily until the final disintegration of his later Triangle organization.

Then followed a long Paralta term of service, whereupon she was for three years under contract to J. Parker Read.

"Contractual relations bind one to perform whatever role is thrust upon one," Miss Glaum sums up her experience under terms of protracted service, "and the result on the whole is not the best for the rising screen player. As a free lance, one has the refusal of roles, and therefore can make a choice of such parts as will redound to the greatest credit of the player."

Miss Glaum is being considered for an important role in a big production to be made by First National.

Kenneth Harlan Efficient

"Only a week's honeymoon is bad enough, but when your husband has to raise a beard during that time, that's almost too much," said delectable Marie Prevost, yesterday afternoon shortly after the newlyweds had returned to their future home on Laurel avenue from a motor trip to Del Monte and San Francisco.

And Marie added rather ruefully: "I'm afraid the beard is going to be part of the Harlan family for some time, because, you see, Kenneth had to rush home to play Brian Kent, the title role of the Harold Bell Wright story."

Kenneth, beard and all, is already hard at work at the studio, while Marie is busying herself putting the Harlan domicile in order. As the petite star has several weeks' vacation coming as a wedding gift from the Warner Brothers, she is going to enjoy the comforts of married life in peace and quiet at home, while Kenneth does the work.

Hackathorne Comes Home

George Hackathorne has returned from a four weeks' absence from the film colony, time spent at his home town, Pendleton, Or., including a motor trip to Vancouver. He stopped off at Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and many smaller towns, calling on various exhibitors in the different places. He reached Vancouver the day following the Prince of Wales's arrival.

Writer Made Editor

J. G. Hawks will make the United Studios his permanent literary workshop, having been appointed editor for three production units, Frank Lloyd, M. C. Levee and Sam E. Rork. These producers will utilise Mr. Hawks's wide knowledge of the photodrama and long experience, in their future selection and treatment of stories.

De Mille to Glaciers

Real glaciers and cliffs of ice are the objectives of Cecil De Mille, who left on Wednesday night for Mt. Rainier, Washington, to take certain thrill scenes for his new Paramount picture, "The Golden Bed." Paul Iribe had already gone in advance of the party.

Accompanying De Mille into the snow belt at this stormy time of the year are Lillian Rich, Theodore Kosloff and Robert Cain, protaganists in a series of scenes on the glaciers, which are calculated to add much to the dramatic fervor of the piece. Scenes will be shot on the Stephens, Sesqually and Paradise glaciers.

The company is due for real hardship, as all equipment must be carried in on human backs through heavy snow for two hours from the base. All resorts and summer places of comfort are completely snowed in.

Upon completing his glacier scenes, De Mille will return to Los Angeles to finish this screen play, the scenario of which was written by Jeanie Macpherson from Wallace Irwin's novel. The remainder of the cast includes Rod La Rocque, Vera Reynolds, Warner Baxter, Henry Walthall, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff and Robert Edeson.

New Universal Special

Laura La Plante and Eugene O'Brien are to be co-starred by the Universal Pictures Corporation in a special feature to be made in Honolulu.

William A. Seiter, who directed one 1924 Universal offering, "The Family Secret," and two of the productions for 1925, "The Mad Whirl" and "The Fast Worker," will make the picture, which will be titled "Dangerous Innocence."

"Dangerous Innocence" is adapted from Pamela Wynne's new novel, "Ann's An Idiot," which has gone through several editions. The cast to support Miss La Plante and O'Brien is being selected.

Miss Pringle's Father Ill

The sudden and serious illness of her father in San Francisco caused Aileen Pringle to make a hurried departure for the northern city yesterday and thereby forced George Fitzmaurice, in whose production "A Thief in Paradise" she is playing one of the featured roles, to alter his shooting schedule in order to keep busy with Doris Kenyon and Ronald Colman, the other principals, during Miss Pringle's absence.

If her father's illness permits, Miss Pringle will rejoin the Fitzmaurice company at Del Monte Sunday, when the Samuel Goldwyn unit arrives there for several days of location work on the story which Frances Marion adapted from Leonard Merrick's novel "The Worldlings."

Jackie Coogan to Return

The date of the Coogan party's departure from Europe is set for November 4, according to word received from Jackie's publicity chief, who has recently returned from abroad and is now on his way to Los Angeles. "The report that they were terminating their European trip on account of Jackie's illness is incorrect," he adds, "and the accounts published in the foreign papers of Jackie's illness were much exaggerated.

"The demands made on Jackie's time and strength in Budapest proved greater than his parents thought wise to permit. Accordingly, they canceled many engagements there and later in Vienna, not because Jackie was ill, but because they feared he might become so, if he was not indulged in a much needed rest."

SECOND GRAVEURE PROGRAM EFFECTIVE

BY FRANCIS KENDIG

Louis Graveure, baritone, gave the second of his pair of recitals last evening before a large audience at Philharmonic Auditorium. He was in splendid voice, and his concert was interesting throughout, both in selections and manner of presentation.

He sang a group each of German, Irish folk, French and English songs. His printed program contained no aria, although as an encore, he sang "Vision Fugitive" from Massenet's "Herodiade."

Mr. Graveure has the knack of balancing his program to exhibit his versatility. He is one of the best authorities on vocal pedagogy before the public today, and naturally, therefore, a deep student.

His Schubert and Schumann songs comprised the German group, of which "Dem Unendlichen" ("Infinitude,") by Schubert, was the most impressive. It was rendered with much fervor. "Auf dem Wasser zu Singen" (Schubert,) is heard all too rarely, and was well interpreted.

He sang four Irish numbers, winning approval especially with "I Love the Din of Beating Drums." His "Jovial King" and "Three Fishers" were unusually well received. His studied type of expression was never more evident than in the song on Tennyson's tragic poem.

He touched the hearts of those in the audience perhaps more in his French songs than in any other group, for he rendered some of these with infinite tenderness. Yet his greatest faults were contained in these self-same numbers; especially in matters of French enunciation.

Vocally these songs might be said to be almost flawless. In such numbers as "Apaisement," ("Fulfillment) by (Chausson) does he always seek the deeper significance. His appreciation for that which is profound was evident also in his Franck and Rhene-Baton songs.

Mr. Graveure possesses a voice which is distinctly and peculiarly his own. It is rich and mellow; yet these words are inadequate to express his individual quality. His tones, especially in the lower register, are almost too mellow to render easy a clear enunciation, yet he does enunciate distinctly.

"ALASKAN" ARRIVES AT METROPOLITAN

"The Alaskan" is coming. He arrives at the Metropolitan Theater tomorrow, in the person of Thomas Meighan, who portrays the title role of the story of the great northwest by James Oliver Curwood.

"The Alaskan" was filmed in the wilds of the Canadian Rockies in Northern Canada and Alaska, whence the company journeyed for a period of weeks and encamped to make the scenes in the very locales of the story. Hundreds of Indians were used and the photoplay is replete with incidents of the gold rush and the romantic episodes resulting from the efforts of unscrupulous interests to sweat the country of its wealth. Herbert Brenon produced the picture and Estelle Taylor, Frank Campeau and others are in the cast.

The feature acts at the Metropolitan include Peggy Prevost and David Murray, dancers, who make their initial bow as a team in a tango dance of their own creation.

CHORUS PRESENTS STAR WITH WATCH

Vivian Martin, now appearing in the leading role of "Soiled," the current attraction at the Forum Theater, is the proud possessor of a beautiful wrist watch presented to her by the members of the chorus in "Just Married," the musical comedy in which she starred for two years, on Broadway.

"The chorus girl is the most maligned creature in the world," declared Miss Martin. "Once backstage she ceases to be a person and becomes a unit. Her rights are few and her privileges are none. The public has a wrong idea about these girls, and would be surprised to know of the many fine, unselfish characters to be found among them."

SHERWOOD SCHOOL WILL OPEN TODAY

The formal opening of the Southern California branch of the Sherwood Music School of Chicago will take place today from 4 to 10:30 p.m. There will be an informal reception, during those hours. Between 8:15 and 9:30 p.m. there will be a program of chamber music at which time the faculty will be introduced to the audience.

POTBOILERS OFFER THREE NEW PLAYS

Tomorrow and Sunday nights the Potboilers will present three new one-act-plays. These are first productions, and under the same excellent direction as their latest, success, "Six Characters in Search of an Author," produced recently. The plays are "Jack and Harry Tower," by Bert Glasmire; "The Gallery Gods," by Sydney Sprague, and "Thank you, Thelma," by Tipton Lindsey Frasier.

CRANE TO PRESENT CUP

Ward Crane, popular motion-picture actor, will be master of ceremonies at the Plantation Cafe Sunday night. Acting in that capacity he will present the trophy which is awarded to the winners of the weekly dancing contest. In addition to the presence of the actor there will be a presentation of Fanchon's "Frivolities" with Norma Leslie, jazz songster, Peggy Chamberlain, comedienne, Carlos and Jinette, dancers, Eddie Moran, funster, and a beauty chorus led by Jeanne Gore.

MORE DANCERS ADDED

Making it the largest ballet ever staged for a motion picture the number of dancers to appear in Rupert Julian's production of "The Phantom of the Opera" has been increased from 60 to 100, Ernest Belcher will stage the dances and use his own artists in the scenes.

RIVERSIDE MAN BANDIT VICTIM

Held Prisoner for Several Hours

Expensive Machine Damaged by Yeggs

Tells Police Story of Night of Terror

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 23.—Held up by two gunmen at Eighth and Chestnut streets at 8:30 o'clock last night, W. E. Stone of 364 Cedar street was brought into the police station at 1:30 o'clock this morning dazed and bruised. In the intervening hours he had been a prisoner of the bandits, had been beaten over the head and had seen his expensive sedan wrecked in the Santa Ana Canyon, below Corona.

Stone was on his way to lodge at 8:30, driving his car. At Eighth and Chestnut streets, two young men jumped on the running-board and exhibited a gun.

"Let us in," they ordered, and opening the door they entered the car. They directed Stone to drive them to Corona, emphasizing their instructions by keeping a revolver pressed against him. Stone headed the car for Corona. When that city was reached he ventured to remonstrate with his passengers. As a result he was struck over the head with the butt of his revolver and knocked into insensibility.

Later he began to recover somewhat, and believes the two men drove the car as far south as Orange. The automobile seems to have been turned around at that place and the trip back to Corona and Riverside begun. Stone was still so dazed that he was unable to perceive anything with clearness. But he came to with a shock, for in Santa Ana Canyon, not far from Sulphur Slide, the car went over the grade. Whether by accident or design, he could not tell the police. He managed to climb up the side of the canyon, several hundred feet, to the road and stopped two passing motorists. These men, J. A. Reed and Joe Nuttal, both of Nuevo, brought him to the Riverside police station.

Stone described the first of the bandits as about 20 years of age, five feet, eleven inches in height, weight about 150 or 160 pounds, dark complexion, and wearing a dark suit and cap. The other, he declared, was six feet tall, wore a dark suit and weighed from 180 to 190 pounds.

OFFICERS SEEK DOBLE

Son of Millionaire Must Appear in Santa Ana Court

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA ANA, Oct. 23.—Because he didn't appear in Justice Cox's famous speeders' court yesterday, when he was ordered to do so, Abner Doble, said to be the scion of a wealthy San Francisco manufacturer of steam-operated automobiles, was being sought by State traffic officers on a warrant for his arrest, issued today from that court.

The complaint was sworn to by Officer Walter Meyers. It charges Doble with failing to appear in court at a stipulated time. Justice Jack Landell, presiding because of the illness of Judge Cox, issued the warrant. The charge, made possible under State law, constitutes a misdemeanor.

Meyers arrested the young driver, who gave his address as Berkeley, on a charge of speeding fifty-one miles an hour. Doble was said by Meyers to have become indignant when he was not given "full credit" for his performance. He protested he was making seventy-eight miles an hour, according to Meyers, last Saturday night near San Juan Capistrano, where he was halted.

Action of the traffic officers admittedly in making an "example" of Doble followed failure of more than a score of alleged speeders to make their appearance Wednesday. It was understood. Doble's rate of speed, as charged, however, was the highest of any cited to appear.

SALESMAN KILLED

Bakersfield Man Is Accident Victim

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 23.—Dan Donahue, 45, of Bakersfield, representative of the Bakersfield Hardware Company, was instantly killed on the highway three miles south of Terra Bella, early this morning when his car turned turtle, a fractured skull being primary cause of death.

Donahue's body was still warm when found at 4:30 or 5 a.m., by the driver of the truck of a Fresno newspaper, who called Deputy Coroner Carl F. Loyd of this city. Loyd declared he was of the opinion that death had come about 2:30, and indications were that Donahue had probably gone to sleep at the wheel and thus driven off the highway which was of considerable grade at the place of the accident.

FOG IS CAUSE OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 23.—Two victims of last night's dense fog are in local hospitals, the result of having been struck by automobiles whose drivers were unable to see the pedestrians in time to avoid accidents.

Mrs. Cora Hoffman, 2321 East State street, was hit by an auto driven by C. T. Burton, 329 Grand avenue, Bellflower, and sustained severe lacerations and bruises. She was taken to St. Mary's Hospital.

The other victim is Glenwood Horton, 12 years of age, of 1365 Temple avenue, who sustained a fractured leg and other injuries when struck by an automobile driven, according to police reports, by Mrs. Charles A. Koehler, 240 Euclid avenue, this city. The boy was taken to Seaside Hospital.

BATTLE TO WARD OFF BLUE LAW

Theater Interests Appeal to Supreme Court in Famous Pomona Case

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Oct. 23.—Carrying the legal battle to prevent enforcement of Pomona's Sunday closing "blue law" to the highest judicial authority in California, the West Coast Theaters, Inc., operators of the California Theater here and of numerous other showhouses in the Southwest, has petitioned for a rehearing of the case by the State Supreme Court. Notice of the petition has been received by City Attorney Allard.

If the petition should be denied the "blue law" will go into effect Sunday, November 30. If it should be granted, however, and the case should be reheard in the Supreme Court, a stay of execution would undoubtedly be issued preventing the enforcement of the city ordinance, pending the high court's decision.

The petition will either be granted or denied within the next thirty days, it is expected, with a strong possibility that the court will consent to review the case on which the Superior and Appellate Court differed.

FOR BETTER SERVICE

Pomona Postmaster Asks For Additional Help

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Oct. 23.—Using as the basis of his request the fact that the Pomona postoffice showed an increase of 25.5 per cent in total stamps sold during the last year, as compared with the previous year, Postmaster Harry B. Westgate is making an appeal to the postal department to authorize the hiring of six additional men to facilitate the handling of mail in Pomona.

Three more carriers and three additional clerks are being asked for by Mr. Westgate. With this addition the present force of twenty-seven regulars and three subs, the local postmaster stated today that the heavy city routes could be divided to make delivery of mail speedier and that the extra clerks would hurry the handling of mail which passes through the office.

HIGH COMPLIMENT

Pomona Man Gets Honorary Degree in I.O.O.F.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Oct. 23.—Robert Funk, member of the local I.O.O.F. lodge, and Lieutenant-Colonel on the staff of Maj.-Gen. H. C. Kornbeck of San Francisco, received the Grand Degree of Chivalry last Thursday, October 16, at the meeting of the grand encampment of the I.O.O.F. at Fresno.

The degree, which was bestowed upon Mr. Funk at this time, is the highest which can be obtained in Odd Fellowship, and is always given for exceptional work in building up the order. Only two other Pomonans hold this degree—M. M. Avis and W. E. Stevens, the latter of whom received it last year. Maj.-Gen. Kornbeck recommended him for the high honor.

INSANE TRAVELER KILLS PASSENGER

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 23. — "A blow upon the head, delivered by one David Carlton of Nelson, B. C." caused the death of Mrs. Rose I. Bailey, 66 years of age, at her home here Monday night, according to a verdict rendered here today by a Coroner's jury. Mrs. Bailey was a passenger on a Southern Pacific train bound from Portland to Los Angeles. Another passenger on the train and in the same sleeping car was David Carlton, 84-year-old Civil War veteran. As the train neared Mojave Sunday morning Carlton, the testimony showed, became insane and hurled a cuspidor down the aisle of the car.

Mrs. Bailey, sleeping in her berth, received the heavy metal cuspidor on her head. She was attended by railroad surgeons and removed to her home here at 2059 Myrtle avenue, where she died Monday evening. Carlton was held in restraint by the train crew and turned over to police authorities at Los Angeles.

WALNUT HARVEST BRINGS RETURNS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Oct. 23.—Growers in the Walnut Fruit Growers' Exchange received today the first dividend payment totaling about $40,000. The work of harvesting the walnuts is progressing rapidly and the association's packing-house at Walnut is a busy place.

Manager James Woistencroft states that the crop this year will be about 600 tons for which the growers will receive a little more than $200,000. The nuts are coming into the packing-house at the rate of from twenty to forty tons per day. This packing-house, equipped with the latest and best of machinery, has handled as high as seventy tons in one day.

CHURCH CONVENTION ENDS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

EL CENTRO, Oct. 23.—The annual convention of the Southwestern Baptist Association ended here today after three days' session. Delegates from Los Angeles, San Diego, Riverside and Imperial counties attended the convention.

Among the important acts of the conventions was the sending of a telegram to the Secretary of the Treasury protesting against the modification of the 9 o'clock border closing regulation now in effect, and which the Calexico Chamber of Commerce is attempting to have rescinded.

Convention of Eastern Star is Near Close

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 23. — Two more officers of the Grand Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, now holding their fifty-first annual convention at the Hotel Huntington, were elected at today's session of the organization. They are: Mrs. Grace Beckman of Woodbridge, elected Grand Treasurer, and Walter do Postel of San Francisco was elected Associate Grand Patron. Other officers of the order were elected yesterday.

More than 3000 members of the Eastern Star are now registered at the Hotel Huntington, it was revealed today. Of this number 1450 are delegates.

The mammoth convention will close tomorrow evening with the installation of officers and presentations. This ceremony, as all other sessions of the convention, is open to delegates only.

AMATEUR MOTORIST

Youngster Makes Family Car Do Funny Stunts

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 23.—Leaving Junior in the family automobile while mother shops will not be a regular procedure again with a certain family here.

The 5-year-old boy sat at the wheel of the touring car parked at Main and Garfield this afternoon. As luck would have it, the gears had been left in reverse. And again, as luck would have it, Junior stepped on the starter.

The car whizzed backward, performed a semicircle, and banged against a car parked at the opposite curb. The second car bounced on the sidewalk and into the plate-glass window of a 5-and-10-cent store.

BIGGEST COTTON SALE HELD AT BAKERSFIELD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 23.—With $100,000 involved in the exchange, what is believed to be the greatest single sale of cotton in one day in the State was completed at the office of the T. J. West Company, 1515 Twenty-first street, who handled 876 bales of San Joaquin cotton, disposing of it at an average price of $24.48. The top price being $24.67. This was the first sale conducted by the West company this year.

MEXICALI BUILDS NEW WATER WORKS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CALEXICO, Oct. 23.—Calexico's treasury will soon lose a little income of $4000 monthly which has been received for several years from the city of Mexicali for water sold. The Mexicali water department has started installation of a complete new system that will eliminate the necessity of purchasing water from Calexico. Part of the necessary machinery has been received at Mexicali and it is expected the new plant will be in operation in a few weeks.

JAIL FOR BOOTLEGGING

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 23.—A Stewart and W. B. Dilzer were arrested last night by Officers Wiles and Siebert of the District Attorney's liquor squad. Stewart is now in the County Jail for a period of one year and Dilzer has been ordered to stay out of Kern county for the rest of his life unless he wishes to serve a six months' jail sentence.

Justice A. W. Marion of the Third Township Court meted out the sentences. The raiding officers found Stewart and Dilzer at their place two and one-half miles north of Oildale. The officers also found one fifty-gallon still complete with coil and three fifty-four-gallon barrels of mash.

ENORMOUS GROWTH

School Man Tells of Increase in Attendance

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Oct. 23. Before the regular meeting of the Rotary Club here Mark A. Keppel, county superintendent of schools, told of some of the work being done along educational lines in the county and in this city. He stated that Huntington Park district shows an increase during the last year of 39 per cent, "and still going strong," he remarked.

Mr. Keppel stated that there are now 106 teachers employed in the grammar and the intermediate schools of the district of Huntington Park. He said that the attendance in the schools of Los Angeles county in the last four years had increased 86,000 pupils, and predicted that the population of Los Angeles county, on the basis of increase for the last twenty years, would show 9,000,000 in 1944.

COTTON CONCESSION IN FAR-OFF SALVADORE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CALEXICO, Oct. 23.—A. M. Shenk and W. J. Hartman have received official confirmation of the granting of a concession to grow cotton and operate gins, oil mills and warehouses in Salvador. Several San Diego men are associated with the Calexico men in the Central American project.

Under the charter received here, the syndicate is granted an exclusive franchise to operate gins, oil mills, warehouses and compresses in Salvador for twenty years and also allows them to develop hydroelectric power.

The syndicate has 5000 acres of cotton growing in Salvador this year. A crew of experienced cotton gin and mill workers is soon to be taken to Salvador to handle the ginning and shipping of the crop.

OFFICERS SEEKING CARLOAD OF BOOZE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Oct. 23.—Where is an automobile, loaded with whiskey, hiding out in this section? Officers here have received word that such an automobile came across the border, and that it is hiding out somewhere in the mountains, waiting to make an attempt to get past the officers with its cargo. Police here have been on the lookout for the car and have made at least two trips into the mountains searching for it.

CALL NEW PASTOR

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, Oct. 23.—Rev. Harland Burr, assistant pastor of the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles for a number of years, has been appointed pastor of the Oneonta Congregational Church to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Rev. E. A. Waldo. Rev. Burr occupied the pulpit of the local church last Sunday and created such a favorable impression that the committee appointed to select a new pastor immediately consulted with him.

PASADENA BURGLARS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Oct. 23.—The home of E. Oppenheim, 1829 Maple street, was robbed by a pair of burglars at an early hour this morning and nearly $1000 worth of jewelry was taken.

A string of valuable pearls, a lavalier, several diamonds, watches and a quantity of imported silk were included in the loot taken, according to Detectives Decker and Burlingame, who are now working on the case.

GETS GOVERNMENT JOB

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SOUTH PASADENA, Oct. 23.—Frank Simmons, 609 Mission street, has been appointed superintendent of a new substation of the Postoffice Department which will open December 1. The establishment of the station is the result of a petition made by the residents of Lincoln Park.

No deliveries will be made from the station and no general delivery boxes will be maintained, but letters and parcels may be posted there and money orders will be issued.

Plumed Knights Meet in Prize Drill Contest

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

GLENDALE, Oct. 23.—Knights Templar from commanderies all over Southern California will parade in Glendale on Saturday, this city having been selected as the place in which to hold the annual field day and competitive drill.

Glendale Commandery, No. 43, of which Robert M. Grumbling is Commander, will act as host to the visiting Knights. Following the opening assembly and a basket lunch at noon, the Knights will parade at 1:30 o'clock, and it is expected that at least 1500 will be in line of march, which will include the principal downtown section.

During the parade, which will be led by Clem Moore as marshal, Brand Boulevard will be cleared of all traffic, according to plans now being worked out, and the competitive drills will be held on the Hayward High School grounds.

Local merchants will decorate their places of business in honor of the occasion.

UNWILLING GUESTS REMAIN IN MEXICO

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

CALEXICO, Oct. 23.—Several persons who waited until the last minute to cross the international line here before it was closed for the night miscalculated and spent the night in Mexicali. This was the first time the customs inspectors put into service the new iron gate recently installed. The gate is constructed of large iron pipe, and persons can neither jump over nor pass through it. The gate is supported by a large steel arch and when installation is completed it will be effective in closing the line entirely every night at 9 o'clock.

BLACKSMITH DIES FROM MULE'S KICK

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

VAN NUYS, Oct. 23. — W. L. Watson, a resident of this place and a blacksmith by trade, is dead as the result of being kicked in the stomach by a mule. Mr. Watson is survived by his wife. Funeral arrangements are being made. The body is at Strothers & Dayton undertaking rooms in Van Nuys.

SCHOOL AT LAWNDALE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, Oct. 23.—Lawndale was chosen as the location for the new junior high school to be erected in the near future in the Inglewood Union High School District. The decision was made at a mass meeting held Monday night in the Inglewood High School on call of the school trustees. About 1200 residents were present, but when the vote on location was taken only those qualified to vote in the November election were allowed to express their choice. The ballots, when counted, showed 390 in favor of locating the school in Lawndale, with 361 favoring Hawthorne.

AGED WOMAN CALLED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, Oct. 23.—Fannie McMillan, 82 years of age, died at her home here shortly before noon today, following a brief illness. The deceased was a native of Kentucky and had resided in Bakersfield for the last eleven years. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. A. B. McVicker of Fresno, two sons, Pryor McMillan of Bakersfield, and Charles, of St. Louis, eight grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

SOLD LOTTERY TICKETS

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 23.—Two Chinamen, said to have been operating a lottery game, are under arrest here. The prisoners are Chong Hing, 54 years of age, and L. J. Tomer, 46. Bail has been set at $200 each.

The orientals were arrested at their vegetable store at Fremont and Main by Officers Vigneau and Boone after, it is said, a police operative had purchased lottery tickets.

SEEKS OLDEST RACE OF MAN

Expedition Goes to Grand Canyon

Follows Up Discoveries of Years Ago

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 23.—Samuel Hubbard, curator of archeology at the Oakland Museum and a leading authority in the field of prehistoric civilization in the Southwest, left Alhambra today for the Grand Canyon of Arizona where he expects to investigate evidences of prehistoric man that he has already found there and to find new proof of a prehistoric race.

Hubbard has been in Alhambra for the last week preparing for the journey, at the home of John Rowley, 403 South First street, head of the African hall at the Exposition Park museum in Los Angeles and formerly connected with the Oakland institution.

Accompanying Mr. Hubbard on the trip are Frederick B. Shaw, expert in making casts, and Robert L. Carson, photographer. Prof. Bailey Willis, professor of geology at Stanford University, will join the expedition later.

Twenty-six years ago Mr. Hubbard unearthed evidence, he says, which tended to show that a race of men inhabited the Grand Canyon country in ages gone by, and that this race originated there. From time to time he has visited Arizona to substantiate his first findings. Recently interests of scientific men has been directed to the Nevada and Arizona regions as the possible home of the first white race, through the discoveries of Captain Alan Le Baron, whose theory is that the Nevada plateau is the oldest place in the world.

The Hubbard party will return to Alhambra in about four weeks, it was stated.

Naval Flyers Scatter Facts From the Sky

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 23.—Central California cities and towns will be "bombed" with Navy literature on Monday on the occasion of the national observance of Navy Day. Fourteen aviators attached to the air craft squadrons, battle fleet, will wing their way north tomorrow, their objective being Crissy Field at Sanford.

From this base they will fly over the central part of the State and scatter folders and pamphlets, giving pertinent facts about the Navy establishment. Seven planes will make the flight, each carrying a pilot and observer.

Three of the planes left North Island today as the vanguard of aerial propagandists. They planned to remain overnight at Clover Field, Los Angeles. Tomorrow morning their mates will hop off, going direct to San Francisco.

Lieutenant Commander K. F. Smith, engineering officer of the aircraft squadrons, will fly to Los Angeles Monday, where he is scheduled to address the University Club on the subject of naval aviation.

TO ENLARGE HOSPITAL

Unit to Be Provided for Drugless Healers

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 23.—A way out of the embarrassing situation in which Councilman Filmore Condit, president of the board of Community Hospital, found himself when osteopaths and chiropractors were barred from a share in the government of the new municipal institution, has been discovered, Condit announced today. A second unit of the big hospital will be built, according to present plans, and the osteopaths and chiropractors may practice their callings there as much as they please, it was announced.

"The question of the rights of practitioners of various schools of medicine in the Community Hospital has been debated here in the past and is sure to come up again," Condit said. "The same difficulty has been dealt with at Riverside by the establishment of a second unit of the hospital there. It is the logical solution of the problem in Long Beach," he declared.

PLEASURE BOAT DAMAGED BY FIRE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Oct. 23. — The forty-four-foot power launch Pasciness, owned by J. P. Mellaerts of Palms was almost totally destroyed with a loss of $12,000 in the local harbor late last night when a gas line became ignited. There was an explosion followed by fire. A. Jiroux, employed in repairing the broken gas line at the time of the explosion, was severely burned by the flames that leaped about him. He succeeded in putting out the flames in his clothing before he sustained critical injuries.

Firemen battled the blaze for more than two hours, using the municipal launch Rescue in addition to fire-fighting apparatus that lined the bank of channel No. 2. The craft was insured for $5000.

STUDENTS FAVOR COOLIDGE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDLANDS, Oct. 23.—Coolidge leads overwhelmingly in the University of Redlands, according to a straw vote taken there yesterday. The vote gave Coolidge 274; Davis, 27, and La Follette, 80, only part of the students' voting. The vote was taken in accordance with a vote being collected in all colleges and universities.

PLAN CITY PLAYGROUND IN FOREST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 23.—Ideas for a great recreational park in the forest reserve of Santa Ynez Valley, with Gibraltar dam and lake, the source of the city's water supply, as its central attraction, were brought back to Santa Barbara yesterday by City Manager Herbert Nunn, Supt. V. E. Trace of the city water department, Chester A. Jordan, forest supervisor, and Supervisor Sam Stanwood, who visited the lake on an inspection tour.

According to the City Manager, such a park is possible and the matter will be brought to the attention of the City Council in the near future with the end in view of influencing city, county and Federal authorities to unite for the establishment of a public recreation grounds along the banks of the Santa Ynez River and surrounding Gibraltar Lake.

With the river already owned by the city and Federal government and an excellent road leading within a short distance of the lake, through San Marcos Pass, the Federal, county and city officials who visited the region yesterday are convinced that within the near future a park should be established there to add to the long list of attractions which Santa Barbara city and county now have to offer visitors.

CITY TO ENTERTAIN CHURCH CONVENTION

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Oct. 23.—Extensive plans were being made today for welcoming more than 400 delegates to the nineteenth annual convention of the J. O. C. Union of the First Presbyterian Church, to be held here Saturday and Sunday.

A program of inspiring addresses and business sessions will be held Saturday afternoon and a banquet given in the evening at the Christian Church. One of the outstanding events of the two-day convention will be an assembly at the First Presbyterian Church at 3:40 o'clock Saturday night, at which Mrs. Lena Leonard Fisher, dean of women of the University of Southern California, will be the speaker.

GLENDALE CITIZENS PROTEST TAX RATE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

GLENDALE, Oct. 23.—In consequence of the protests that have been filed because of the assessed valuation of property in Glendale, as shown by the increases in this year's tax bills, the Glendale City Council has voted to appoint an appraisal board, consisting of twenty well-informed citizens, who will assist in providing the County Assessor with a fair valuation on each piece of property in the city, in time for the assessments that are to be made next March.

Statements made before the City Council showed that taxes on property in Glendale have been increased from 70 to 100 per cent.

TERRAZAS WILL FILED IN PROBATE

Late Mexican Cattle King's Estate Has Lost Much of $40,000,000 Value

The will of the late Gen. Luis Terrazas, once Mexico's greatest cattle baron, whose estates once totaled almost 7,000,000 acres, was filed for probate in Superior Court here yesterday. He died June 15, 1923, in Chihuahua City at 93 years of age. He was widely known in Los Angeles and Southern California, having resided here after his estates were confiscated by Villa. He then was exiled to the United States.

Although the will previously had been probated in Chihuahua City and El Paso, its filing here was necessitated by the fact that Gen. Terrazas owned $6000 worth of real estate in Los Angeles county.

The value of the estate, which at the height of his fortune was estimated at approximately $40,000,000, is not stated in the will, but it is believed only a fraction of his original holdings.

Forty-four direct living heirs were mentioned in the will, which was drawn up in Chihuahua City on March 15, 1919. The will provides that the estate shall be divided among the heirs "in accordance with the inheritance laws of the State of Chihuahua."

At the time the will was drawn up the following heirs lived in Los Angeles: Mrs. Elena Terrazas de Horcasitas, a daughter, and Carolina Terrazas Bobadilla, Carmen Terrazas Bobadilla, Alice Terrazas Bobadilla, Elvira Terrazas Bobadilla, Mrs. Avela Terrazas de Robinson, Mrs. Teresa Terrazas de Harrison, Mrs. Sara Terrazas de Olivares and Mrs. Emma Terrazas de Hernandez, grand-daughters.

MAYNARD ARRAIGNED

Suspect in Hold-up of Business Men Denies Charge

George Maynard, accused of two Wilshire district robberies the night of January 29, last, yesterday pleaded not guilty in Judge Keetch's court. His trial was set for November 25.

Maynard is asserted to have held up Charles Canfield, of 3270 Wilshire Boulevard and Joe Topilitzky, well-known business man. According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Howell Richardson, Canfield lost a watch valued at $175 in the hold-up, while $7500 worth of negotiable paper and $90 in cash was taken from Topilitzky.

TWO MAKE REPORTS OF STREET HOLD-UPS

Earl A. Brown of 3043 Walnut Drive, Watts, reported to police yesterday that two negroes beat and robbed him of his watch and $8 at Eighth street and Central avenue. Three men in an automobile held up and robbed Owen Clarke of 1012½ Overton street, at Forty-second street and Walton avenue, getting $3, Clarke reported to police.

25,000 Pocket Savings Banks—25,000 One Dollar Checks—25,000 Aphorism Booklets

What Thrift Will Do

The slip reproduced below, from a New York Savings Bank, shows how deposits aggregating only $150 grew into the sum of $2551.57.

THE TIMES will give you its check for One Dollar, which the bank will exchange for a bank book showing One Dollar to your credit. THE TIMES will give you, with the check, a handsome and practical "Talisman" pocket savings bank. Made of light metal, attractive in appearance, about the size of a man's watch, and may easily be carried in vest pocket or ladies' bag. Holds about $5 in coins. With the check will be given an aphorism booklet, containing inspiring thoughts by the greatest thinkers who ever lived.

A book of interest more absorbing than the most thrilling work of fiction is a BANK BOOK. Its tale is never too long nor its pages too many, and the long row of figures so dry in other books is intensely interesting. But, in order to enjoy its pages, each man, woman or child must own his own book.

Once the habit is acquired of saving money, it will be found as beneficial as the mere money accumulated.

ALLAN DEFENDS CHARGE OF VICE

Mayor Cryer Evading Issue, Says Councilman

Denies Political Ambitions Moved Police Letter

Gambling Not Occasional, But Open, He Asserts

Charges that Mayor Cryer was "evading the issue" and that he was attempting to close the matter by charging his critics with being budding politicians were made by Councilman Allan yesterday in reply to Mayor Cryer's answer to the Councilman's letter to the Police Commission several days ago urging an investigation of the gambling situation in this city.

Councilman Allan issued a written statement yesterday afternoon in answer to the Mayor and in the statement repeated his charges that open gambling was going on in the city. He also stated that he was only making his protest in the best interests of the city and with no other object in view.

MAYOR NO REPLY

Mayor Cryer, who left his office in the City Hall at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon stated that he had no reply to make to Councilman Allan and again repeated that he had faith in Chief of Police Heath and believed that the Chief was keeping the city clean of gambling and vice.

Councilman Allan's reply to the Mayor follows:

"Acting without malice, and having only the welfare of the city at heart, I directed a letter to the Police Commission several days ago, suggesting that the police bend every effort toward stamping out commercialized gambling in Los Angeles.

"I did this after a shooting affray in an establishment operated by a notorious gambler, in the belief that determined and concerted enforcement of the law at this time would nip in the bud a condition which threatens to become a very serious one this winter.

IS TIME TO ACT

"Why a plea on my part to the Police Commission that it take cognizance of reports that gambling is becoming more rampant in the city should evoke the anger of Mayor Cryer, is beyond my understanding. Is there anything amiss in my urging the enforcement of law to stamp out crime?

"The Mayor states that the police cannot be expected to stamp out 'occasional games.' I grant that, but when it is possible for a person to ask a man on the street where a gambling game is running, and he can inform you that you can 'get in' at 120 West Third street and provide other addresses, and when Farmer Page openly boasts that he has run and will continue to run a gambling house, it is time that Page and men of his type were run out of town.

"The Mayor further states that criticism of the police has a tendency to impair the effectiveness of the department and destroy its morale.

"May I ask the Mayor whether we have reached the point where we cannot suggest greater diligence to a law enforcement body. If we have reached that stage where suggestions are received with the hue and cry 'don't criticise,' conditions in Los Angeles are in a very sad state indeed.

HAS EVADED ISSUE

"In this connection I cannot help but recall a similar shout raised in Washington not many months ago, when the notorious leasing of the naval oil reserves were being investigated by Congress, and the public was asked 'not to criticise' the government.

"As is generally the case where an honest effort is made to remedy existing evils in a city administration, the Mayor has evaded the issue with the old hokum that his critics are men 'with budding political ambitions.' I can only say that his is a very sorry-looking viewpoint, and that no political motives were back of my letter to the Police Commission.

"Why cannot a suggestion be received by the Mayor in good faith, and why cannot the situation be faced squarely and honestly? This is not the time for vacillating debate nor for excuses.

"I can only say to the Mayor that a festering sore on the human body is not ignored, but given prompt attention so that it may be eradicated. I hope that he can understand that the infection of our community with commercialized vice, is equally deserving of prompt attention, and that half denials and poor excuses do not constitute a proper cure for the condition."

LABORER KILLED BY CAVE-IN

When the walls of a twelve-foot cesspool, almost completed, caved in yesterdayat 2537 East Fifty-sixth street, they entombed Jose Farina, 41 years of age, a Mexican laborer living at 5719 Holmes avenue. Farina was dug out almost two hours later by firemen, deputy sheriffs and police but neither a pulmoter nor an injection of adrenalin could revive him.

The cave-in is believed to have occurred about 10:45 a.m., yesterday. Ten minutes later George Doane, 429 Arizona avenue, who was scraping off bricks for the sides of the cess-pool only a few feet away, made the discovery of the accident. He first asked for Farina at the house, then called neighbors and began to shovel out dirt.

Deputy Sheriffs Hunter, Sweesy and Sepulveda, Sergts. Moran and Baumgartner of the University division vasion, Los Angeles firemen and neighbors dug for fifteen minutes before they uncovered Farina's head. It was more than an hour and a half later, due to further cave-ins, that the laborer's body was hoisted out.

Andrenalin was administered by Dr. E. V. Frederick, following pulmotor treament by the fire department, and Dr. E. M. Burns of the county health department, but Farina failed to respond. His body was taken to the McCormick undertaking parlors at Fortieth street and Central avenue.

FORMER SAILOR TRIO GUILTY OF ROBBERY

Ben Marvin Seawright, Frank Morrow Kent and Carl John Eberle, former sailors, were found guilty by a jury in Judge Avery's court yesterday of first degree robbery in connection with the hold-up July 4, last, of Myron G. Stevens, 318 West Fifteenth street. The trio will come before the court the 28th inst., for sentence. The convicted men were accused of taking a watch, a pocketbook, $13 in cash and other personal property valued at $75 from Stevens.

PICO STREET MEN BACK MAJOR TRAFFIC PLAN

The Greater Pico Street Association last night indorsed the major traffic street plan, Proposition A, and the $5,000,000 street bonds, Proposition B, on the ballot at the November election.

This organization is one of the largest improvement bodies in the city and it has undertaken to handle the campaign in its particular district on these two propositions, realizing that they will make possible better street facilities for not only that particular neighborhood, but the entire city.

America now has 5,000,000 radio receiving sets in regular use.

MISFORTUNE CAME NOT SINGLY TO HER

Helene Chadwick

Helene Chadwick, motion-picture actor, is confined to her Hollywood home with Kleig eyes. According to physicians, she will be unable to remove her bandages for several days after which she is to wear cupped black eyeglasses until sight is restored completely.

TWO MEN ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Two men were arrested yesterday by Federal prohibition agents for asserted violation of the national liquor laws. Lawrence Rarick, proprietor of an auto-top concern at 1315 South Main street, was arrested after he is asserted to have sold a bottle of whisky for $5. The discovery of a case of vermouth, three cases of gin, one case of rum and a quantity of other liquors led to the arrest of Orvin Dingman, 1051 West Santa Barbara avenue. Both men were booked at the County Jail.

CAR BARS POORHOUSE ROAD

Man Decides Not to Go to County Farm Because Garage for Sedan Lacking

All the papers had been drawn and everything was fixed up for George Harman to take up his abode at the County Farm at Downey.

Harman had proved to the satisfaction of everyone concerned that he was indigent and without any one to appeal to except the charity of the public.

For a moment everyone in the office thought they had a prospect for the psychopathic ward. But Harman quickly relieved them. He pointed out the window to a little sedan "of a popular make," in which he had driven up.

When he was informed that the county did not provide accommodations for the motors of its indigent guests, Harman withdrew his application in a huff, climbed in his sedan and sped down the driveway with a whining of gears.

"He actually seemed put out about it," Chief Probation Officer Holland said yesterday.

TO EXAMINE POWER SITES

Federal Water Power Engineer Will Look Into Klamath River Fight, Also

Though it had been reported that he was coming here in connection with certain new developments in the Boulder Dam situation, Col. W. Kelly, chief engineer of the Federal Water Power Commission of Washington, stated upon his arrival yesterday that his visit here at this time had nothing to do with that project.

"I shall not visit the site of the proposed dam on this trip nor confer on the subject," he said. "The deadlock resulting from Arizona's refusal to ratify the pact of the States affected by this power project still continues and there have been no new developments. As to when the situation will change I cannot say."

Col. Kelly, who arrived here from the north, explained that he was on the Pacific Coast at this time to look into certain matters pertaining to other projects, including the proposed power development planned on the Klamath River in Northern California. In Southern California he will obtain information in regard to controversies connected with some of the minor power projects.

"The power possibilities of the Klamath do not seem to be fully realized by the people of California, especially in the southern part of the State," he observed. "It has been estimated that this stream is capable of producing hydroelectric power to the extent of 500,000 horsepower, which is more than that of Niagara and almost as much as the total aggregate of the power now being produced in Southern California.

LONG CONTROVERSY

"A controversy has existed for the past four years in regard to Klamath River, however, certain interests wishing to have the stream set aside as a part of the public domain, thus barring all industrial development, on the ground that the installation of power plants will interfere with the extensive fishing industry that has grown up on this river. This question will be submitted to a vote of the people of California at the coming election."

The engineer stated that in his opinion the utilization of the power possibilities of the river would have no effect on the fisheries.

"The same question has been brought up in Washington and Oregon, where fishing is of even more importance than it is on the Klamath," he said. "One of my objects in coming West at this time was to investigate that very matter in those two States.

DEVELOPING POWER

"I find that the people in the north are developing their water power on some of the streams where salmon abound, but that this does not impair the fishing industry in those places. There has been no diminution in the run of salmon in any of the rivers that have been harnessed.

"Of course, they are observing the regulations laid down by the government to take care of this matter, which require the establishment of fish hatcheries and proper means to enable the fish to overcome the obstacles presented by dams. I found that the methods used are entirely successful and will make it possible for the fisheries to continue indefinitely. The same thing can be done on the Klamath."

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT TODAY

The second pair of symphony concerts which will be performed by the Philharmonic Orchestra, under the authoritative baton of Walter Henry Rothwell, this afternoon and tomorrow night at Philharmonic Auditorium, will introduce to Los Angeles music patrons three works that are having their initial hearing here.

Mme. Thalia Sabanieva, the soloist of the concert, should prove to be a most interesting treat for she is singing two Russian songs, the first, Rimsky-Korsakov's "Hymn to the Sun" from the opera "Le Coq d'Or" and the second the Cavatina and Rondo from Glinka's somber and magnificent opera, "A Life for the Tsar." Sabanieva, who, in addition to caring for the Russian roles for the Metropolitan Opera in New York City, has appeared at Ravinia Park in Chicago and also with the San Francisco and Los Angeles Grand Opera companies this season, has a repertoire of over thirty roles and linguistically, is somewhat of a marvel, for she is equally at home in her native Greek, and in Russian, French, Italian, German and Spanish. In fact, as she herself puts it, "I spik ennyting—but English!"

The Glazounow Sixth Symphony and Rabaud's "Procession Nocturne," which are programmed, are being heard in Los Angeles for the first time. The complete program is:

Glazounow—Symphony No. 6 in C Minor.
Rimsky-Korsakov—Aria, Hymn to the Sun, from "Le Coq d'Or."
Thalia Sabanieva.
Rabaud—Symphonic poem, "La Procession Nocturne."

Creighton Hale Names Man in Reply to Wife

Creighton Hale, motion-picture actor, struck back at his wife, Victorre, yesterday in a cross-complaint and answer to her divorce suit in which he denied her charges of cruelty and accused her of intimacy with Festes Foster, said to be a naval officer.

The intimacy between his wife and Foster, Hale declared in his cross-complaint, has extended over several years. On one occasion, he asserts, he found it necessary to summon police in order to force Foster to leave their home, where he was fondling and petting Mrs. Hale.

In August, 1923, he asserts, his wife told him that her mother was ill at Mare Island, and she left to see her mother. Later, Hale says, he discovered that his mother-in-law had not been ill, and that his wife had gone north for the sole purpose of being with Foster. He was in San Francisco a few weeks after she left, he says, and called her room in a hotel by telephone. A man answered, he says.

She also employed detectives to watch him, he says, and he was forced to pay them. Mrs. Hale frequently told him that his face and figure nauseated her and that Foster was much more beautiful both in face and figure, he asserts. She maintained a private mail box, despite his protests, and dyed her hair and went on a diet at Foster's request, Hale declares.

NO ALIMONY ORDER FOR BARBER'S WIFE

"Barbers all make more money since women began truding with them," Mrs. Lucia Canestraccia declared in alimony court yesterday.

Mrs. Canestraccia professed to testify as an expert, having been a barber's wife for several years. That is a distinction she is eager to relinquish, however. She has sued Frank Canestraccia for divorce and had him before Judge Guerin yesterday, on an alimony motion.

Canestraccia protested that he was just "breaking even" because his shop was a new venture.

Judge Guerin couldn't see any fortune in his business either, and declined to make an alimony order until the husband's financial situation improves.

SKATING CLASS FOR CHILDREN PLANNED

A special class of instruction for children is being planned and organized by the management of the Palais De Glace, the new ice palace to be built by the Los Angeles Ice Skating association, 1557 North Western avenue. The class will be under supervision of Roger Cornell, athletic director for the Ambassador. Children wishing advanced instruction will be handled by J. E. Fusick, who will have supervision of all skating instruction at the rink. The association is negotiating for the services of such well-known skaters as Charlott, Hilda Rueckert, Bobby McLean and others. J. E. Fusick, formerly with the Edgewater Skating Club and the Ice Arena at Chicago, is to stage and direct an ice ballet. The ballet will be composed of the more advanced pupils. Most of these entertainments will be given on Monday nights after the hockey matches.

MAN AND GIRL PLEAD GUILTY TO FORGERY

Marion Hammond and Vincent E. Lamb pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery in Judge Collier's department of Superior Court yesterday and applied for probation. They forged a check for $150 and had this cashed, it was charged. Miss Hammond, according to reports, is the daughter of a New York attorney. The hearing on their probation plea was set for Monday.

HELD FOR HAVING LIQUOR

F. C. Bennett, a "radio operator" of 1517 La Brea avenue, was arrested yesterday morning by members of the Hollywood vice squad on a charge of illegal possession of liquor. Led by Sergt. L. S. C. Nelson, members of the squad entered Bennett's home and confiscated a quantity of gin. Bennett, the officers reported, admitted ownership of the liquor.

The fight against Pyorrhea is a fight against overwhelming odds. Statistics prove that four out of every five over 40—and thousands younger, too—pay Pyorrhea's dreaded toll. Will you?

Be on your guard for signs of Pyorrhea

Just as the stability of a building is dependent upon its foundations, so healthy teeth depend upon healthy gums.

Bleeding gums are the first sign of Pyorrhea's approach. Then they begin to recede and the healthy pink color gives place to a pale, whitish tint. Soon the teeth are loosened, pus pockets form and drain their poisons through the system, often causing indigestion, rheumatism, neuritis and many of the other diseases of mid-life.

Let Forhan's help you

Forhan's For the Gums is a most effective agent in the fight against this insidious disease. It contains just the right proportion of Forhan's Astringent (as used by the dental profession) to neutralize oral poison, and keep the gums in a firm, strong, healthy condition. Also, it cleans and whitens the teeth and keeps the mouth sweet, clean and wholesome. Even if you don't care to discontinue your favorite dentifrice, at least start using Forhan's once a day.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

DRUNKENNESS IS LAID TO PUPILS

Officers Charge Cafe Public Nuisance; Owner Held

Children Said to Play Hookie and Drink There

Mother Avers Girl Hid in Place Five Days

Numerous reports of drunken school children establishing a rendezvous in his cafe resulted last night in the arrest of Tom Canyan of 11107 South Main street, on a charge of conducting a public nuisance.

Canyan operates a cafe whose patronage is almost solely solicited from pupils of the public schools on the southern outskirts of the city, where, according to complaints of irate neighbors filed with George Contreras, chief of the District Attorney's dry squad, scores of school children have been congregating and participating in drinking orgies while playing "hookie" from their classes.

Seven proprietors of business establishments near South Main and One Hundred and Twelfth streets were cited to appear at the District Attorney's office today with an explanation for the presence of coin slot machines seized on their premises yesterday by a squad of detectives, headed by Bert Wilcox. The machines, the operation of which is a violation of a county ordinance, were said to have been patronized by school children. They were loaded into automobiles by the District Attorney's men and were taken to the office as evidence.

The complaint charging Canyan with conducting a public nuisance was sworn to by Mrs. R. C. Catterson, a widow and mother of Mildred Catterson, a 14-year-old school girl. The girl, according to the mother, has been absent from school for five days and had been hiding out in Canwan's lunch-room to escape the truant officers. Similar complaints of other parents were made to Detective Contreras.

DRINKING DESCRIBED

"I had seen on many occasions drunken school boys carousing around the place," declared one neighbor. "I have seen boys in that place so drunk they could not stand up. I have seen school girls in short dresses taking part in orgies that would have been a shame to grown-ups."

"I have seen a widowed mother drag her drunken son out of the place and lead him home by the ear," another neighbor told Contreras.

According to the reports of these many neighbors to Detective Contreras, the boys and girls of the neighboring school used Canyan's Cafe as a trysting place. In many instances, they declared, drunken orgies were staged and became so noisy that the entire neighborhood was kept awake.

"I only acted as a big brother to the kids," Canyan told Contreras, "Some of the kids, like Mildred, were not treated right at home and I just kinda acted as their advisory counsel in their troubles with their families."

DENIES CHARGE

Canyan denied he had ever dispensed liquor to the school children that frequented his place, though he did admit that about six weeks ago he was arrested in Seal Beach on a liquor charge and that on another occasion he drank liquor with a boy of minor age.

"We intend to close up Canyan's place," Contreras said. "The complaints have been so numerous that something must be done to protect the schoolboys and schoolgirls of that neighborhood. Our investigations show that he caters almost solely to school children and the complaints made to us by the parents indicate that his place is not the proper environment for children of school age."

Canyan's aged father, R. Y. Canyan, 70 years of age and known as "Dad" to the school children, was summoned to appear at the District Attorney's office this morning to show cause why his son's place should not be closed as a public nuisance.

AIR HANGARS READY TO BE MOVED HERE

Another Step Taken to Establish Training Field at Griffith Park

Another step to establish a National Guard air-training field at Griffith Park was taken yesterday when two of the five steel hangars at March Field, Riverside, were being torn down and loaded on trucks for shipment to the local field.

Intention of the government to remove the hangars was not known here until the actual work started. Sergt. W. J. Anderes, caretaker of March Field, said the move does not indicate that the government intends to dismantle all buildings at March Field.

The two hangars being wrecked are of the largest at the Riverside Field and, according to Sergt. Anderes, have been given to the National Guard by the government for a part of the equipment to be used with the air training.

The city of Los Angeles has donated space in Griffith Park for the erection of the buildings and the work will start there by the end of this week. Maj. C. C. Moseley, who will have charge of the training at Griffith Park, was in Riverside yesterday looking after the removal.

HOLLYWOOD CONDUIT CONTRACT AWARDED

Additional underground telephone cables will be installed in the near future to the Hollywood section, according to Edwin A. Irish, local contractor, who was awarded the contract yesterday by the Southern California Telephone and Telegraph Company for installing underground conduits on Hollywood Boulevard from Vermont avenue to Kingsley Drive and on Vermont avenue from Hollywood Boulevard to Santa Monica Boulevard.

FOREST FIRE BOARD NAMED

Department Chief Appoints Men to Meet in December to Consider Southland Problems

Announcement that a fire board of review has been appointed to meet here early in December for a general conference on the forest fire situation in Southern California, has been received by Dr. George P. Clements, manager of the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce, in a letter from A. B. Greeley, head of the forestry department in Washington.

The following men have been appointed on the board according to the letter: E. A. Sherman, assistant forester, United States Forest Service, chairman; F. W. Pooler, district forester, Abuquerque, N.M.; Maj. Evan W. Kelley, chief fire inspector United States Forest Service; District Forester Paul Redington, who also has privilege of naming other members; Frances Cutte of Riverside, chairman of the Tri-Counties Reforestation Committee and member of the State Board of Forestry and Maj. G. C. Dunwoody, of Pasadena, president of the Angeles Protective Association and of the Southern California Conservation Association.

STRESS PREVENTION

Appointment of the committee followed conferences between Greeley and Chamber of Commerce officials during the visit of the head forester to Los Angeles in September, according to Dr. Clements. At this time Greeley promised to stress prevention as well as suppression, he said. There was accord between the chamber and Greeley on the fire situation here, he declared.

When the committee sits, it will thresh out the forest fire problem especially in reference to the San Gabriel district, according to Dr. Clements. If any changes in the personnel of the forestry department here are made they will be at the suggestion of Greeley, the chamber official declared.

SUGGESTS NAMES

He said that acting on the suggestion of Congressmen Lineberger and Fredericks the names of the following men have been suggested by him to Greeley for seats on the board: C. A. Griffith, Azusa; Glen Smith, Ontario; Charles F. Gordon, Glendale; H. S. Gilman, San Dimas; H. S. Bissell, La Crescenta; C. E. Houston, Pomona; Mark Grimes, Van Nuys; C. H. Burnett, Pacific Electric Railroad Company; and C. S. Whitcomb, chairman of the agricultural and horticultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

PLAYGROUND QUESTION UP THIRD TIME

Commission Wants Site to Take Place of Tract in Exposition Park

Members of the Playground Commission yesterday voted to call on the finance committee of the City Council Monday to urge action on the promise the Council is said to have made to buy a playground site to take the place of the Exposition Park site, which was turned over to the Sixth Agricultural District. Representatives of the Rotary Club, Municipal League and Thirty-five Hundred Club also will attend the meeting Monday.

According to Mrs. Arthur C. Wier, a member of the commission, members of the Council assured the commission that a new playground site would be purchased. The Playground Commission held a fifty-year lease on the land which the Council revoked.

"Fourteen acres were taken away, including a baseball diamond," Mrs. Wier said, "and the citizens of the community are interested to know why nothing has been given in return."

Mrs. Alice Lynch, another member of the commission, explained that the commission selected a new site on the strength of the promise given by the Council members. But when the Council was asked to purchase this land, "the matter was referred to the finance committee," she said. As a result, the land was not purchased and the finance committee suggested that if the commission desired the site it might purchase it with its bond issue money.

The matter was again presented to the Council and a public hearing requested. It was again referred to the finance committee. The commission is taking advantage of this last move to ask for an accounting.

RARELY USE TOURISTS TO FIGHT FIRES

Forester Denies Reports That Travelers Are Forced Into Service

Denying reports in newspapers in other States that tourists have been drafted to fight California forest fires, United States District Forester Redington informs the All-Year Club of Southern California that the reports are greatly exaggerated and that except in one minor instance virtually no tourists have been called on.

This denial came at the request of the club for an authoritative statement of Federal forestry officials' policy in the matter.

"The Forest Service," Mr. Redington states, "has ordinarily been able to recruit sufficient fire fighters from local residents and users of the forests. Occasionally we have been forced to impress men into service and in such instances no attempts are made to stop cross-continental travelers. When the town of Sisson was threatened, some cars were stopped and the men put to work for a few hours.

"There may have been a few other isolated cases of this kind, but if so, the men were released as soon as possible. We always prefer to hire men who are willing to fight fire and even when we do have to press men into service we try to select those who are most suitable and can be taken with the least personal inconvenience.

"Conservatively estimated less than 1 per cent of the enormous number of men we have used were impressed into service."

The All-Year Club, through its executive secretary, C. G. Milham, is giving widespread publicity to Mr. Redington's statement.

RAILROADS' JOINT USAGE PLAN STAYS

State Commission Denies Plea on Arcade Station and Freight Change

By denying a petition of the Central Development Association of Los Angeles, the State Railroad Commission formally went on record yesterday as opposed to reopening the question of joint usage of the Arcade station by the Southern Pacific and Salt Lake Railroads and the removal of freight traffic from Alameda street. Permission for the joint usage of the station and the change in freight handling was granted several months ago in spite of opposition by the development association.

Charges that the station merger and the plan of track removal are intended to thwart the program for a big union station in the Plaza were made in June, last, when the railroads made their application to the commission. After lengthy and bitterly contested hearings the railroads were given authority to proceed with their plans. Announcement that the commission would stick to its original decision was contained in a new dispatch from San Francisco yesterday.

The plan of the two railroads, as outlined at the original hearings, is to use the Arcade Depot for passenger traffic and to remove the Southern Pacific freight traffic on Alameda street to the Salt Lake tracks on the east side of the river. Representatives of the railroads declared that this plan would eliminate forty-two train movements on Alameda street daily but this figure was questioned by the opposition, which declared instead that the plan is merely a subterfuge to delay in an effort to fustrate the program for the union station.

Chain Store Men May Meet Here, Chaffee Reports

F. E. Chaffee, vice-president and general manager of the H. G. Chaffee chain-store grocers of Southern California, has returned from a five-weeks' tour of the East and Middle West with word that the next annual convention of the National Chain Store Grocers probably would come to Los Angeles.

Mr. Chaffee attended the national convention of chain-store grocers at Atlantic City and addressed the convention on "The Relation of the Chain Store to the Community." Business conditions as a whole are good throughout the country, he stated, and preparations for an active winter are being made.

FATHER HUNTS GIRL

Fears for Safety of Daughter Who Disappeared While Ill

A sufferer from sleeping sickness and loss of memory, Miss Florence Olive Buchanen, 19 years of age, of 417 East Pico street, has disappeared, her father reported to the police yesterday. He has grave fears for her safety.

She is the daughter of Joseph B. Buchanan. She left home, he reported, at 10 a.m., the 16th inst., when neighbors saw her walking away, and no trace of her has been found in a week's search. She is described as five feet, seven inches tall, weight 130 pounds, dark blue eyes, brown bobbed hair, scar over left temple. When she left home she wore a one-piece woolen dress, brown coat with fur collar, brown straw sport hat and a silver bracelet set with a turquoise and chip diamonds. She is not believed to have had any money.

USED CAR

SHOW TIME SALE.

OPEN UNTIL 9 P.M.

The auto show always brings a flock of new car sales to Cadillac. We've got to clear the decks in our used car department to prepare for it.

To reduce stocks immediately, we've repriced our used cars. You'll find wonderful values all the way from $800 to $4000. And remember, when you come to buy a used car the name on the building means more than the name on the radiator.

TO ONLY $2000.
Here is the biggest bargain in REAL "HIGH GRADE STUFF" in all of Glendale; located on that slightly slope but beyond Brand's Castle and other beautiful homes and estates, with a magnificent view in every direction; $2000 restrictions; nothing cheap but the temporary price of this lot, 50-ft. inside lots on the flat selling at considerably higher prices. Here is the answer to the "WHY?" Owner simply MUST have money and makes this TREMENDOUS SACRIFICE to get it; and to make SURE, during these so-called "quiet times," cut the price of a number and made terms, instead of demanding cash on two or three. Only $500 will secure this fine corner, the balance in 2 years, quarterly.
YOU CANNOT DELAY if you mean business. GO OUT THIS AFTERNOON from Glendale, drive out Brand Blvd. to Kenneth Road, west to Grand View, north to Mountain ave. corner, west about 5 blocks to JACKSON'S OFFICE, by big sign "2750 lots CUT to ONLY $1500" BE SURE to get the right office, open every afternoon from 2 to 5 and all day Sunday.
